VETERANS' ROW COMPROMISE TO BE TRIED TODAY

Douglas Will Lay Plan Before Recalcitrant Legislators.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Budget Director Lewis Douglas, whose sharp pruning knife drew the sap of bitter protest from the flourishing bay tree of veterans' benefits, is to submit a compromise proposal this morning to members of the House who are not willing to accept the slashings made in the name of economy.

The compromise program is to be submitted to a committee of members of the House headed by Representative Robert Crosser (Democrat), of Ohio, who conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House yesterday, the upshot of which was a decision to set the proposal forth in black and white for study.

The House committee was to return to the White House in the afternoon but did not do so because Mr. Douglas had not completed his work. He is expected to do so this morning and there will follow another session between the President, Mr. Douglas, Director Hines, of the Veterans' Administration, and the members of the House committee.

Hope for Compromise.

Whether the Douglas compromise will be acceptable could not be forecast, but Representative Crosser, chairman of the Democratic steering committee of the House, expressed hope following the White House meeting yesterday that a satisfactory program would be worked out.

The battle over cutting of veterans' benefits has unsettled the whole congressional program, and is a major engagement in the life of the new administration. Modification of the original slashes was announced Tuesday as approved by the President. Although the announcement of the modification was said at the White House not to have been hurried by the rising revolt in Congress, it was, at least, timely, but it was not effective enough to quell the rebellion. Many veterans' representatives expressed their dissatisfaction with the modified program.

There was much discussion as to just what would be the effect of this or that change. Among the supporters of the so-called Connally amendment, which limits slashes to 25 per cent of benefits, there was disagreement about the effect of the language of the amendment.

Budget Program at Stake.

On the outcome of the battle hinges the fate of the budget-balancing program on which the President has embarked. If the Connally amendment, or anything similar to it, becomes law it will mean that additional taxes will have to be imposed or the budget admittedly will be continued out of balance.

There is a wide divergence of opinion on the question of what veterans should continue to draw benefits from the Treasury. The President has said he did not wish to impose severe cuts in the benefits received by veterans suffering from service-connected disabilities.

Veterans' representatives want the same rule applied to veterans who are suffering from this or that which may be presumed to have had some-

Flying Pair Uninjured as Plane Noses Over at Croydon.

London, (Thursday) June 8 (A.P.). Capt. James A. Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson, crashed in their airplane as they attempted to take off today on a transatlantic flight to New York.

The accident occurred at Croydon Airport just after they started to rise from the field at 5:30 a. m. (11:30 p. m. Eastern standard time, Wednesday).

Neither of the noted fliers was injured.

The Mollisons' machine traveled about 100 yards and toppled over.

The accident apparently was due to one of the wheels coming off the undercarriage. It occurred as the Mollisons were speeding down the field. The machine encountered a bump and the undercarriage collapsed.

Both underwings were broken, the propeller was bent and the engines were torn away.

Repairs may take a week to complete. The load was about three tons.

The Mollisons planned to try for a world's distance flight record immediately after reaching New York by flying back across the Atlantic with Bagdad as the tentative goal. Then they planned to fly nonstop back to England.

Wiley Post May Leave June 25 on Globe Trip

Oklahoma City, June 7 (A.P.).—Wiley Post, holder of the globe-girdling flight record with Harold Gatty, said today he planned to leave for New York Friday to complete details of his projected solo flight around the world.

He said he would attempt to take off about June 25, weather conditions permitting. Post will fly from Oklahoma City to Dayton, Ohio, where Army mechanics will do some additional work on his airplane, the historic Winnie Mae.

U. S. Attorney en Route Here; Mission Is Secret

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—United States District Attorney Dwight Green today left for Washington, the nature of his mission unexplained. It was understood, however, his conferences might touch on the Insull case.

For weeks attaches of the Federal Building have indicated the Insull case might be reopened with intent of seeking new indictments against Samuel Insull and his brother, Martin.

PRESIDENT FILLING DIPLOMATIC FAMILY

J. F. Montgomery Will Be Minister to Hungary, Capital Hears.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Roosevelt contemplates rounding out his diplomatic representation abroad within the very near future. The nomination of John Flournoy Montgomery, of San Francisco, as Minister to Hungary, is believed imminent. This appointment follows close upon the confirmation of the report that Assistant Secretary of State Francis White was to be the new diplomatic envoy to Czechoslovakia.

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, of California, has been interested in the diplomatic post for Mr. Montgomery, who is described as a wealthy Californian of broad culture and wide experience. The post of Minister to Hungary has an especial significance, as the previous incumbent was Nicholas Roosevelt, a distant cousin of the President, who was appointed by President Hoover.

The important post of Ambassador to Germany has been filled by the President, but the identity of this important member of the President's diplomatic family will not be made public yet. At various times the name of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, has been mentioned for the extremely important Berlin post, but the departure of Dr. Butler yesterday for the continent is believed to have removed him from consideration.

An alleged report sent to Havana concerning the present ambassador, Sumner Welles, caused the most vigorous protest and denial that has been yet made by the administration. Cabled reports to Havana purported to announce the recall of Ambas-

Sleeping Sickness Laid To Kissing Bug Poison

Vancouver, B. C., June 7 (A.P.).—The kissing bug is not a youthful fancy, but a parasite carrying a deadly sleeping sickness, Dr. C. A. Kofoid, of the University of California, told the Fifth Pacific Science Congress in a paper today.

Incidentally, he said, 600 different kinds of parasites "derive their existence from man."

Messages Vague About Effect on Round-World Pilot.

Moscow (Thursday), June 8 (A.P.). Jimmie Mattern was forced to land yesterday at Prokopievsk, less than 600 miles beyond Omsk, Siberia, where he had taken off in the morning on another leg of his race around the world.

The brief message telling of his misfortune did not disclose whether he was injured or the plane damaged. The news cleared up a day-long mystery as to his whereabouts. A search had been conducted all along the rugged route of the Transsiberian Railway almost to the Manchurian frontier.

Prokopievsk is 168 miles southwest of Novo Sibirsk, the largest city in interior Siberia, where he was sighted three hours after his departure from Omsk. At that point he was only 1 hour and 43 minutes behind the pace set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty when they hung up the world-circling record of 8 days 15 hours and 51 minutes.

An airplane, carrying an expert mechanic, was dispatched by Soviet officials from Novo Sibirsk to assist the Texas aviator. Urgent messages have been sent from Moscow to officials on the air line, which follows the railroad, to render every possible aid to Mattern.

The exact time and reason for his landing were not given in first brief advices reaching Moscow. He had been sighted at 4:10 a. m. Moscow time yesterday (8:10 p. m. Eastern standard time, Tuesday) over Novo Sibirsk, which had been one of the resting points for Post and Gatty.

Undoubtedly Mattern was forced down only an hour or so later. Prokopievsk is a small coal mining center and if it has any landing field at all it is of an emergency nature. He mentioned his need of landing on a large field before he took off. This was because he had cracked a wing strut in landing at Omsk on the flight from Moscow.

Prokopievsk is on the railroad, but there is no regular air line landing field there. It is near Kuznetsk, a metallurgical center, and 200 miles south-southwest of Tomsk, where the Chinese generals, Su Ping-Wen and Ma Chan-Shan were interned temporarily by the Russians after they fled from the Japanese in Manchuria last winter.

Blair Sued in Tax Refund, $1,081,027

Charging that while David H. Blair was acting in the dual capacity of executor-trustee of the estate of James W. Cannon, of North Carolina, and commissioner of internal revenue he procured a tax refund of $1,081,027.26 for the Cannon estate, David A. Olson yesterday filed suit in District Supreme Court against Blair for $2,162,054.52, which is double the amount of the alleged refund.

Cannon, who died in 1921, named Blair and Charles A. Cannon as trustees and executors of his estate. In 1928, the Olson suit alleged, Blair, while acting in his dual capacity, obtained judgments in Raleigh, N. C., for refunds to the estate totaling the $1,081,027.26 in the Federal court there. The suits there were based on overpayments of taxes and penalties by Cannon, in his lifetime, and his estate thereafter.

The Olson suit, filed by Attorney Charles A. Russell on the basis of a statute that gives to a citizen the right to bring such a suit on behalf of the United States, alleges that the refund suits were based upon "false and fraudulent claims."

Grandson of Wilson White House Visitor

15 Veterans Lose Forestry Jobs as Mob Invades Town

Fort Humphreys Evictions Follow Uproar Caused by Night Brawling of 200 Men at Accotink, Va.; Majority in Camp Orderly.

A brawling mob of drunken men from the veterans' reforestation camp at Fort Humphreys early last Sunday morning threw the quiet little nearby village of Accotink, Va., into a state of fright and uproar, it was learned exclusively last night by The Washington Post.

Soldiers from Fort Humphreys finally herded approximately 200 of the men back to the camp, and for two days thereafter military authorities stationed soldier police in the villages of Accotink and Pohick to prevent the reforestation recruits from entering the small communities.

About 15 of the veterans were summarily discharged from the Fort Humphreys camp as a result of the Accotink and other incidents involving alleged liquor drinking, Army officers said yesterday.

No overt acts against the people or property of the Virginia communities were committed by the veterans, it was said last night by residents. However, the men congregated during a quiet hour and brawled among themselves to such an extent that the quiet residential sector was thrown into a nervous furore, it was said.

One man, it was learned, was cut severely during a brawl.

The procuring of the whisky began late last week, after the men had received their first allotment of approximately $2 from the Government. Others had received larger amounts in the shape of Veterans' Administration compensation checks, it was said. The liquor was obtained from backwoods bootleggers, it was said, and some of it was actually smuggled into the camp.

A large percentage of the men have conducted themselves very prop-

TARIFF POWER TO ROOSEVELT PLAN GIVEN UP

Senators Told He Will Not Seek Additional Authority.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Members of the Senate Finance Committee were advised informally yesterday that President Roosevelt has definitely abandoned the idea of asking Congress for extraordinary authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements at the London Economic Conference.

A careful study of existing law, according to the official outline of policy which reached Capitol Hill yesterday, has convinced the President that he already holds adequate executive power to carry through the limited American program at London.

The present law does not give the American delegation as much latitude in the negotiations as first appeared necessary to Secretary Hull; but recent developments in the conference preliminaries have dissipated the idea that new authority from Congress will be necessary.

House and Senate Rejoice.

Although White House officials offered no public comment yesterday indicating a final determination on the long-contemplated tariff message, it was stated in behalf of President Roosevelt that no substantial progress toward an emergency tariff resolution had been achieved during the last five weeks.

Party leaders in the House and Senate were jubilant over the news that a threatened protracted debate over the tariff resolution had been definitely sidetracked.

On the Senate side it was predicted freely by Democratic leaders that abandonment of the tariff program, together with the developing agreement on veteran awards, again made possible a final adjournment of Congress by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Many influential senators had feared that the President's original plan to drop the tariff question into Congress in the closing days of the session would cause all adjournment plans—as Speaker Rainey puts it—to go "blooey."

Fears for Conference.

On the other hand, some fears are entertained in Congress that failure of the President to obtain plenary authority over tariff rates might cause the London conference to go "blooey." This alarm is not shared, however, by State Department officials who have had a large part in the preliminary economic conversations.

For one thing, tariffs are the last item on the conference agenda as

Mexican Kidnaper Chased by Troops

Alpine, Tex., June 7 (A.P.).—Mexican cavalrymen were combing the wilds of Coahuila today in search of Candelario Baesa, bandit leader who recently held two American ranchers captive. He is wanted for cattle stealing and murder.

After failing to trap him at Orlando, his headquarters, the cavalrymen turned to the rugged area west of Boquillas. It was rumored Baesa was hiding in Laboias de las Vacas (the Pocket of the Cows), a large canyon surrounded by towering bluffs, with only one entrance.

Nine American border patiromen left Alpine with orders to spread out along the Rio Grande on both sides of Boquillas and capture Baesa, dead or alive, should he try to escape into the United States.

Nonresident Head Of Hawaii Nearer

(Associated Press.)

The House late yesterday passed the bill permitting the President to name a nonresident governor of Hawaii.

The bill, requested by President Roosevelt, now goes to the Senate. It was rejected by the House several days ago under a procedure which required a two-thirds vote for passage. Yesterday's passage was obtained by a majority vote.

Democrats, despite their differences with the President in the last few days over veterans economies, stood almost solidly behind the new bill.

Athens, Greece, June 7 (U.P.).—An aroused nation aided police and soldiery tonight in an intensive search for the gunmen who killed a guard and wounded Mme. Eleutherios Venizelos and her chauffeur in a daring attempt last night to assassinate her husband, many times premier of Greece.

MORGAN GROUP PERSONAL TAX PROBE PUSHED

Van Sweringen Admits Corporations Begun to Avoid Levy.

(Associated Press.)

Two Senate committees acted swiftly yesterday to assure examination of J. P. Morgan & Co. partners on personal income taxes, while investigators ascertained how the Van Sweringens legally avoided taxation in building their railroad realm by creating special corporations.

In quick succession the Banking Investigating Committee and the Audit Committee approved a resolution presented to the Senate by Fletcher (Democrat), Florida, who told the senators it would permit his investigators to get at the facts and those facts will enable the Department of Justice and the Internal Revenue Bureau to proceed as may be required.

Will Seek More Funds.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the Republican leader, blocked immediate Senate approval of Fletcher's resolution, but explained later he sought merely the customary day's delay and had no objection to granting the additional powers. Fletcher will renew today his request for its approval, along with the Costigan resolution providing $100,000 of additional funds for the inquiry.

Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, another of the Banking Committee investigators, explained to the Senate that "all we seek is to get the authority to examine witnesses with respect to their income taxes, but it is not contemplated the income tax returns themselves shall be made public because we can not do that under the law simply by adopting a resolution."

John W. Davis, the Morgan counsel, was ready to pres his challenge of the committee's right to make public the returns themselves.

Van Sweringen Admissions.

Van Sweringen Corporation practices were disclosed in the third day's testimony of O. P. Van Sweringen, who agreed with Ferdinand Pecora, the Banking Committee counsel, that employing intermediate corporations to transfer big blocks of stock "took the least dollars" and gained exemption from taxes in building a vast railroad system from a $1,000,000 start in 1916.

The O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen share of this $1,000,000 was $500,000, which the witness agreed was "starting on a shoestring."

J. P. Morgan and his partners again were on hand, listening off and on to the tedious testimony about a complexity of interlacing corporations that left the few senators present and a much depleted crowd.

At one point they heard Van Sweringen tell how he had paid the Morgan firm and the Guaranty Co. of New York a $240,000 bonus for floating an issue of bonds for the Chesapeake Corporation at a time the Van Sweringen interests owed Morgan & Co. $35,000,000.

Again they heard him agree that $15,000,000 of this debt was paid out

Justice Department Expert Will Assist in Milk Inquiry

W. B. Watson Snyder Placed at Service of Special Senate Committee Which Will Investigate Prices of Commodity Here.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

The full force of the investigative resources of the Department of Justice has been thrown behind the pending inquiry into milk prices in the District by Attorney General Cummings, acting on the request of Senator Warren Austin (Republican), of Vermont.

The services of W. B. Watson Snyder, Special Assistant to the Attorney General and one of the ace prosecutors in the antitrust division of the Justice Department, have been placed at the disposal of the subcommittee which will conduct the milk probe.

"The help of Mr. Snyder will be invaluable," said Elwood H. Seal, special counsel to the subcommittee. For three years Mr. Snyder has kept pace with the rapid acquisition of independent Washington dairies by the National Dairy Products Corporation, which now controls more than 60 per cent of the milk distribution here.

In these years, he has amassed data covering the whole range of the mergers and outright purchases of independent dairies which are now grouped under National Dairy Products ownership. This evidence, it is expected, will conclusively show that National Dairy Products dominates local milk distribution.

Through the Attorney General's action in assigning Mr. Snyder to aid the investigating subcommittee, it is expected that the whole procedure for the inquiry will be planned within a week, and then Mr. Seal will be prepared to recommend the start of the hearings.

The facts gathered by Mr. Snyder in his lengthy investigation are principally directed against the operations of the National Dairy Products

Lower Capital 'Lump Sum' Is Won by House

But Senators Obtain Fund for Two Schools.

Calvert Street Span Also Assured in Cut Budget.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Senate conferees capitulated yesterday to House demands on salient features of the District appropriations bill.

Their concessions were forwarded immediately to House conferees, and just before midnight last night a report on the agreement was filed in the House.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey said he may make the $30,375,000 "compromise" measure today's special order of business.

In reaching an understanding, Senate conferees gave in to the House on the two pivotal issues. They accepted the House $5,700,000 Federal "lump sum" figure, and voted to transfer from the District to the Federal Treasury $1,000,000 in repayment for park lands.

Calvert Street Bridge.

In return for these concessions, House conferees agreed to allow the District $570,000 to start work on the Woodrow Wilson High School and the Logan Elementary School, and $375,000 to begin work on the Calvert street bridge. The Senate had asked for funds for four schools.

Forecast that a settlement would be made along these lines was made several weeks ago in The Washington Post.

The conferees compromised on $1,300,000 to be made immediately available for relief purposes, although the Senate had asked $1,500,000. Discretion for the Commissioners to spend the amount "without regard to monthly or other apportionment" was denied.

Other important concessions made by the Senate throw overboard an additional $50,000 for improvements to grounds surrounding public school buildings, an additional $35,000 for improvements to school buildings, funds for maintenance of a highway testing laboratory, funds for operating the Southeast incinerator and a salary increase for District Commissioners to compensate for their cut.

Traffic Light Installation.

Funds for electric traffic light installation, stricken in the Senate on motion of Senator Cousens (Republican), Michigan, were restored.

Although expenditure of $1,500,000 from the District's gasoline tax fund for road construction and beginning work on the Calvert street bridge was sanctioned, power to approve the expenditure was vested in the Budget Director instead of the Commissioners. The Senate had asked that the Commissioners be given the power to approve such outlays.

Three important items were left in disagreement and must be acted on separately by the House. These were Senate amendments permitting transfer of funds within certain District government departments, and authorizing assignment of special teachers to classroom work without further examination. Another provision denying pay increases for reallocations to higher grades was left in disagreement. The same provision is in the pending independent offices bill.

House Ultimatum Accepted.

Yesterday's final showdown on the local measure came following weeks of delay, after House conferees pre-

SLOAN AND SWOPE TO AID REVIVAL ACT

Teagle Also to Accept U. S. Post; A. F. of L. Approves House Measure.

(Associated Press.)

Three outstanding industrialists—Walter C. Teagle, of Standard Oil; Alfred P. Sloan, of General Motors, and Gerard Swope, of General Electric—last night were reported ready to accept appointment by Hugh S. Johnson to aid in the administration of the industrial act.

Announcement of their selection as part of a five-man board which will represent industry in considering trade agreements under the legislation was said to await only enactment of the bill by Congress.

This is expected to come before the end of the week, with President Roosevelt affixing his signature and appointing Gen. Johnson as administrator.

As representatives of labor, Johnson has chosen Donald Richberg, a codrafter of the bill and counsel for the Association of Railway Labor Executives, and Leo Wolman, a labor expert and professor at Columbia University.

Johnson was described as intending to set up a board of ten men drawn equally from industry and labor. From the standpoint of the groups they represent they will be charged with aiding the administrator in the "fair and impartial" handling of the legislation which he promised last week in addressing the

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO PROBE KIT PRICES

Senator Finds Stockholders' List Is Free of Any Federal Officials.

(Associated Press.)

A special committee was set up yesterday to learn whether the Government paid Be Vier & Co., of New York, too much money for toilet kits for conservation corps workers.

The committee, created by the Senate Military Committee, will examine the prices wholesale and retail of the articles in the kit. The committee is composed of Senators Sheppard (Democrat), Texas; Logan (Democrat), Kentucky, and Carey (Republican), Wyoming.

It was set up after Richard B. Be Vier, president of the company, had told the committee his company would sell to the Government the kits in question at a price 10 per cent lower than the same nationally advertised brands could have been furnished by the Quartermaster Corps of the Army on May 15.

Federal Officials Clear.

Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, chief of the Quartermaster Corps, had said previously that the Army could have supplied the kits by contract letting cheaper than they were bought from Be Vier.

The price set by Be Vier was $1.60, while DeWitt had stated to the committee they could be duplicated for from between 75 cents and $5 cents.

Committee members privately expressed themselves as satisfied there had been no misconduct by Federal officials involved in the purchase, but several said they thought officials in accepting the word of the kit's salesman on comparative prices had not exercised due diligence.

Stockholders List Examined.

A rumor that persons prominent in Government circles were interested in the company was set at rest by Senator Carey (Republican), Wyoming, after an examination of the list of company stockholders, for which he had asked.

"I asked for this list because I have been advised that persons close to the administration had an interest in the company," Carey said. "I have been through the list and find nothing to indicate that."

Be Vier told the committee yesterday that he, his brother and members of his family owned virtually all the stock.

Higher Quality Ordered.

The subcommittee's investigation, as understood by the members, will be into the same articles and comparable articles of similar quality, to see whether $1.40 was too much to pay for what was received.

Be Vier told the committee that the statement presented Tuesday by Louis McHenry Howe, Secretary to President Roosevelt, explaining his part in the purchase "is true and accurate so far as he and I are concerned."

Howe's statement in substance was that Be Vier called on him May 15, offered him a high quality of article which he represented would save the Government considerable money and that he, Howe, turned Be Vier over to F. W. Lowery, assistant to Lewis W. Douglas, budget director, for an investigation of his claims.

Lowery Checked Prices.

Be Vier, after saying his company had operated for the last three years at a loss but had averaged a profit of about 2 per cent on its gross sales since its organization, was told by Senator Logan:

"If you got a good price, I don't think any one can blame Mr. Be Vier. As I understand it, Mr. Be Vier made his proposition, his own prices and got it. Nobody checked the prices."

"Oh, no," Be Vier said. "Mr. Lowery checked the prices."

He said Lowery had been shown by him prices the Army paid Be Vier & Co. for some of the articles included in the kit that had been sold to the Army under other orders.

Marvin Tells Philosophy Of Life at G. W. U. Rites

President Urges 700 Graduates to "Think About Things and Extract Their Lessons" in Shortest Commencement Speech.

In one of the shortest addresses ever delivered at commencement exercises, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the George Washington University, told the graduating class of the school last night that "nothing is sacred except the integrity of your own mind."

Speaking at Constitution Hall, Dr. Marvin outlined a philosophy of life for college students in a few pungent phrases. "Treat yourself with respect. Be careful of what you undertake. Accept no discouragement. Think about things. Extract their lesson," he admonished members of the class.

His address climaxed the ceremonials attending the conferring of degrees to the largest graduation class of any of the local universities. Approximately 700 degrees were awarded.

The Right Rev. James A. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, was presented the honorary degree of doctor of civil laws. The citation was read as follows: "Reared in commerce—by final choice consecrated in the church. Architect with just understanding; the bond between a dream and its embodiment. God's servant, especially gifted to interpret organized Christianity to civil life." Citations concerning retiring members of the faculty were read.

Welfare Employe Yields Stolen Baby

Cincinnati, June 7 (A.P.).—The missing 6-weeks-old daughter of Mrs. Madeline Sneed was found by detectives today in the home of Mrs. Virginia Rogers, 31, wife of a Cincinnati city welfare department employe.

The baby was mysteriously abducted by a "lady in white" from the poor quarters of the Sneeds a week ago today. Police were baffled because they could surmise no motive for the strange disappearance of the "lady in white," who explained she was taking the child to a hospital for treatment.

Tipped that a child suffering from an ailment similar to that of the Sneed baby was in Mrs. Rogers' home, detectives investigated. At first the woman insisted the child was her own. Later, in the presence of newspapermen and detectives, she said she had taken the Sneed baby after learning about the case from newspaper accounts.

COMMERCE DIVISION TO RULE AIR ROUTES

Roper Plans Survey to Reduce Foreign Trade Activities; Staff to Be Pruned.

A general review of the necessity for the statistical and research work of the Department of Commerce will be made shortly as a prelude to reducing these activities, Secretary of Commerce Roper said yesterday.

At the same time he announced that control of the country's airways would be transferred to the aeronautics branch of the department on July 1, and outlined the treatment to be given those foreign trade officials who will be dropped.

The general policy of the department will be to reduce the statistical and research activities wherever it can be done without impairing the service to the public, Secretary Roper said. Some activities can be eliminated, some suspended, and some reduced in scope. This last group is by far the largest, he reported. The new advisory committee of 30 will be asked to advise the department on the need for various services now rendered before any cuts are made.

Shift Effects Saving.

The shift in responsibility for the airways will save about $75,000 annually, it was estimated. There will also be a gain in efficiency through unified control of all aeronautical matters under the Aeronautics branch. The airways were formerly under the Bureau of Lighthouses, which established them in 1926 in order to expedite their construction through use of the Bureau's facilities.

The transfer of airways control is the second to be taken under the economy act, which is authority for all governmental reorganization. The first was the abolition of the Board of Indian Commissioners, with a saving of $12,000 per year. The airways change is an intradepartmental matter and need not be submitted to Congress.

"Decent" Notice Promised.

Secretary Roper gave an assurance that foreign trade officials of the department would be given "decent" notice before they would be dropped and that none of them would be left stranded abroad. The force of 225 will be cut in half, but many of those dropped by the department may be absorbed by the Department of State, he pointed out. He could not estimate the number needed to handle foreign trade information, which will be collected in the future by the State Department, but said it would be considerable. This reorganization move will be effective July 1, although the employes probably will not be dropped for several weeks after this date.

Members of the committee of 30 have been nominated by a selection committee, and will hold their first meeting June 26 in the department, he said. The committee of 30, whose full title is the Long Term Planning Commission and Advisory Council, will "coordinatte the thinking of all branches of industry for the guidance of the Secretary of Commerce." Represented on it are all major industries, it was said by the original committee which selected the names.

Committee Work Outlined.

Matters on which the committee of 30 will report include economic policies in foreign trade, antitrust matters, reduction of the field staff of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and the reduction of the statistical and research work. The committee is also expected to act with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the industrial recovery bill, and a liaison committee has already been appointed to cooperate with him.

Secretary Roper said textile mill operators had told him that they could take more cotton next year than they did in 1932, and that this industry was definitely on the upgrade. One county in North Carolina used four times as much cotton in manufactures in May as it did in April. Clothing stocks are depleted generally as never before, and cotton planters, in view of the reduction and the greater demand, are expecting large profits.

ROOSEVELT GIVES UP TARIFF POWER PLAN

submitted by the organization committee. A great deal of ground can be covered at London in the matter of monetary stabilization and the elimination of artificial retaliatory trade barriers before reciprocal tariffs are even approached. And if no progress can be made on such questions as money and economic disarmament, the subject of tariffs never will be reached.

As reported officially to Senate leaders, the President's decision on the tariff message does not suggest any change whatever in American policy at London. It means merely that whatever tariff agreements may be reached presumably would be submitted in specific form to Congress.

Right of Ratification.

In previous negotiations involving tariff rates, the House of Representatives has insisted upon the right of ratification, along with the Senate. Under this arrangement, the House, as the Constitutional revenue-raising authority, would retain its full powers over tariff adjustments negotiated at London. Yet the authority of the American delegations to negotiate tariff arrangements on a quid pro quo basis would be unlimited.

This arrangement, as the senators see it, appears to offer a more practical working arrangement for the conference. While insuring domestic interests against the uncertainty of the protracted tariff negotiations at London, it also affords Secretary Hull and his colleagues a comfortable security against overly ambitious projects in tariff bargaining which may be put forward by European powers.

As in the matter of war debts, all tariff proposals will necessarily be referred to Washington for final determination.

persuaded to go in "for just one dive, to cool off a little."

Standing on a rock high up on the north bank of the river, the youth rocketed through the air and cut the water head first. When he failed to come to the surface, his friends swam to the spot where he disappeared and finally located his unconscious form.

He was carried up the steep bank of the river and rushed to the hospital. It was apparent that the back of his head struck the rock, doubling his body up, physicians said, and in tant way breaking his spinal column.

The friends who took Humphries from the river are Edwin Bruce, Henry Brown and Earle Hisle, of 36 V street northwest; Arthur Beltmeyers, 2301 Wisconsin avenue northwest, and Clinton Reynolds, of 4936 Canal road.

FATHER AND CHILD DROWNED IN RIVER

Virginian Dies Trying to Save Daughter Who Fell Out of Fishing Boat.

Fredericksburg, Va., June 7 (A.P.).—In quick succession the Rappahannock claimed its second and third victims of the summer in this section when Charles Desboro, 47-year-old house painter, and his 3-year-old daughter, Frances, were drowned today a few yards off shore.

Frances toppled into the river from the small boat in which she was fishing with her father and 8-year-old brother, Leroy. Desboro jumped in after her, but Leroy said his father never returned to the surface. The lad said his sister came to the top of the water once or twice and that he tried futilely to maneuver the boat to reach her.

An hour and twenty minutes later the girl's body was recovered and some twenty minutes later her father's body was brought to the surface. Physicians at a Fredericksburg hospital, aided by a pulmotor, tried to revive them, but abandoned the effort after working for nearly an hour.

Desboro, a native of Rhode Island, is survived by his widow; his son, Leroy, and a 4-month-old daughter.

Joseph Graninger, 6, was drowned in the Rappahannock near here a week ago.

Desboro and his family formerly lived at 614 G street northwest. They moved to Fredericksburg about two weeks ago.

Bride's Nickel Saves Day at License Office

Tacoma, Wash., June 7 (A.P.).—A bashful couple appeared before Arnold C. Schrup, county official, for a marriage license.

"How much did you say?" the bridegroom asked.

"It will cost you just $4.50."

The bridegroom searched his pockets and came up with $4.45.

"Here," piped up the bride, "is a nickel, but it looks like I am starting in rather early."

MORE RELIGION HELD DEPRESSION REMEDY

(Associated Press.)

An analysis of present world affairs by the bishops of the administrative committee of the National Catholic Welfare Conference yesterday blamed the "unhappy conditions" upon a divorcement of every day matters from morality and religion and called for a restoration of Christian living as one of the prime essentials for recovery.

"We have brought about our present unhappy condition by divorcing education, industry, politics, business and economics from morality and religion, and by ignoring for long decades the innate dignity of man and trampling on his human rights," the statement said.

The statement said a false doctrine that had put money as the supreme consideration had led to the extreme of Communism.

"We rightly fear its spread in our country and see an especial menace in its insidious presentation of fundamental truths for its own destructive ends," it said.

Home Breakdown Cited.

The bishops signing the statement were the Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco, chairman of the administrative committee; the Most Rev. John T. McNicholas, Archbishop of Cincinnati; the Most Rev. John G. Murray, Archbishop of St. Paul; the Most Rev. Thomas F. Lillis, Bishop of Kansas City; the Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Cleveland; the Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Bishop of Pittsburgh, and the Most Rev. John F. Noll, Bishop of Fort Wayne.

The statement asserted that further consequences of the divorce of religion from education and economics were the breakdown of the home and a decline in the birth rate with "the inhuman doctrine of birth prevention."

The statement said of unemployment that "in a country so marvelously blessed as ours no man should find it impossible to exercise the right given him by nature to earn his bread in the sweat of his brow."

Remedies Set Forth.

In setting forth remedies to "restore human society," the statement said the first essential was "to accord to man the dignity that Christ, as God, conferred on every human being," and further that "the authority of Christ must be acknowledged."

"The working man," it was stated, "is entitled to a family wage which must be an amount sufficient not only to support husband, wife and children in frugal and decent comfort, but to provide against sickness, unemployment, infirmity and old age.

"His right to organize must not be interfered with. His right to an equitable share in the profits as a wage-earner must receive due consideration. His right to bequeath and inherit and his right to employment under normal moral conditions should be assured."

The statement asserted that large corporations should be reformed that the rights of smaller units and bodies would be fully protected.

HOUSE WINS ITS LOW CAPITAL "LUMP SUM" ROW WITH SENATE

tically told the Senate group it must yield on the matter of "lump sum" and park land refunds. Senator Elmer Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate District Appropriations Committee, yesterday suddenly called the Senate conferees together and accepted the House ultimatum.

The lump sum agreed to is the lowest in the history of the District. The Federal Government last year contributed $7,775,000 toward local expenses, and the year previous, $9,500,000.

Officials gathered some consolation from the fact that the District may get $2,000,000 additional for highway construction if the Senate Finance Committee's version of the national recovery bill is approved by both Houses.

Tabor and Bacon Absent.

Two of the House conferees, Representatives Bacon and Taber (Republicans), New York, were out of town when Senator Thomas sent the completed bill to the House, but Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, immediately asked permission to file a report before midnight. Representatives Cannon, Buchanan (Democrat), Texas, and Blanton (Democrat), Texas, signed the report.

Other differences ironed out in conference follow:

Approved $265,000 for Public Library salaries instead of the $260,000 House provision.

Agreed to $60,000 for register of wills office salaries instead of the $63,509 asked by the Senate.

Agreed to $97,167 for playground salaries, instead of $95,000 House appropriation.

$5,432,760 for Teachers' Pay.

Accepted Senate's $5,235 appropriation for operation of bathing pools.

Accepted $5,432,760 Senate appropriation for teacher salaries in lieu of House $5,427,360 figure.

Approved $32,000 Senate appropriation for Columbia Institution for the Deaf, instead of the $31,500 House fund.

Agreed to the House $7,500 figure for Americanization work, rather than the Senate's $9,500 allowance.

Decided on $63,840 for furnishing and equipping school buildings, instead of $57,840 voted by House.

Accepted House $103,000 allowance for Police Department salaries, in place of $104,880 Senate appropriation.

Struck out Senate authorization for District firemen to join organizations of fire fighters.

Accepted House $41,000 allowance for Fire Department, in place of $43,932 Senate allowance.

Approved $54,000 in unexpended balances appropriated by the Senate for District workhouse.

Increased appropriations for Tuberculosis Hospital from $55,000 allowed by House to $59,000 Senate figure.

Agreed to $5,100 for continuance of War Veterans' Service office to aid and advise District war veteran residents.

Authorized Budget Director to spend $635,000 of water tax surplus on water plant improvements.

Revised Capital Revenue Estimates Are Due Soon

Auditor Daniel J. Donovan stated late yesterday that he would submit revised estimates of District revenue to the District Commissioners within two or three days and would make a call for departmental estim

MACHADO PROPOSES SWEEPING REFORMS

Significant Statement Suggests Creation of Vice Presidency.

Havana, Cuba, June 7 (U.P.).—President Gerardo Machado, the "Iron Man" of Cuba, issued a significant statement tonight proposing sweeping political reforms and suggesting the creation of a vice presidency in the Cuban Republic.

The statement generally was regarded as an indication that the United States has taken a strong hand in efforts to settle the political unrest in Cuba, which has resulted in recurrent outbreaks and loss of life.

The Machado statement also was regarded in well-informed quarters as revealing the possibility that the president may resign when a vice president has been installed. However, this procedure, with other reforms suggested, may require at least 8 months to accomplish.

To create a vice presidency, the suggestion first must be approved by Congress in Havana, and then adopted by a constituent assembly. Elections for such an assembly would have to be called not sooner than six months after the action by the Cuban Congress.

Editorial Delegates See New Engraving Machine

Indianapolis, June 7 (A.P.).—Delegates to the forty-eighth annual convention of the National Editorial Association, as guests of Indiana University at Bloomington tonight, witnessed the first official demonstration of a new engraving machine developed in the shop of the University Press.

National Association of Manufacturers.

Unanimous approval for the industrial recovery act as passed by the House, but objections to Senate Finance Committee amendments were voiced yesterday by representatives of the American Federation of Labor.

After a two-day meeting, President William Green said the decision was adopted after close study of the bill, particularly the labor sections.

A vigorous Republican push for a 1½ per cent sales tax and against the projected relaxation of the anti-trust laws was begun in the Senate yesterday against a Democratic front virtually united in favor of passing the administration's recovery bill without any wholesale revision.

Leading the attack, after Republican regulars in party conference had decided to bring forward the sales tax to finance the $3,300,000,000 public works program, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared that to suspend the Sherman law would bring about combines and concentration of wealth which that act was designed to prevent.

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, one of the authors of the measure, now greatly revised from the form in which it passed the House, defended it in a long opening speech.

He asserted suspension of the anti-trust laws to permit trade agreements covering minimum wages, maximum hours and production was directly intended to carry out the objectives which those laws failed to achieve.

Republican regulars, at their party conference before the Senate met, decided not only to press for manufacturers sales tax of 1½ per cent exempting food, clothing, medicine and fuel as a substitute for the Harrison corporation levies, but also to seek elimination of the provision authorizing the President to license industries to compel them to adopt codes agreed upon by a majority in a trade.

Washington Society Leader Is Witness in Reno Assault

Eugene A. Bowen, of New York, Convicted of Beating Miriam V. Hostetter Young, Pittsburgh Heiress, Black and Blue; Assailant Labeled Gigolo.

Reno, Nev., June 7 (A.P.).—Eugene A. Bowen, former New York restaurant owner, was convicted in justice court today on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mariam V. Hostetter Young, young Pittsburgh heiress, and was sentenced to pay a $50 fine or serve 25 days in jail.

Mrs. Young charged Bowen twice beat her black and blue because she spurned his attentions.

A long array of witnesses was on hand, including Mrs. Natalie Hanna Carr, Washington society matron.

"I was dressing for dinner on the evening of May 21," Mrs. Young told Justice of the Peace Francis J. Cunningham, "when Mr. Bowen forced his way into my bedroom."

"Without a word of warning, he hit me and knocked me across the room.

"He used his fist and struck me in the face—about six or eight times. They were severe blows. He said he was going to fix me so I couldn't get out with any one but him.

"Then on the morning of May 29 when I came home he was waiting for me in front of my hotel. He followed me upstairs and hit me even before I got to my room and while the bellboy's back was turned. Later he struck me several times more, in the eye, jaw, chin and throat. My head ached for three days and my eye was black."

Questioned by Kendrick Johnson, attorney for Bowen, Mrs. Young, who is here for divorce from her second husband, admitted she and Bowen had "made the rounds" of local night clubs together the evening of May 28, but denied taking more than "just three or four drinks."

"Mr. Bowen left me in a fury some time during the evening," she said, "and George Hart (a singer) took me home."

Bowen testified the black-and-blue marks exhibited by Mrs. Young were received when she fell against a dressing table in her hotel room during an argument in which he had remonstrated with her for drinking intoxicating liquors.

Saying he had come to Reno to protect her "from herself," during her divorce residence here, Bowen denied he had beaten her. He also denied the testimony of Paul A. Walters, who, appearing for the State, said he had twice heard Bowen say:

"Miriam, I am going to crucify you. If it is the last thing I do I'm going to break your neck."

A. F. Johnson, assistant district attorney, summing up the case for the State said Bowen had "constituted himself Mrs. Bowen's guardian and was undertaking to direct everything she did." He concluded with the statement that Reno "doesn't approve of New York gigolos coming out here and beating up other men's wives."

William H. Taylor of Los Angeles, an uncle of Mrs. Young, testified he came here by airplane June 2, at the request of Mrs. Young and that he first met Bowen that day.

"I asked him who he was and what he wanted, and Bowen answered, 'You know what this girl needs is a 24-hour day nurse and I think I'm the party qualified. Not only that, but I love her, and, furthermore, I'll not only marry her, but, if she says so, I'll divorce her the very next day.'"

Mrs. Young will be eligible to file suit for divorce Monday from Charles Fuller Young, New York broker, her second husband.

Laboulaye at White House But Debt Status Is Same

(Associated Press.)

France brought the war-debt problem directly to the White House yesterday, but as its ambassador, Andre de Laboulaye, left President Roosevelt's office aids reported that the situation remained unchanged, with no offers for revision received and none made by the United States.

The President was represented anew yesterday to be ready to give friendly attention to any official request that the debt obligations be eased. But it was indicated also that he was holding fast to the view that installments due next week should be met.

Ambassador de Laboulaye told newspapermen as he left the Executive Offices that his talk on war debts had been centered mainly upon ascertaining the attitude of the United States toward the question. France defaulted on its $19,000,000 due last December, and its approaching installment totals around $40,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt is handling the debt question almost single-handed, and to him some of the owing nations have made known informally that they can not see their way clear to paying the sums, totalling $144,179,674, due June 15. None of them, however, has submitted a formal request for revision of its funding agreements.

In the absence of such a request, Mr. Roosevelt considers that his course is clear. Congress is on record against reduction or cancellation. The debt agreements, until modified, are effective as they stand.

The administration considers, too, that the debt problem is far less important a factor in the general economic scheme and much less a bar to world recovery than the debtor nations have claimed.

The first step in negotiations, the Chief Executive has made clear, must come from the debtor nations.

Judge Will Select Bank's Receivers

Richmond, Va., June 7 (A.P.).—Judge Julien Gunn, of City Circuit Court, said tonight that he will hear nominations tomorrow morning for receivers for the American Bank & Trust Co. of Richmond.

His announcement came after the State corporation commission had asked him today to place the bank in the hands of receivers.

The circuit court judge disclosed that he had requested information concerning the staff that will be required by receivers, and the present cost of operating the bank. He said that his intention was to keep receivership costs at a minimum.

Architects Rap $14 Plaster Pay

In the opinion of the executive committee of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Architects, present wage scale of $14 a day for plasterers "is an obstacle to the return of normal building conditions and a reduction in this scale is absolutely necessary if building activity is to be stimulated."

This information was contained in a letter received yesterday by the Plastering Contractors Association from Francis P. Sullivan, president of the Washington Chapter.

The architects' letter, written after a conference with the plastering contractors and union plasterers, points out as a possible basis for agrement that in respect to contracts now in operation, a reduction might be effected in the same proportion as that agreed to by the lathers. They accepted a reduction from $13 to $11 a day.

"Insofar as future contracts are concerned," the letter says, "* * * all building trades might well agree to reduce their wage scales comparable to that accepted by the carpenters." The carpenters accepted a reduction from $11 to $9 a day.

FOUR-POWER PACT IS SIGNED IN ROME

Britain, France, Reich and Italy Join in 10-Year Peace Guarantee.

Rome, June 7 (A.P.).—The Mussolini four-power pact, whose aim is to assure European peace and open the way for world economic recovery, was signed tonight by the Italian premier and the ambassadors of Great Britain, France and Germany.

In an address to the Senate announcing the adherence of the four great European states to the latest draft of the agreement, Premier Mussolini hailed the accord as a ten-year guarantee of peace and security in Europe.

The duce's announcement was cheered enthusiastically by the Senate and by the diplomatic representatives of the other three participating governments who occupied seats in the gallery.

Dealing With Disarmament.

Asserting that negotiations for the pact had met greatest difficulty over the article dealing with disarmament, Signor Mussolini declared that the document as finally approved assures disarmament of the four powers in case of partial or complete failure of the Geneva Arms Conference.

Alluding to fears of smaller states lest the new agreement institute a great power directorate which would impose its will upon others, Premier Mussolini asserted that parties to it have no intention of forcing their decisions upon nations which are nonparties.

"The pact is intended to protect the interests of all, rather than of single states, and is designed to open the way for world reconstruction," the chief of the government declared.

Collaboration Is Intended.

"Collaboration is intended for all states, great or small, and above all with the United States, without which any durable work of political pacification and world economic restoration is not conceivable," Signor Mussolini added.

The agreement, which in its original form was submitted by Premier Mussolini on March 18 to Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and his foreign secretary, Sir John Simon, on their arrival at Rome, was signed immediately after the address to the Senate.

The duce was smiling broadly in triumph as he drove from the Senate to Palazzo Venezia, where he was joined by Henry de Juvenel, French Ambassador; Sir Ronald Graham, British Ambassador, and Ulrich von Hassell, Ambassador of Germany.

Dressed in formal afternoon clothes, the quartet gathered around the duce's desk in a far corner of the huge office room to affix their signatures to the treaty.

Treating of Poor Left to Society

Society, instead of the medical profession, should bear the burden of supplying medical care to persons unable to pay for it, Dr. Edward H. Cary, president of the American Medical Association, declared yesterday in an address before the conference of State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America.

"The attitude of society should be directed to its own responsibilities," Dr. Cary said. "It should either correct the causes leading to dependency or assume its burden as related to the sick, so that this demand upon the profession is cared for by society and not expected from doctors."

TELEGRAPH MERGER HELD SURE IN YEAR

Postal-Western Union Plan Depends on Passage of Railroad Bill.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

Consolidation of the Western Union Telegraph Co. and the Postal Telegraph & Cable Corporation into a $300,000,000 communication combine within a year was reported as certain in highly authoritative circles here last night.

Upon passage of the railroad bill now pending in Congress, authorities expect both companies to consider a merger plan which will protect their large investments and establish the industry on a sounder financial basis.

Despite widespread rumors over the last your years connecting Postal with Western Union, officials of neither company have yet entered into any merger agreement. Both companies, however, look with favor upon a consolidation, but have been prevented in joining in the past by the antitrust laws, it was said by officials here.

The primary purpose of the telegraph companies, the United Press was told last night, is to "save the present $300,000,000 investment of the public in the stocks and bonds of the two communication companies."

The present staff of 65,000 employes of the two companies would be maintained and huge savings would be accomplished by elimination of duplicated operations.

It was estimated last night that the savings through such a combination, without a reduction in working forces, would be approximately $12,000,000 the first year, and $20,000,000 annually by the third year. The United Press was told that these savings could be translated into higher wages for workers lower rates for telegraph services and interest and dividends on the securities of the two companies.

PROBE OF PERSONAL TAXES OF MORGAN GROUP SOUGHT

of proceeds of the $48,000,000 bond issue, and later tell how 375,000 option warrants in the Alleghany Corporation were given the Morgan firm "in recognition of services."

Two special transfer corporations were stressed by Pecora in his questioning. One was the General Securities Corporation, which was used to transfer thousands of Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad shares from the Vaness Co. to the Chesapeake Corporation, a holding company.

The other was the Geneva Securities Corporation, which performed a similar function when the Alleghany Corporation, another holding group, was created.

Morgan & Co. aided in the financing of both the Chesapeake Corporation and the Alleghany Corporation.

Pecora brought out that 255,000 shares of Chesapeake & Ohio common were transferred from the Vaness Co.—a security company of the Van Sweringens and their associates—through the General Securities Co. to the Chesapeake Corporation at a time when its market value exceeded $44,000,000. This was above the cost price, but the witness could not say how much.

"If there had been a straight sale by the Vaness Co. to the Chesapeake Corporation there would have been a big profit?" demanded Pecora.

"That's like saying if the dog hadn't stopped running he would have caught the rabbit," O. P. Van Sweringen replied. "We didn't do it that way."

Profit Would Be Taxable.

"That profit would have been a taxable profit?"

"I'm not apt about that," Van Sweringen said, but, after conferring with his counsel, F. H. Ginn, he added:

"If there had been a profit it would have been taxable."

"Now isn't it a fact that the purpose for the creation and use of the General Securities Corporation in this transaction was to avoid—and avoid by lawful means—payment of a tax on such profit to the Vaness Co.?"

"It was the economical way of handling this matter lawfully from the tax standpoint."

"What economy interest to the Vaness Co. was served by that?"

"As between two routes, the one would have involved the expenditure of more dollars than the other. We chose the economical one, the one which took the least dollars."

"Why would the other have cost more?"

"That was because of the law on that subject, I suppose."

"Wasn't it because you would have had to pay a tax on the resultant profit to the Vaness Co. by the direct exchange?"

"Yes."

Third Corporation's Use.

Van Sweringen said also that when the Alleghany Corporation was formed with Morgan aid the Geneva Securities Corporation likewise was used "to avail of income exemption provided by Congress in connection with corporate reorganization."

Pecora told newspapermen that this testimony had "shown for the first time the advantage in effecting a transfer of stock through the medium of a third corporation."

"By this means the payment of taxes on profits is avoided," the investigator said. "It shows a weakness in the tax laws that Congress may want to strengthen."

Pecora said the previously discussed deal by which the United Corporation, a Morgan utility holding company, and American Superpower exchanged securities through the Public Electric Holding Co. was similar to the Van Sweringen exchange made to avoid tax payments.

George Whitney, one of the Morgan partners listening to the Van Sweringen story, previously had testified he did not know why the United-American Superpower transaction was affected through a third company.

Long Sought Answer.

Van Sweringen's answer to Pecora's question on how much he, his brother and associates had put of their own cash into their railroad domain brought the answer the counsel had sought for vainly during two days.

"I have read your question and am pleased it is in a form I can answer frankly," Van Sweringen said. "The amount of dollars was $1,000,000 with which we started back in 1916.

"We were poor when we started out in life. I've never been reluctant to admit that."

Further questioning brought out that the $1,000,000 was put into preferred stock of the Nickel Plate Securities Co. after the Van Sweringens and their friends had undertaken to market $2,075,000 of this stock.

From receipts on this sale, the securities company retired a $2,100,000 loan from the Guardian Savings & Trust, of Cleveland, which supplied the $2,000,000 cash first paid the New York Central for initial Van Sweringen holdings in the Nickel Plate.

Long questioning brought out that the Chesapeake Corporation on May 10, 1927, obtained 345,000 shares of Chesapeake & Ohio common from the Special Securities Corporation, a subsidiary of the Nickel Plate road, giving in return a block of its own shares.

Sold Without Competition.

At the same time it obtained the 255,000 shares of Chesapeake & Ohio stock from the Vaness Corporation through the General Securities Corporation. The Vaness Corporation also received a block of Chesapeake Corporation stock in return.

The entire 600,000 shares were written down on the Chesapeake Corporation books, Van Sweringen said, at $104,850,000 or $174.75 a share, "the lowest quoted market price on May 10, 1927."

Van Sweringen said the bonds were sold to J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Guaranty Co. of New York, security affiliate of the Guaranty Trust Co., for 90½, without competitive bidding.

10 SHOT AS ILLINOIS MINE WAR RESUMES

Gov. Horner Orders Troops to Springfield After Serious Rioting.

Springfield, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Ten persons were shot, one fatally, and at least two injured by flying bricks in a renewal of mine warfare here early today.

The rioting brought orders from Gov. Henry Horner for mobilization of a company of National Guardsmen to maintain peace.

The fighting between pickets of the Progressive Miners of America and members of the United Mine Workers Union flared as the latter were on their way to work in a Peabody company coal mine. The skirmish extended along a half mile stretch of pavement near the city limits with guns fired and bricks and other missiles hurled from both sides before officers arrived.

William J. Beynon, chief deputy sheriff, said from 1,000 to 1,500 pickets ambushed the workers. Deputy sheriffs restored order only when reinforced by three squads of guardsmen, rushed from Taylorsville, 27 miles away, where troops have been stationed for several months because of mine warfare.

Thomas Urban, a progressive picket, was shot in the abdomen and died several hours later. Herman Schwarberg, a special deputy, was among the dozen taken to the hospital with gunshot wounds.

Later county and city officials decided military assistance was necessary and at their request the governor called out Company C, 130th Infantry, of the National Guard.

DOUGLAS TO SEEK COMPROMISE TODAY

thing to do with service in the Army. It was estimated at the White House that the Connally amendment would bring within the limited group of veterans suffering from service disabilities some 150,000 to 160,000 others whose ills can not be directly attributable to their war service. It was estimated this would mean a loss of $153,275,000 from the expected savings. If other amendments, especially the Black hospitalization amendment, were approved it would mean a loss of $170,675,000 from the proposed savings.

$100,000,000 Savings.

It has been suggested that any ill developing within six years after the end of service might be presumed to be a war service disability. How much this would cost is not certain. The President was represented as willing to agree to a compromise proposal which would mean a saving of not less than $100,000,000 a year in veterans payments.

There was no discussion at the White House conference yesterday about a possible veto of the independent offices bill if Congress included the Connally amendment, or something of similar effect, in the bill.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, however, reiterated to newspaper reporters his belief that the President would veto the bill unless the veterans' slash limitations were materially modified. The Speaker reiterated his belief the bill could not be passed over a veto. If Congress passed a bill over a veto and did not provide additional taxes to pay the increased cost before adjourning, Speaker Rainey predicted the President would forthwith call another special session to have the battle out.

Speaker Rainey was in accord with the White House in declaring that the national budget had to be balanced, and the leaders of the Democratic party intended to see that it was balanced, in accord with the party's platform pledges.

The confidence expressed by the Speaker that a veto would not be overridden was not the feeling of several members of the House who have been most ardent in their support of almost anything the veterans wanted the Government to give them. They felt they had a chance to over-ride a veto, and even administration leaders agreed that a majority probably would vote for the Connally amendment. Meanwhile, consideration of the independent offices bill will be held up pending the outcome of the White House conferences.

2 Farmers Hurt In Milk Warfare

Erie, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—One farmer was wounded and another slugged today as violence flared and bullets flew in northwestern Pennsylvania's war over milk prices. More than 200 gallons of milk were dumped in another outburst as farmers picketed the highways of Erie County.

Lon Hewitt, 67, of Mill Village, one of a group of 30 pickets, was shot in the thigh as he approached a truck carrying milk to a dairy which refused to meet farmers' demands for a uniform price. R. W. Burger, Mill Village, was struck on the head by a gun butt. Neither man was seriously injured.

Charles Brown, manager of the Hill-Mill Dairy, of Erie, arrested on a charge of felonious assault with a gun, told District Attorney Mortimer E. Graham he shot Hewitt and beat Burger after they had threatened to dump milk from his truck.

Wets Win Indiana, 554,129 to 312,464

Indianapolis, June 7 (A.P.).—Indiana voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment yesterday, 554,129 to 312,464, according to complete but unofficial tabulation of the ballots.

In so doing, it elected 246 wet delegates out of 329 that will meet in convention here June 26 formally to record the State as favoring such a step.

The result of yesterday's special election was a setback for prohibition forces which campaigned vigorously for Indiana. The State, until this year, has been stalwart in the dry ranks.

English Jobless Decreasing.

London, June 7 (A.P.).—Ministry of labor figures today revealed a decrease of 144,755 in the number of registered unemployed in the month ended May 22. The report showed 158,427 fewer unemployed than in May a year ago.

DISPUTES FEATURE HEARING ON ZONING

Chevy Chase Body Opposes Stores on East Side of Avenue Near Circle.

A 2-hour controversy over a proposal to construct a group of stores with parking space in front of the eastside of Connecticut avenue, between Morrison and McKinley streets, developed yesterday afternoon at the hearing before the District Zoning Commission.

An application by Preston E. Wire, builder, who holds an option on the property, sought a change in zoning from residential C to first commercial. Roger J. Whiteford, his attorney, pointed out that the opposite side of the avenue is commercially zoned, that no stores have been built in this area during the last five years although the population has gained by 4,000, and that a previous covenant governing the section had been broken when apartment houses were permitted. He submitted letters from 19 nearby residents indorsing the project.

Representatives of the Chevy Chase Citizens Association and other residents of the neighborhood objected to the zoning change and pointed out that the E. V. Brown School is just above the proposed commercial site.

Vigorous Objections Raised.

During the morning vigorous objections were voiced to a proposal to change the zoning of the George W. Riggs house at 1617 I street from residential to first commercial D in order to pave the way for construction of an apartment house on the site. Nearby property owners offered the opposition.

Representatives of the Riggs estate declared that the building, erected during the Civil War, had outlived its usefulness as a residence and is now assessed at $400,000, which is more than any one would pay for a home in the downtown section. They further pointed out that many other properties along I street have been commercial zoned in recent years.

29 Applications Reviewed.

Twenty-nine applications were heard by the commission during the day. No action is expected to be taken before the first of next week, though no date was set for the executive session.

Two amendments to the zoning code were discussed. The first would permit operation of an automobile repair shop in first commercial districts providing owners of 75 per cent of the property within 200 feet consent. The second amendment would increase from 5,000 to 20,000 square feet the size of corner lots on which large storage garages may be built in first and second commercial and industrial areas.

Charles W. Eliot, city planner of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, spoke in opposition to the second amendment in the capacity of a private citizen.

Newspaper Advertising Increase Is Reported

(United Press.)

Newspaper advertising in April rose 20 per cent over March and reached a level only 15 per cent under a year ago, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

Expenditures for radio advertising in April declined to 39 per cent under the corresponding month of last year.

Corporation with a view to determining whether their operation are in violation of antitrust laws.

On the other hand, the price schedules here are being investigated by dairy experts of the Department of Agriculture, who are making a study of prices paid to producers and prices charged to consumers to learn whether an unreasonably high profit accrues to the distribution.

In addition to the services of Mr. Snyder, Attorney General Cummings has placed at the call of the committee any data which his department has gathered, as well as the services of other investigators if more aid is needed.

The work of Mr. Seal is now devoted to interrogation of witnesses he intends to bring before the committee. Producers who are dissatisfied with the functioning of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, which supplies more than 90 per cent of the milk consumed in the Capital, have given considerable information to Mr. Seal.

Distributors have been directed by Mr. Seal to submit information relative to retail prices and the amount of milk sold in quart bottles and the amount which is used for making cream, as well as other data relative to local milk distribution.

All of the information is being gathered with the object of determining whether there is a combination in operation here which is pegging milk prices.

MRS. LAURA WEIGHTMAN DIES

Deceased Had Been Resident of Washington Since 1877.

Mrs. Laura Weightman, of 1906 Sunderland place, widow of Richard Cox Weightman, died Tuesday at Richmond, Va., after a short illness, it was learned yesterday. She had been a resident of Washington since her marriage in 1877.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Henry T. Howard, of New Orleans, and by several nieces and nephews, including Hanson and Roger Weightman, Mrs. Margaret Weightman and Mrs. Louise Suasdorf, all of this city.

Funeral services will be at 11 o'clock this morning at the Lee funeral home, Fourth street and Massachusetts avenue northeast. The body will be cremated.

S. D. SCHINDLER DIES.

Fall Is Fatal to I. C. C. Attache of 25 Years' Service.

Samuel D. Schindler, 57, for more than 25 years connected with the Interstate Commerce Commission, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital as the result of a fall from a stepladder at his home, 2357 Ashmead place northwest, Tuesday evening.

Mr. Schindler fell when he was attempting to fix a porch awning which had been hung earlier in the day by workers from a local firm. R. E. Schindler, Mr. Schindler's brother, advised him not to attempt the work, it was learned. The brother is the only survivor. The body will be cremated.

IN TIME FOR THE PREVIEW

Tauschert Photo.

A laboratory print of "Gold Diggers of 1933," opening with a public preview at the Earle tonight at 11:15, arrived in Washington late yesterday by airplane. This special print, one of eight rushed from the Warner studios to important key cities for exclusive test runs, is being delivered by Pilot Dawson and Alice West, of the Eastern Air Transport Lines, to Maxine Doyle, mistress of ceremonies, and Harry E. Lohmeyer, manager, of the Earle, shown in foreground.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT IS made known in their latest bulletin by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., of which Will H. Hays is president, that the consensus of critical opinion of seven organizations comprising the National Society D. A. R., National Society of New England Women, the West Coast committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the California committee of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, the California and Los Angeles federations of the United Church Brotherhood, the Los Angeles section of the National Council of Jewish Women and the Women's University Club, of Los Angeles, has designated the following pictures the best for the month of June, 1933:

"Adorable," Fox production, featuring Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat; "Reunion in Vienna," M-G-M production, with John Barrymore and Diana Wynyard, and "The Silver Cord," featuring Laura Hope Crews, Irene Dunne and Joel McCrea.

The best social dramas are found to be "Black Beauty," "Peg o' My Heart" and "The Woman I Stole;" the best melodramas, "Below the Sea," "The Girl in 419" and "The Nuisance," in which Lee Tracy and Madge Evans are to be seen at Loew's Fox, beginning tomorrow.

Of the film plays based on war themes, the joint previewing committees prefer "The Eagle and the Hawk," in which Fredric March and Cary Grant recently appeared at the Earle, and "Today We Live," Joan Crawford's latest, with Franchot Tone and Gary Cooper.

The farce that is hailed as best is "The Warrior's Husband," Jesse L. Lasky's delightful comedy, recently seen at Loew Fox with Elissa Landi, Ernest Truex, David Manners and Marjorie Rambeau in the leading roles.

It should be heartening to you to observe that such of the above as have been seen in Washington have been critically appraised about as Mr. Hays' valuable brochure rates them.

Since it has been common knowledge for days on end that prints of the Warner Brothers' "Gold Diggers of 1933," the new musical version of the famous Avery Hopwood farce, to be given its local premiere at a special midnight preview, beginning tonight at 11:15, have been in town and have been viewed by as many Warner officials and their favored friends as could wheedle their way into the private projection room in the Earle Theater Building, some wonder may be felt that such a fuss should be made over the arrival of new laboratory prints by plane yesterday evening.

It is precisely because the prints on hand have been run and rerun so many times that the arrival of the new ones is important. The fact that special prints were rushed here from the Vitaphone plant in Brooklyn for one of the eight selected test runs of "Gold Diggers" insures those who view the film at its public presentations the advantage of virgin celluloid, unscratched, unmarred and undimmed, either as to photography or sound track, by many trips through the shutters of the projection machine. If you have ever sat through a "rainy" feature, you know what a difference it makes.

The ensuing week, however, from this distance bears resemblance to anything but a "one-show week." Films of reputed excellence will be on view almost anywhere you may happen to glance.

By virtue of sensational reports of overwhelming success in the few other cities where it has already been shown, "Gold Diggers," at the Earle, may perhaps lead a little in piquing public curiosity—that and the recollection of the hilarious fun of the first Technicolor edition of the same story, with a different cast—but such distinguished offerings as "I Cover the Water Front," a United Artists' release that deserves ranking with the first flight of screen attractions, at the Metropolitan; "When Ladies Meet," with Ann Harding, Myrna Loy, Alice Brady and Robert Montgomery all in the cast, at the Palace, and "Professional Sweetheart," with Ginger Rogers and Norman Foster, at RKO-Keith's, can not be overlooked by any judicious amusement-seeker intent upon keeping abreast of the best the cinema has to offer. A big week, my fellows, and don't let anyone tell you different.

As so often happens over Chesapeake Bay way, an important picture is being filmed almost at the doors of the Capital.

A note from Jack Stahl, formerly public relations counsel for Harry Somerville's Willard Hotel, but now assistant manager of the Annapolis Roads Club, warns that Christy Cabanne is in Annapolis making a feature to be called "Anchors Aweigh," and that he and the cast are apt to drift in and out of Washington any day now.

As a matter of fact, more or less of them were in town yesterday on official, or at least semiofficial business. Among the principals are Betty Furness, Arthur and Florence Lake—seen not so long ago at Loew's Fox as vaudeville headliners, Florence being the chattery little thing in most of the Edgar Kennedy comedies—Frank Albertson and Bruce Cabot, the lad who fought pterodactyls and things with his bare hands in "King Kong."

They are all doing their bathing from Jack's club and plan to make a little whoopee at the party there Saturday night.

Speaking of parties, The Vernons, James and Evelyn, dancers appearing currently at Walter von Herbulis' Club Michel, were a feature of the Thrift Shop Garden Fete at the Leiter home on Dupont Circle last night.

They have been put under contract by the Shuberts to appear in a new musical show planned for presentation on Broadway in the late summer or early fall.

With every attraction in the resort operating at full midsummer speed and efficiency—including the new Spanish ballroom and the perfectly appointed Crystal Pool—Glen Echo Park will put on its best bib and tucker next Monday night and act as host to 2,000 members of the Future Farmers of America, a national organization of some 65,000 members, who are holding their annual convention in the CapRal this year.

Glen Echo is nationally rated as one of the foremost amusement parks in the country, under the managerial guidance of Leonard B. Schloss, and this season, despite unfortunate breaks in the weather, is ringing up exceptional attendance records.

For ready reference, the complete line-up of motion picture attractions for the new week will be as follows: Earle, Aline McMahon, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell and Guy Kibbee in "Gold Diggers of 1933," and Aileen Stanley and William Demarest headlining the vaudeville; Palace, Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy and Ann Harding in "When Ladies Meet;" RKO-Keith's, Norman Foster and Ginger Rogers in "Professional Sweetheart," and Gene Dennis, psychic, on the stage; Loew's Fox, Lee Tracy and Madge Evans in "The Nuisance," and Benny Rubin, in person, headlining the vaudeville; Metropolitan, Claudette Colbert and Ben Lyon in "I Cover the Waterfront;" Columbia, beginning Monday, Warren William and Constance Cummings in "The Mind Reader."

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gilmore, vacationing in Washington during a brief respite from the responsibilities of conducting Loew's Grand Theater in Atlanta, Ga.—to the managership of which Mr. Gilmore was promoted from the advertising and publicity directorship of the Loew houses in Washington, of which Carter Barron, also of Atlanta, is city manager—were guests at a picnic dinner party given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Reed last evening.

Before the party was rained indoors, Mr. Gilmore, Mr. Barron and a few other corpulent and rickety old gentlemen practically wrecked themselves heaving a ball around a large open lot, somewhat shadowed by some fine old trees.

This morning, I am able to testify, some of them don't feel as spry as they thought they would and have about concluded that they're not so young as they used to be!

They may be wrecks, but you should have seen those fried chickens!

And, by the way, I am beginning to suspect that there are ways of telling when it's hot, even without that kiosk out front!

VAST THRONG HEARS 66TH LATIN CONCERT

Weather Man Relents Long Enough to Permit Brilliant Performance.

Outguessing the weather man perfectly, the Pan-American Union presented its sixty-sixth concert of Latin American music while a silvery moon, in apposition to the fraternizing Jupiter and Mars, shone benignly down on more than 2,000 who listened in rapt attention to the United States Marine Band, under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson, and to Dr. Ortiz Tirado, Mexican tenor.

In the Aztec Garden, bordered with gaunt poplars, the Marine Band never played a more lilting program, nor has the union sponsored so glorious a tenor voice as that of Senor Tirado, well known not only for his musical talents but for his work as one of Mexico's leading surgeons.

Between "The Soldier's Song" (Campos) and the characteristic "Queen of the Night" (Elie), the Union spread a musical feast that will long be remembered for Senor Tirado's singing "Las Perlas de Tu Boca" (Grenet), "Lamento Gitano" (Grever), "Nortena" (Lara), and the American premiere of Hernandez's "Traidores Labios Rojos," assisted by George H. Wilson at the piano, and Arsenio Ralon, violinist.

Outstanding among the band's offerings was a repeat rendition of Elizabetta M. S. de Pate's bolero, "Gypsy," well remembered from the Union's last concert. Other band numbers deserving of special mention were the cueca, "Manana" (Infanta), the national dance of Chile, and the premiere of the danza, "La Guacamaya," a composition no less colorful and alluring than the Union's macawa to which Composer Alberto Galimany dedicated the number.

The band's soloists of the evening included Wilbur D. Keefer, playing "Alma Llanera" (Guiterrres) and "Hindoo Song" (Bember), Winfred Kempt playing "La Princesita" (Perez-Freire), and Howard Bayes playing the "Ayamra" air from Patino's "La Huerta" suite.

Encores were generously interspersed throughout the program, with the popular and ever acceptable "La Paloma" as a xylophone solo, and "Estrellita," sung by Senor Tirado, rounding out a beautifully played and sung concert in incomparable surroundings.

The pallbearers will be H. L. Rust, jr., Rear Admiral Hutchinson I. Cone, John Spaulding Flannery; Col. Wrisley Brown, Dr. Frederick Cottrell, Dr. James H. Gore, Ord Preston and Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss.

Friends of Dr. Rowland who are coming from out-of-town to attend the rites include Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ewing, Miss Valle and Miss Katherine Ewing, Mrs. Jasper Rowland, Mrs. George Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder, jr., John Rowland and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Tunney.

MRS. SARAH CHILCOTT DIES

Alexandria Resident, 79, Will Be Buried This Afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Isabelle Chilcott, 79, wife of Joseph C. Chilcott, died on Tuesday at her home, 306 Hume avenue, Alexandria. Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters and three sons.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. today, from the home, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. E. V. Regester, pastor of the Del Ray Methodist Episcopal Church South. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery. Mrs. Chilcott was a native of Front Royal, Va.

SAMUEL BENNER DIES.

Funeral of Silver Spring Resident Will Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Samuel Benner, 82, who died Tuesday following a heart attack at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank K. Davis, Silver Spring, Md., will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at the Church of Ascension. The Rev. Alfred Cheetham, rector of the church, will officiate and burial will be at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Benner was a native of Cambria County, Penn., and spent most of his life in that State and Ohio, moving to Silver Spring about a year ago. Besides Mrs. Davis, he is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Esther M. Burdine, of Takoma Park, Md.; Mrs. Elisabeth Orr, Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Dorothy Heskett, Talmadge, Ohio, and three sons, G. M. Benner and Ray Benner, both of Ohio, and Edwin Benner, of Colorado.

15 VETERANS LOSE JOBS AFTER BRAWLS

erly, it was said by authorities yesterday, and have accomplished considerable work, despite quarantine and inoculation requirements which have impeded progress somewhat.

Most of the work done by the men has been in clearing up an area exposed to considerable forest fire hazard.

Swimming in the Potomac has been prohibited by the military authorities, it was learned, because the men have no bathing suits, and, if allowed to swim nude or in underwear, they would embarrass women and children who are permanent residents of the post. Fishing, however, is permitted, if reforestation recruits secure permits.

The conditioning camp is taken up almost entirely by the veterans reforestation recruits. A small unit of 78 Negro youths in the civilian conservation corps is quartered in an isolated section of the Army post awaiting more recruits.

The office of the emergency conservation director, Robert Fechner, announced yesterday that approximately one-third of the 25,000 veterans enrolled for the jobs in the woods will be sent to flood-control work in Vermont.

At least 1,000 of the bonus army men, who make up a large percentage of the Fort Humphreys' contingent, will be sent to the Vermont camps, it was announced by Mr. Fechner's office. The movement is expected to begin within a week.

The Federal Diary

Internal Revenue employes paid their respects to their new commissioner, Guy T. Helvering, of Kansas, yesterday afternoon when they filed through his office to see the beautiful floral baskets after F. A. Birgfield, chief clerk, Treasury, had administered the oath. The above photo shows a few of the employes waiting for their turn to see the commissioner.

MRS. J. H. HUNTER (*) is in charge of that well-equipped first-aid station in the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The other efficient nurses are Mrs. M. R. Duvall and Miss Josephine Cooper. There are 3,700 employes in this taxing bureau, and the number of cases treated is about 75 a day.

A card record is kept showing the name of the employe, division employed in, and nature of treatment. "Now say, ah," and boy, what a swab you do get. Nurses may treat you rough, but for longevity and less headaches, marry a nurse. Much valuable and useful advice is given for every ailment excepting that terrible disease called "falling in love."

In Commerce:

The California earthquake some weeks ago destroyed the Long Beach Polytechnic High School Library. Mrs. Barbara Aller, of the Bureau of Fisheries, has been requested to send Fishery publications to that school which are considered essential to the library.

Jim Wallace, formerly trade commissioner, stationed at Berlin, Germany, paid a surprise visit to Commerce yesterday morning and the bureau.

Mrs. Ethel Freeman (*), Commerce, returned to her office Monday after a motor trip through the South. Mrs. Freeman was away from the office about a week.

In greenhouse No. 1, Constitution avenue and Fourteenth street, one of these strange plants is in bloom.

In greenhouse No. 6 is located the mimosa pudica, a plant with supersensitive leaves; the slightest touch causes the leaflets to fold up, a tap, and not only do the leaflets fold but the entire branch droops as though offended.

TUESDAY the Daily Digest, Agriculture, was issued as usual. It was Vol. XLIX, No. 86, the first issue not officially prepared by Mrs. Susan Hunter Walker, who for 12 years has been its editor. Word came from Emergency Hospital that Mrs. Walker had died Tuesday morning of injuries resulting from an automobile accident Memorial Day.

Susan H. Walker.

Mrs. Walker, 59, residence 900 Ninsteenth street northwest, belonged to that vast division of Government workers who counterasink themselves into their surroundings and do their tasks well and quietly. Not alone because we knew Mrs. Walker personally, but because of the high regard in which she was held by those in Agriculture, we feel that a few words regarding Mrs. Walker's life find welcome from readers of the Diary.

The Daily Digest is a symposium of the day's news, the highlights, domestic and foreign, prepared to inform Agriculture's key men and women of trends in opinions. It also provides brief information, elaboration of which can be had on subjects of importance. Mrs. Walker's work has been so highly regarded that Secretary Wallace is quoted as saying he desired personally to see the Digest continue.

Mrs. Walker was a native of Scotland. She came to a Virginia farm 15 miles from Washington when 15 and gained her first and as she described it her "painful idea of the farmer's problem, so that today I have full sympathy with the farmer." She used to pick and pack peaches, grapes, apples and "I recall distinctly after all our backbreaking work our disappointment at financial results. However, the experience was worth a great deal."

Light Up

I USED to be piped for gas. Now I am wired for electricity. I have heard many impromptu concerts, including, "Sweet Adeline," sung by strong men with breath charged with a voltage higher than 3.2 per cent, in the good old days when beer was brewed stronger, kept longer, hopped higher and priced lower.

I have served as a beacon to guide weary statesmen to their domiciles after attending long sessions which had lasted into the wee small hours; all of which occurred before the advent of the gasoline buggy. I have been mistaken for the moon by gentlemen exuberant with the fluid, at times, designated as moonshine. I have supported many a light-headed, heavy-footed pedestrian while he rested, and ere he resumed his weary way homeward.

I have been used for a gallows. Have been a target for bad boys throwing stones. I have burned in the hot sunshine and cooled off in the snow. I have stood the storm and weathered the tempest. It has been decided not to lengthen my greatest dimension because I am long enough and so is this autobiography of a street lamp post.—CHARLES J. SIMPSON.

JUNE 9, 1933, is the fortieth anniversary of that terrible disaster that occurred in the old Ford Theater on Tenth street. George S. Paull, head of Appointment Division; William R. King () and Samuel Cottrell (), Audit Review Division, Internal Revenue Bureau, were in the old theater when it collapsed. They are recalling their miraculous escape, for more than 20 of their fellow clerks were killed and a number were injured.

Alexandria Group Seeks Beer Ordinance Change

The board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution to be presented at the next meeting of the city council, asking the repeal of city ordinance, No. 37, pertaining to the sale of beer, to the end that beer may be sold in the city of Alexandria under the local municipal ordinance.

Resolution Seeks Japanese Embargo

Montreux, Switzerland, June 7 (A. P.).—A resolution asking the League of Nations to recommend that its members declare a general refusal of all imports from Japan was adopted here today by the International Federation of League of Nations Societies.

The federation, of which the League of Nations Association of the United States is one of the most active members, urged other collective measures in the way of diplomatic, economic and financial action likely to secure Japan's compliance with the recommendation of the league assembly regarding Manchuria.

The sovereign rights of China over all her territories should be restored, the federation declared.

DIAMOND CAB CHIEF HOTLY RAPS P. U. C.

Demands Minimum Rates and Uniform Zones Be Fixed Promptly.

Harry C. Davis, president of the Independent Taxicab Owners Association, yesterday turned on the Public Utilities Commission, charging it with responsibility for the chaotic condition of the taxicab industry in Washington. Formerly he has been one of the stanch supporters of the commission's efforts to place meters on cabs.

Answering a complaint against a Diamond cab driver, who is alleged to have overcharged a patron, Mr. Davis said, in part:

"I am of the opinion that the commission is greatly responsible for the many overcharges in the city. I personally have been informed by members of the commission that the Diamond cab schedule of rates filed with the commission are illegal and have not been approved by the commission.

"Inasmuch as this association formally applied . . . for a hearing for the purpose of establishing a minimum taxicab rate and uniform zones, which has been denied and apparently will be denied, this results in an intolerable condition perpetrated on the Washington public and taxicab operators.

"The Public Utilities Commission apparently would not seriously object if there were a thousand different boundary lines and rates filed by various taxicab operators. I sincerely and respectfully request that the commission give serious consideration as soon as possible to a minimum taxicab flat rate and uniform zones, not only for the protection of the taxicab operators, but the Washington public and transients as well."

Silver Arrives From China.

Victoria, B. C., June 7 (A.P.).—A shipment of silver valued at $3,000,000 arrived here from China today aboard the liner Empress of Canada. Part of it is consigned to San Francisco and part to New York City.

DEGREES GIVEN 108 FROM COLUMBUS U.

District Attorney Rover Is Chief Speaker at Commencement Rites.

A plea for a continuation of the study and devotion to their profession which characterized their graduate days was made to the class of Columbus University at commencement exercises last night in the Mayflower Hotel by Leo A. Rover, United States attorney for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Rover's address followed the awarding of degrees and prizes to the graduates. One honorary degree was conferred. It was to John R. Fitzpatrick, dean of the school of law, who was honored as a doctor of laws. Other degrees totaled 107.

The exercises were opened with invocation by the Rev. Francis X. Cavanagh, which was followed by the address of welcome of Frederick J. Rice, chairman of the university's board of trustees.

The degrees were conferred upon the graduates by Dean Fitzpatrick, Mr. Rice and James D. Cushman, dean of the school of accountancy.

Those receiving degrees were:

Master of Laws.

Raymond Joseph Walter, Emma Beatrice Cooney, Sarah Moriarty, Herbert William Reichelt, Richard Henry Roberts, David Franklin Williams.

Master of Patent Law.

Raymond Joseph Walter, Joseph Edward Gence, Sarah Catherine Moriarty, Herbert William Reichelt.

Beatty and Gasch Win Bladensburg Reelection

W. R. Beatty was reelected to his ninth term as president and Andy Gasch to his eighth term as chief, at the annual election of the Bladensburg Volunteer Fire Department last night.

George Schwab was named financial secretary; Clarence B. Gasch, treasurer; William Norman, recording secretary; Lawrence Gayton, assistant chief; Charles Gasch, captain; William Perry, lieutenant; George Bryd, marshall, and Samuel Mostow, a member of the board of directors. Leonard Simpson was elected to the newly created office, sergeant of salvage.

Rescue Squad Captaincy Goes to Clarence Gasch

Clarence Gasch was elected captain of the Bladensburg Section of the Prince Georges County rescue squad at the annual election last night. Lawrence Dayton was named lieutenant and treasurer; Headley Gasch, sergeant, and George H. Schwab, secretary.

It was decided to hold the monthly meetings of the group on the last Thursday night of each month.

PUBLISHER'S DEATH MOURNED BY WORLD

Tributes Paid to Memory of Cyrus H. K. Curtis in Many Quarters.

Philadelphia, June 7 (A.P.).—The walks of life in which Cyrus H. K. Curtis was most interested—journalism and literature, art and music—paid tribute today to the noted publisher, who died at his home after a year's illness.

From different parts of the world came messages from personal friends, or from authors and others, testifying to their regard for the newspaper and magazine owner.

Mr. Curtis passed away at 1:10 a. m., Eastern standard time, at his suburban home, Lyndon in Wyncote. All the members of his family were present awaiting the end, which had been expected for several days.

A telegram of condolence on the death of her father, Cyrus H. A. Curtis, was sent to Mrs. Mary L. C. Bok yesterday by President Roosevelt. The message was:

"In the passing of your father, America has lost a great publisher, a noted leader in the field of journalism and a generous and kind employer. Please accept my sympathy.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Telephone Man Kills Self.

Kansas City, June 7 (A.P.).—Frank P. Vance, 49, equipment engineer for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., on sick leave, plunged to his death today from the twelfth floor of an office building.

Men aren't the only ones who know Luckies are better

We women know that there's always a good reason for everything. And when a cigarette is so unusually mild, so pure and fine-tasting as Luckies are—what other reason but "Toasting" could there be? No man has to tell me that fine tobaccos play an important part—but Luckies please me completely in still another way. My cigarette is such a personal thing—when I place it between my lips I want to be sure not to offend my sense of feminine daintiness. You men have your reasons for saying "Luckies Please!"—but with me it's the welcome purity as well as the flavor and mildness that "Toasting" imparts.

—because "It's toasted"

PRICES RISE, WAGES LAG.

An attempt to control the rise of prices will be made by the administration under the industrial control measure which Congress is expected to pass this week. Apparently President Roosevelt is apprehensive lest the cost of living may rise too fast and leave workingmen in a precarious situation. His efforts will be directed toward increasing wages in proportion to the advancement of prices.

This fear that prices may rise out of proportion to wages is well founded. Some commodity prices have increased as much as 100 per cent while wage increases have been very slight in most cases. Figures are not yet available for May, but from March 15 to April 15 an increase of only 1.8 per cent is indicated for the entire industrial pay roll. Since that time there have been many wage increases in individual plants, but they do not yet bulk large against the rise in many commodity prices and stock market values.

During April and May values on the stock market increased more than 63 per cent. This rise has added $12,553,000,000 to the theoretical wealth of stockholders. Devaluation of the dollar plus a pick-up in business has turned misfortune into wealth for thousands of speculators. The moneyed interests were in a position to take immediate advantage of the dollar's decline, but wage and salary earners have to pay more for what they buy without having a corresponding increase in their incomes.

It is not yet possible to calculate the increase in wages and salaries during the last two months. But it is quite certain that whatever that increase may be it will appear utterly insignificant beside the $12,553,000,000 which has been added to stock values during that period. Thus far the inflation policy has redounded chiefly to the benefit of speculators and wealthy interests. Stocks have risen much faster than the dollar has fallen in terms of gold, but wages lag far behind the changing value of the dollar. Figured in terms of gold, the total pay rolls today are probably lower than they were during the banking panic.

Such are the inevitable results of inflation. No country has ever been able to make wages move upward as rapidly as commodity and stock prices. President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, demanded higher wages to offset the depreciating dollar, but it is extremely difficult to secure wage adjustments in a short time. A considerable number of men have gone back to work, not because of inflation but because of improved demand for goods. Indications are, however, that those who held jobs when the United States went off the gold standard have actually lost some of their purchasing power because the rise in prices exceeds the advance of wages.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.

Uncle Sam's debt has reached a new total of $21,853,385,981. In view of the recent achievement of reducing the debt to about $16,000,000,000, this new total is rather staggering. The depression has cost the Government billions of dollars in addition to what it has collected in the form of taxes.

Further increase in the debt this year seems inevitable. The Senate is now considering a public works program that will cost taxpayers $3,300,000,000, and it is calculated that an additional $1,900,000,000 will be needed to finance relief gifts to the States and to provide funds for the relief of farmers and home owners. These proposed expenses amount to $5,200,000,000. Not all of these securities would be directly underwritten by the Government, but Uncle Sam would be responsible for the interest payments on all of them.

If the entire amount of bonds authorized for public works in the recovery bill should be issued, the national debt would be almost back to its highest peak after the war. The Government has made a tremendous draft upon its credit in repeated efforts to lift the country out of depression. When business does regain momentum it will find that an enormous burden of interest and sinking fund payments rests upon its shoulders. Once more the Treasury will be forced to engage in a drive for reduction of this colossal debt.

President Roosevelt hopes to cut $1,000,000,000 from the Federal budget next year, thus bringing ordinary expenditures very nearly into line with receipts. His plans may be upset to some extent by the revolt in Congress against the economy act. But in any event there will be a large increase in the public debt. Whether the expenses of the Government are calculated in one budget or two, the effect upon the national debt is the same. In reality another huge deficit is in prospect.

This situation gives the Treasury a very difficult job of financing. A large volume of Government bonds must be refunded this year in addition to the new bonds necessary to finance the public works program and the special relief activities. It will require skillful handling to avoid straining the Government's credit.

PARLEY PROSPECTS.

It has been evident during recent weeks, from the tone of the foreign press and the observations of European correspondents, that there has been a cooling of enthusiasm as to the probability of practical results emanating from the London economic conference. There has been no concealment of the disappointment on the part of the fifteen debtor nations that no advance understanding could be reached with the United States regarding war debts. Counterbalancing this, Washington registers keen regret that, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of its representative at Geneva and the unprecedented offers of cooperation that he has made in behalf of an agreement on substantial armament reduction, it has not been possible to reach such accord.

The first topic scheduled for discussion concerns policies relating to currency and credit, with emphasis on consideration of an international monetary standard to which all countries can adhere. This will, naturally, necessitate debating the gold standard, or stabilization upon some other basis, the use of silver, and the advisability of a policy of international inflation. Second on the list the agenda committee places the question of raising price levels, a topic that is closely connected with monetary policies. There arise several important subdivisions, however, such as whether wheat and other important staples, shall be considered separately, and whether there shall be a general price increase attempted, or merely stabilization and equalization of market values.

The third agenda topic covers the broad field of restrictions which have grown up retarding the flow of funds between countries. Since the European nations consider the war debts one of the principal obstacles and the American delegates are barred from their discussion, not much progress will be made on this point. On the other hand Secretary Hull has voiced from his steamer the desirability of the richer nations resuming the extension of loans and credits to nations in need of such assistance. This is a policy which undoubtedly will be more warmly welcomed at the conference than in America.

Finally comes the subject of ecopomic warfare. Is the trend toward economic self-sufficiency to be forsaken in favor of a reduction of tariffs, suspension of special levies, quotas and embargoes to favor a freer flow of international commerce? Also the question is to be raised as to the desirability of establishing some sort of international tariff machinery to prevent such situations as now exist. With the manifold ramifications into which every subject on the agenda will be divided there seems small hope that the desires of the American delegates for a brief conference lasting a few weeks can be realized.

CONGRESS AND THE VETERANS.

Curses, not loud but deep, are heard from veterans in all parts of the country, as the notices of cuts in compensation and allowances are received. The anger of veterans is directed at Congress as well as at the President. Senators and members possess sensitive wires running to their constituencies, and these wires are hot with imprecations and threats. The Senate adopted the Connally amendment, throwing a sop of $170,000,000 to veterans, although that sum had been earmarked for economy. House members, hearing the rumblings from home, have given evidence of panic, and unless President Roosevelt can hold them in line they will outdo the Senate in handing out gratuities to veterans who do not suffer from any war disability.

A compromise is looked for, leaving large discretionary power to the President to relieve veterans whose disabilities may be presumed to result from war service. Through this hole many millions may be poured, which should be saved for national necessities. The veterans, however, are beyond mollification by relaxation of the excessively stringent regulations which proposed to cut down allowances to those who suffer war disabilities. The news that warmaimed men were to suffer heavy cuts has spread throughout the country. They and their relatives and friends are furious. In hospitals where veterans are lodged the only topic of conversation is the revenge which the veteran vote will take upon members of this Congress. When it is urged that the cuts are ordered by the President, and not by Congress, the veterans retort that Congress was cowardly in shifting responsibility to the President, and was at heart desirous of doing injustice to the veterans but lacked the courage to do so.

As matters stand, many a Congressional head will fall into the veterans' basket in the election of 1934.

A STUPID FISCAL PLAN.

Maj. Donovan, auditor and budget officer of the District, presents a powerful argument in favor of separating the finances of the District and national governments in his letter to Chairman Norton, of the House District committee. The stupidity of this practice as revealed in the District budget now before Congress ought to encourage friends of the Federal City to demand a change.

Conferees on the local appropriations measure have decided to cut the Federal contribution down to $5,700,000 and to force the District to repay $1,000,000 advanced by Congress for the development of parks in the Capital. The bill does not represent the needs of the District nor its available revenue. Budget Director Douglas cut the District bill from the national economy pattern with astounding disregard for the welfare of the municipality of Washington. Only an absurd and distorted budget could be expected from such a practice.

Congress acquired the habit of considering the District as an administrative department of the Federal Government, so far as finances are concerned, when Uncle Sam was contributing a large share of the District's revenue. Now Congress appropriates only a meager sum to supplement local taxes, but it still insists upon treating the District budget as if it were an item in the national program of expenditures. The result is confusion in the Federal budget, and inexcusable disregard of the welfare of the District.

Regardless of what Congress may decide as to the proper financial relationship between the Federal and District governments, it is evident that a major portion of the District's revenue will come from local taxpayers. Why, then, should the District budget be submitted to the Federal Budget Bureau? It is palpably absurd to apply the same principles to the District as are applied to Federal expenditures. The District can stand on its own feet and take care of its own needs, if Congress will only make an honest allowance for the extraordinary expenses incurred because this city is the Federal Capital. The idea of starving the District when its revenues are sufficient to care for all of its own municipal needs leaves citizens with a keen sense of imposition. Correction of these abuses can not be expected until the local budget is completely divorced from the Government's financial set-up.

BUREAUCRACY'S WEAKNESS.

Piece by piece the Senate military affairs committee is putting together the story of 200,000 camp kits which cost the Government about $100,000 more than they should have cost. It is a confusing tale, but it may contain a warning to the enthusiasts who believe that the deficiencies of the economic system can be cured by bureaucrats.

All doubt that Uncle Sam was the loser in this deal seems to have been cleared away. But the mystery as to why this contract was signed, in spite of warnings from the War Department and without adequate investigation on the part of the purchasing agent, remains unexplained. Bureaucracy functioned in the usual way. One official passed the buck to another. It seems to have been the intention of these functionaries to prevent the Army from making a "disadvantageous purchase."

It is as difficult for bureaucracy to function on strictly business principles as it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. The public may concede good faith on the part of all those concerned in this incident, but that does not inspire faith in the ability of Government employes to manage American industry, business and agriculture.

A Republican senator tries to quiz Louie Howe as to his radio receipts, and others want to know how much Ray Moley makes as a syndicate writer. These probes into high finance are becoming too numerous.

Postmaster General Farley qualifies as the foremost optimist of the world by forecasting a pensions system that will be satisfactory to both the pensioners and taxpayers.

Harry Sinclair is not a lawyer, but he could give Wall Street lawyers a few points on the futility of trying to scare a Senate committee into dropping an investigation.

The Van Sweringen disclosures show what Joe Eastman will be up against when he takes over the czardom of the railroads. Good-bye, Joe, take keer o' yourself!

Mr. Common People ought to stick out his chest as he learns how many rich income tax dodgers he has financed.

A thousand citizens are denounced because they are hoarding gold that Uncle Sam wants to hoard.

Uncle Sam can make the economic conference a success if he will pay for it all himself.

Peck away, Pecora!

SEEING TOO WELL

From the New York Sun.

Science will benefit more than art from infra-red photography. No man need grieve because his eyes are not sensitive to light of all wave lengths; better vision might drive most of the beauty out of the world. Pictures taken with the new infra-red plates and filters give startling definition of remote objects, but invest them with a stark unreality. The eye loses its ability to gauge distances. Nearby objects become harsh and cold. The infra-red world is not a world of life; even its men and women look as though they would have to be thawed out considerably before they could speak.

The most interesting quality of these invisible light rays—even more interesting than their ability to make pictures in the dark—is their power to penetrate smoke and haze and light clouds. Astronomers use them to photograph the surface of a planet which has a troublesome atmosphere. Aviators flying at high altitudes are able, by excluding other light from their cameras, to obtain pictures of such remote terrain that the curvature of the earth is plainly shown. A newly invented infra-red sextant enables mariners to shoot the sun for latitude and longitude on cloudy days as well as fair days. Another apparatus, extremely sensitive to minute changes in the radiant heat associated with these rays, helps ships to find their way through fogs; it sounds an alarm when an iceberg or other dangerous obstruction looms ahead. Smoke screens may become useless in naval warfare if infra-red eyes of this sort can pierce them.

Fortunately for man, so far as the enjoyment of life is concerned, he lives on a planet where cloud and fog and haze are everyday realities. Nature employs them in a thousand ways to soften and beautify a world which without them would be almost as unlovely a place of abode as the airless moon. If for any practical reason he wishes to penetrate the mists of the horizon he now has the means of doing so. For the most part he will prefer not to lift the purple veil because he finds it more interesting in itself than the things that may chance to lie just behind it.

Hopeless Passion.

POST HASTE.

Is Congress trying to make the people ponder the prejudice of perpetuating it as a positive peril?

If Alabama's repeal vote breaks the solid prohibition South it will dampen even the spirits of the drys.

Between the things due to occur and that are not going to happen, the ides of June promise to be busy and momentous days.

Naturally we may get word from the rumor factory any day that Dr. Sprague, former economic counselor of the Bank of England, has been forced on this administration by Herbert Hoover.

Stock values have increased over twelve billions in three months and seven blue-chip issues are selling above 100. If this is inflation make the best of it.

Jim Farley has also discovered that seventy billions of debt can't be paid with four billions of gold. How were sixty billions of bank deposits, at the height of the boom, paid with five billions of currency?

Somebody else discovered some time ago that it was possible to have banks and monetary systems, because as long as confidence is maintained, all the people do not want their money or the basic metal at the same time.

On the same principle what would happen to Mr. Farley's department if everybody should decide to mail all his letters for the whole month on the same day?

"France demands security in advance of arms reduction." Haven't we heard this before or five times?

What did you say, or up Salt River?

Industry needing loans should get busy before Secretary Woodin gets too big a head start on the walloper issues he must float.

China and Europe are shipping tons of silver to the United States in the fond hope that Senator Pittman will double its value.

A THOUGHT.

Were I as rich as Midas
Or poor as Lazarus,
If love would walk beside us
Together we'd discuss
A thousand lovely reasons
For rapture and delight—
The ever-changing seasons,
A wild duck's certain flight.

We'd sit the bright stars under
And watch the moon arise,
And find it joy to wonder
What lies beyond the skies;
We'd hear a blithe bird singing
Its rhapsody of song,
And watch the rivers swinging
Their seaward course along.

We'd hear the ocean booming
Along the sandy shore,
And look at flowers blooming
Beside some humble door;
We'd gaze on green things growing
And marvels everywhere
Beyond our little knowing
And quite forget our care.

In spite of pain or duty,
Or hearts that often ache,
We'd reap the joys of beauty
Beyond man's power to make.
We'd find with love to guide us
God's works miraculous,
Were I as rich as Midas
Or poor as Lazarus.

If the Oxen Plow Under the Same Yoke, Why Feed One Twice as Much?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WE call this a land of equality, but there is very little equality of opportunity or wealth or power anywhere within its borders, and the tendency of our social system is to destroy the little that remains.

If we are not a nation of classes, we are at least a nation of groups. We are specialists. And as the Englishman is born to be a lord or a servant, so the American's birth into a certain group fixes the size of his income and the role he shall play as a citizen.

It is foolish to argue that the individual can climb out of his native group—that the miner's son can become a merchant prince and the farmer's boy a senator.

The simple fact remains that most of the miners are the sons of miners and most of the farmers sons of farmers. Only those who are unfit drop from a group that is well paid to a group whose pay is small, and only those of exceptional ability climb from one group to another that is higher in the social and economic scale.

The ordinary individual, neither abler nor less able than the average of his group, follows the calling to which he was born.

This is as it should be. Farmers and miners and railway brakemen are no less necessary than merchants, teachers and bankers. If all farm boys should decide to study law the next generation would go hungry.

But this division into groups, one as necessary as the other, dooms part of us to be poor and without influence while others are made rich and powerful.

Lawyers, by the nature of their calling, make and administer our laws. Other men must depend on them for justice and protection.

Teachers are doomed to poverty.

Farmers and others who produce necessities can not hope to be rich.

Physicians and similar servants may fare well, but they are piece-workers and can not build great fortunes.

Only those who gamble or buy and manufacture and sell can acquire great wealth. These are the owners of America.

What then? Shall all of us become gamblers and traders? No; the other callings are necessary. Does it follow, then, that most of us shall remain poor while a few become rich?

Again, no. If the farmer is as necessary as the banker let his reward be as great.

That is the new deal and the new justice that men demand. The old rules that enriched a favored class must be abolished. Equality of opportunity must come to mean equal pay for equal service to society. There is no other equality.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Wants U. S. to Buy Peace.

London Telegraph.

What Europe desires from America is an assurance that she would in the event of war breaking out, promptly manifest her disapproval of the aggressor by some action that would be to his detriment, such as the refusal of protection to United States nationals trading with the offending nation. It has long been clear that the disarmament controversy has resolved itself into a vicious circle. France will not disarm unless she is guaranteed security against her old enemy. Germany will not cease to resent the Versailles restrictions on her armament until the French army is substantially reduced. Great Britain and Italy have done their utmost to effect a compromise, but without avail. American intervention might resolve the difficulty, provided that it assumed a concrete and practical form. If pacts of nonaggression were multiplied a hundredfold, France might remain suspicious and Germany resentful. Fear of American ill-will and of a commercial and financial embargo would, however, deter the most ardent of Nazis from attacking France, and the French in their turn would cease to strive for the unattainable ideal of absolute security. If Mr. Roosevelt, with the full support of Congress, can offer Europe such guarantees, he will open a new and happier era in the world's history. His manifesto points the way, but does not lead us on.

Everybody Selling.

Mitchell (S. Dak.) Republican.

Reports from Minnesota indicate that nearly everybody in the State is selling beer, no matter what sort of store or business he runs. Wonder who buys it. Do they sell it to each other?

Eliminating the Gold Clause.

Minneapolis Journal.

Decision of the New York State Supreme Court that a contract for payment "in gold coin of present weight and fineness" may be satisfied in current funds, while not the last word, is important. Before the House passed the resolution invalidating the gold clause in contracts, past or future, it received a report from its banking committee upholding the constitutional power of Congress to enact such legislation. The minority, which maintained that the Government has not the moral right to do this, and whose position was strengthened by predictions of Senator Glass and others that the United States Supreme Court would not uphold the retroactive feature, has lost ground.

She Wasn't Tactful.

Detroit Free Press.

Secretary Frances Perkins believes, it appears, that a "social revolution will take place if you put shoes on the people of the South." Evidently Miss Frances has more fixed "ideas" than common sense. Already she has brought from a former Governor of Georgia a half satirical, half angry assurance that people below the Mason and Dixon line do sometimes wear shoes, and from Senator Glass a tart remark that when he was a boy "we didn't care a tinker's damn for a boy who wore shoes, and he was regarded as a sissy."

We are afraid Miss Perkins isn't going to be much of a hit in Dixie. After all, the people of this country are not clinical subjects for social workers, and they don't really care to be managed, even by a lady in high position in Washington. If the Secretary of Labor remembers this, she may increase her general usefulness as a public official.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Insists That Veterans on Federal Pay Roll Should Not Receive Disability Allowance Also.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Grave injustices have certainly arisen from the new regulations governing the portion of the economy act relating to veterans allowances. No one listening to the debate in the Senate on Decoration Day afternoon could very well doubt that to be the case. Such injustices will probably be corrected, so far as is humanly possible, by legislation or by administrative liberalization.

There is one category of veterans, however, who, I strongly feel, should be expressly excepted from all liberalization and who should receive no cash disability compensation from the Veterans' Bureau, even though their disabilities may be service-connected. The veterans to whom I refer are those employed by the Federal Government.

Take the example of a veteran employed by the Government who is rated by the Veterans' Bureau as having, let us say, a 30 per cent disability. He receives the same pay for the same work as another person, whether veteran or nonveteran, who is 100 per cent able and presumably 100 per cent efficient. The Government, when it employes a veteran only 70 per cent able and presumably only 70 per cent efficient, is, in effect, giving that veteran a cash disability allowance to the extent of 30 per cent of his salary. Any further cash disability allowance to such a veteran from the Veterans' Bureau is duplication and graft.

The cases of able-bodied, healthy veterans in the Government service receiving cash allowances from the Veterans' Bureau are so numerous as to be fairly sickening. Certain recipients of this sort whom I know spend their disability compensation in extravagant clothing or other personal luxuries, and now they are the loudest and bitterest in criticism of the administration.

Veterans in the Government service who are suffering from service-connected disabilities should receive free Government hospitalization and medical care, when needed, but not one cent of cash allowance should they draw from the Veterans' Bureau.

44 DEGREES GIVEN AT OLD ST. JOHN'S

Lewis, Member of Congress, Orator at Its 140th Commencement.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 7.—The world owes no man a living, but it does owe him the right to earn a livelihood by the "sweat of his brow," Representative David J. Lewis, of the Fifth Maryland District, told the graduates of old St. John's College at the 140th commencement exercises held beneath the spreading branches of the historic liberty poplar tree on the front campus today.

The college awarded 44 graduate degrees, which were conferred by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, ex-officio chairman of the board of governors and visitors, while Chief Judge Carroll T. Bond, of the Court of Appeals, bestowed the prize awards.

The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Maj. Enoch H. Crowder, president emeritus of the college and now president of the Harvey School at Aberdeen, Md. Maj. Crowder is a graduate of St. John's and also of the Military Academy at West Point.

Edward E. Kenly, of Claiborne, took first honors of his class, having attained the highest average for the four-year course. Edward J. Smith, of Oradell, N. J., was the recipient of two prize awards, a gold medal for general excellence during the course, and a cash prize for having made the greatest progress in his final year compared to his average for the three previous years.

The roll of graduates who received degrees follows: Maryland—Charles G. Hill, Jr., Annapolis; Edward M. Kenly, Claiborne; George D. Johnson, Severn Park; Theodora J. Bard, Davidsonville; James R. Bennett, Rhodesdale; James G. Ross, Laurel; William Carter, Baltimore; Roger B. Cobb, Salisbury; John O. Digges, La Plata; George B. Gallagher, Baltimore; Daniel B. Virginia Is Refused Ryan Estate Appeal

Wytheville, Va., June 7 (A.P.).—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia this morning refused a writ of error in the case of the Commonwealth against Clendennin J. Ryan, executor of the estate of Thomas Fortune Ryan, deceased.

The case involves the inheritance tax laws of Virginia and was first decided in the Circuit Court of Nelson County last January 16, when an order was entered by that court directing the treasurer of Virginia to refund to the personal representative of Thomas Fortune Ryan $170,242.47, being that portion of the Virginia inheritance tax assessed against and paid by the estate and determined by the Circuit Court of Nelson County to have been erroneously assessed and paid.

Rank and File Veterans To Discuss Pension Cut

Dollars Abundant At Chicago's Fair

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—World's Fair dollars in the cash registers of Chicago business men and in the vaults of the Century of Progress Exposition itself tonight gave indications that the 1933 fair, only 12 days old, would aid in business recovery and pay for itself.

Railroads, hotels, department stores, restaurants and scores of related industries declared A Century of Progress had increased their business, some of them as much as 100 per cent. From officials of the fair came declarations of satisfaction. Already, they said, about 800,000 visitors had paid admission at the gates and then gone inside to spend a total of $781,810 for amusements and food.

Cash income for the exposition, including concessions as well as gate receipts, therefore has been well over $1,100,000 for 12 days, not counting hundreds of season tickets and souvenir tickets sold in advance.

ROCK ISLAND TAKES BANKRUPTCY PLEA

Directors of 8,340-Mile Line See No Other Way Out of Difficulties.

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—The Rock Island lines, a major unit in the transportation scheme of the Middle West, sought surcease from maturing debts today under the new Federal bankruptcy act.

The Railroad Credit Corporation, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation all had pulled the purse strings tight when the Rock Island solicited loans that would have averted receivership.

Directors of the 8,340-mile line, meeting at New York, found no other way out of its difficulties and authorized the filing of a voluntary petition in U. S. district court. It was filed here shortly afterward, asking the court to give it the protection of the new bankruptcy act and sanction a reorganization without actually adjudicating the railroad a bankrupt.

This was the second large carrier to petition the Chicago Federal Court under the new law. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad instituted voluntary proceedings April 18, and in other Federal courts five other railroads have availed themselves of the opportunity to reorganize under Federal court chaperonage: The Missouri Pacific and its subsidiaries, the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico and the International Great Northern; the Akron, Canton and Youngstown; and the Minarets and Western.

The immediate maturities to be met were principal and interest totaling $2,100,000 due July 1, and other payments due October and January. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has loaned $13,717,000 on collateral the Rock Island said was worth $40,302,466.

Robert E. Lee School P.-T. A. Head Installed

Mrs. Martha Rauh, president of the Arlington County Council Parent-Teacher Association, installed the newly elected officers of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Robert E. Lee School yesterday.

The new officers are Mrs. William Cole, president; Mrs. Percy Smith, vice president; Mrs. Walter Davis, secretary, and Mrs. R. C. Frink, treasurer. Mrs. Raymond Crack reported that plans for the annual luncheon for the children of the school to be given next Tuesday have been completed.

Annual Outing Planned By Maryland Park High

The fifth annual excursion of the Maryland Park High School, of Seat Pleasant, Md., will be held Saturday at Seaside Park, Chesapeake Beach. The outing is held in honor of the graduating class, and between 250 and 300 children are expected to attend.

William Helm, principal, is arranging a program of games and athletic contests for the students.

STORM OF PROTEST GREETS TAX PLANS

Suits and Injunctions Are Threatened by Suburban New Yorkers.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Taxpayers' suits, injunction proceedings and constitutional attacks were threatened today against the city government's attempt to raise $30,000,000 in taxes from automobile owners and users of Manhattan bridges.

Suburban communities, who residents would have to pay auto tolls for crossing the East and Harlem River bridges into New York City, were considering retaliatory taxes.

The new tax bill, imposing an automobile registration fee equal to the State tax and tolls for commuters using the two bridges, was adopted yesterday by the board of aldermen and on Friday goes to the board of estimate.

The storm of protest that greeted the proposed tax was almost unparalleled in the city's history. Civic organizations, automobile clubs, motor truck associations, newspapers and countless other clubs immediately adopted resolutions, phrased in indignant language, attacking the tax.

Mayor John P. O'Brien, author of the bill, was the center of attack. O'Brien, nominated by Tammany Hall leaders to succeed Joseph V. McKee, who became acting mayor when James J. Walker resigned during the legislative inquiry into city affairs, said the money was urgently needed for unemployment relief.

Under the O'Brien plan the average automobile owner would pay a registration fee of $12.50 a year to the city, equal to the present State fee. Nonresident drivers would be assessed 25 cents to cross into the city over the East River Bridge and 10 cents to enter by way of the Harlem River Bridge.

Speaker Rainey Given Merit Award; Hard Also

Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of the House of Representatives, and William Hard, political correspondent, have been selected for the merit award of the Northwestern University Alumni Association, which is given annually to graduates of Northwestern for "worthy achievement which has reflected credit upon their alma mater."

Speaker Rainey, who graduated in law in 1891, was recommended by the Washington Alumni Club because of the "distinguished service he is rendering the Nation."

Byrd-Robertson Fruit Inspection Bill Passed

(Associated Press.)

The Byrd-Robertson bill to provide Government inspection of export apples and pears was passed yesterday by the Senate with slight revision, under the guidance of Senator Byrd, of Virginia.

Representative Robertson, of Lexington, who introduced the bill in the House, said he hoped to complete legislative action on the measure today by agreement of the House to the two minor Senate amendments.

All Souls' Church June Party Tomorrow.

Dr. and Mrs. U. G. B. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence C. Staples and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler will receive the guests at the annual June party, to be held at All Souls' Church tomorrow evening. New members of the church during the past year will be the guests of honor. A varied program has been arranged under the chairmanship of Mr. Howard M. Bollinger, and includes a one-act play entitled "Modesty," directed by Ina Hawes and having in its cast Olga Helms, Richard Harr and Wilbur Betts.

This play will be given in Pierce Hall, as well as a short skit played by Jean Harden, Irene Scott, Winona Baker, Eleanor Dawkins, Sylvia Meyers and Katherine Ennix. Mrs. Ruth Darling will sing, as will also a quartet composed of Robert Cushman, Howard Hosmer, J. M. Dellinger and Clifton Moore.

The Court of Founders will be the scene of a spring dance by pupils of Miss Elizabeth Hastings. Refreshments will be served on the Longfellow Terrace, with Mrs. Sanford Bates, Mrs. W. A. Page and Mrs. Ernest J. Loring as hostesses.

Members of the ladies' committee for the congressional baseball game, scheduled for Saturday between Democratic and Republican House members, had a busy time at the Leiter garden party yesterday, using the opportunity to sell boxes for this great annual event.

An added attraction for many who plan to go is the program of entertainment from 2 to 3 o'clock, when the game will be called. Various vaudeville skits and stunts of various kinds will be staged for the entertainment of fans.

Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, chairman of the committee selling boxes, announces the following members of her committee: Mrs. Fred A. Britten, Mme. Emanuel Dimitriu, Mrs. George Barnett, Mrs. Sidney Cloman, Mrs. Frank Mondell, Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro, Mrs. Cary Grayson, Mrs. Malcolm McConihe, Mrs. Mark Bristol, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mrs. Carl Kurtz, Mrs. Charles A. Hamlin, Mrs. Edward Pinkenstaedt and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair.

Mrs. A. B. Carrier will be married to Mr. Edmund M. Day, of Hartford, Conn., at 10 o'clock this morning. The ceremony will be performed at Mrs. Carrier's home at 1619 Nineteenth street northwest.

The daughter of Mrs. William Bridgeford, of Louisville, Mrs. Carrier has maintained a home in Washington for the last six years.

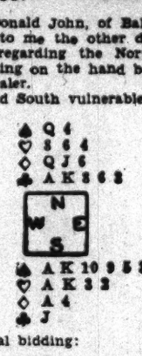
MAKING MINIMUM RESPONSES.

ONE thing every Bridge player should learn early in his career is the wisdom of making minimum responses on hands which on previous rounds have been bid to the hilt, but which must be rebid because partner has made an absolute or inferential Force. The danger of overbidding when partner has made a Forcing Takeout is great. A wrong impression of strength is almost certain to result in reaching an unmakable contract. To give a strength-showing response when a minimum response is required is a violation of the principles that should govern every good partnership.

Mr. H. Donald John, of Baltimore, submitted to me the other day two questions regarding the North and South bidding on the hand below:

West, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The actual bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♣	Pass	2♠
Pass	3♣	Pass	3♠
Pass	4♠	Pass	5NT
Pass	6♣	Pass	7♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Mr. John's first question is: Was South justified in bidding seven spades?

The bid of seven spades is not a particularly bad one, but, on the other hand, it is not to be especially commended. The fact that he holds a singleton club and two losers in hearts suggests slight caution in going to the Grand Slam. However, the bid does have a certain more or less sound foundation, namely, North's bid of three clubs in response to South's Force. Certainly South had a right to expect that the North hand contained more than a five-card club suit and that the hand contained much more body generally when three clubs was used as a response to two spades.

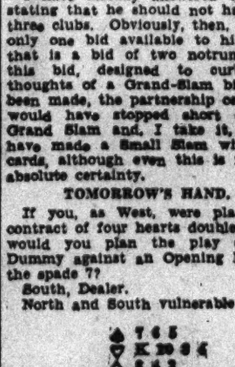
Mr. John's second question is: What should North's second bid have been?

I have already answered that in stating that he should not have bid three clubs. Obviously, then, he has only one bid available to him and that is a bid of two notrump. If this bid, designed to curb any thoughts of a Grand-Slam bid, had been made, the partnership certainly would have stopped short of the Grand Slam and, I take it, would have made a Small Slam with the cards, although even this is not an absolute certainty.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If you, as West, were playing a contract of four hearts doubled, how would you plan the play of the Dummy against an Opening lead of the spade 7?

South, Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

The Meanderer

Would Foil Sun's Rays With Washable White Parasol — and Cool, Comfortable Clothes.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

For spreading "between you and the sun"—to steal a phrase from a shop window card—one of the very new, very white parasols is recommended. The shop which showed the new white parasol to the Meanderer calls it the "sudanette." It is made of firm, white silk, which turns rain as well as foils the sun. Furthermore, its whiteness is easily maintained by washing. The entire makeup of the sudanette is white—white handle, white tips, white shank and silver bridge. Even Washington's merciless summer sun may be regarded nonchalantly by the fortunate possessor of the "sudanette."

Put something helpful between you and the hot pavement, too, for summer comfort, advises the shoe salesman in one of Washington's most popular shoe emporiums. White footwear, subscribed to almost unanimously by Washingtonians, is in the midst of its annual peak of popularity. Through a satisfied customer the Meanderer learned of a white shoe for women, a strap shoe made on arch support lines, with none of the staid look an arch-support shoe almost invariably gives. This shoe formerly sold for more than $5, but is now offered by an F street shoe house for $3.50. The customer who had used this white shoe bought a washable white leather hand bag and two pairs of hose at the same time she bought her shoes, and her total expenditure was $5.38. The washable bag cost just $1 and the hose 39 cents a pair. Several types of the washable bags are shown, including pique. Incidentally, art gum is regarded as an efficient cleaner for white pocketbooks.

Women's summer underwear may be concentrated in one garment, as many women have known for several summers, since the manufacture of the "three-in-one," a slip, panties and brassiere combined. The Meanderer saw a garment of this sort of good quality in an F street shop for $1.95.

The vogue for dark blouses so generally adopted in New York has descended upon Washington with variety and interest. The Meanderer saw some new black, brown and navy dotted Swiss blouses, or linen or organdy blouses in the same colors almost as soon as they were unpacked today, in one of the larger F street stores. They are in tailored lines, some of them relieved with bits of white, others solidly dark. The Meanderer particularly liked black linen and organdy jackets that may also be blouses. They are conservatively tailored, almost mannish, except for their brief fluttering sleeve—only a suggestion of a sleeve, and a departure from the voluminous puff in so many of the summer blouses. The blouse buyer in the F street store emphasizes the smart use of the dark blouses with white or light colored suits.

Navy black or brown or light-colored printed designs on a length of sheer material, just enough for a blouse, with directions for making printed on the material, have the startling price of 35 cents! Some of the bold, dark printed designs have an effect that has far more than a 35-cent look. The Meanderer found this 35 cents worth of good looking blouse material on the first floor of a big G street store.

Head bands of narrow ribbon, made adjustable with elastic in matching color, are useful for riding, motoring or tennis. They sell for 10 cents in an F street department store.

Two bottles and a powder jar in hobnail glass effect in white and colors is selling for 39 cents in a special June sale event in the F street

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

TWENTY-FIVE dance orchestras will be allotted regular schedules on the networks these summer days and nights.

Their music will emanate from Eastern cities and country and seashore resorts, from Chicago and from the West Coast—providing dance lovers with an abundance of new and old popular tunes.

Pancho and his orchestra will broadcast from the Central Park Casino, where they are playing a summer's engagement: Guy Lombardo brings his Royal Canadians to their familiar bandstand at the Pavilion Royale, Long Island, the first week in July; Isham Jones again will be heard from the Hotel Ambassador, Atlantic City, beginning June 30; Ted Lewis and his high-hat have migrated to the Dell's, Chicago; Glen Gray and the Casa Loma Orchestra are located at Glen Island Casino, Westchester, and in August Abe Lyman returns to New York after a session at the Cocoanut Grove, Los Angeles.

These are some of the Columbia orchestras and doubtless N. B. C. will have as many more.

Marian Gillespie, who, with another woman journeyed to Ecuador to visit the head hunters, will recall further experiences of the trip when she addresses the Woman's Radio Review audience at 2:30 p. m. over WRC. The subject of Miss Gillespie's talk will be "The Indian Fair at Riabomba."

Ziegfeld's great musical success, "Show Boat," will be presented in a condensed one-hour version with the original dialogue and music on Capt. Henry's Show Boat over WRC at 8 p. m.

Charles Winninger, the Capt. Henry of the radio program and the Capt. Andy Hawks of the stage production, will head the cast, which will include Lanny Ross as Gaylord Ravenal; Muriel Wilson as Magnolia, and Conrad Thibsault as Joe.

FREDERIC A. DELANO, chairman of the National Park and Planning Commission, will discuss a subject close to his heart, "Planning Community Welfare," over WMAL at 9 o'clock tonight.

"Gold, a World Problem" will be the topic of Prof. John Donaldson, of George Washington University, WMAL, at 7:30 p. m.

"Mary of Lithuania," the first of a series of real life sketches, dramatized from actual cases in the files of the Travelers' Aid Society, will be presented over the WEAF network this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

Virginia Murray, executive of the Travelers' Aid Society in New York, will take part in the program, and Matthew Sloan, president of the society, will be guest speaker during the inaugural program. It is not known whether WRC will carry the program.

The National Open Golf championship tournament will be described.

The tournament is to be held at the North Shore Country Club, just outside Chicago. On the first two days of the contest a resume will be heard over WMAL at 7:30 p. m.

Harry Diamond, of the Bureau of Standards, will give an illustrated paper on "A Solution of the Problems of Night Effect in Radio Range-Beacon System," before the Washington section of the Institute of Radio Engineers at the Kennedy-Warren tonight.

HENRY A. BELLOWS, Washington vice president of Columbia, will do the honors in presenting the Columbia medal "for distinguished contribution to the radio art" to Nino Martini, young Italian tenor, during a special broadcast from New York next Tuesday night.

Martini is the first singer to break into the Metropolitan Opera Company through his radio appearances, and Mr. Bellows will have a few words to say about it.

Polly Moran, motion picture comedienne, and a saxophone trio composed of Rudy Vallee, Rudy Wiedoeft and Benny Krueger will be among the attractions of the Sunshine Hour program over WRC at 7 p. m.

Leo Carrillo, stage and screen artist, and Bob Hope, comedian from "Ballyhoo," also will be featured, as will Katherine Perry, star of the forthcoming "Blackbirds of 1933."

Miss Eleanor B. Boyle, a popular and efficient employe of the legal division of the Federal Radio Commission, died yesterday at the George Washington University Hospital after a short illness of a sinus infection. Her mother, Mrs. Sarah Boyle, was at her bedside when she died.

Miss Boyle, who was 29 years old, was a native of Uniontown, Pa. For some time Miss Boyle was the secretary to Col. Thad H. Brown when he was general counsel of the commission.

WRC will give us 30 minutes of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra tonight at 9:30 from the exposition.

SELECTIONS by the Marine Band at the Pan-American concert last night were rebroadcast at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago. This was because of the international character of the program, which contained compositions from ten of the Latin-American republics, several of which were being played in the United States for the first time.

The Department of Health is after Phil Cook, man of many voices, for willfully and maliciously spreading an epidemic of colds. Cook pleads guilty, but asks for leniency on the grounds of expediency. It seems that Cook caught a cold of his own. He began to wonder what to do about his comic radio sketch, in which he takes all the parts. At first it seemed foolish for every character to be sneezing and sniffling at once. So Cook rewrote his script, created an epidemic of colds and made everything sound according to Hoyle.

Church Names Virginian To Board of Education

Hershey, Pa., June 7 (A.P.).—Facing a mass of problems, ranging from modern fashions to foreign missions, the 135th annual conference of the Church of the Brethren opened in its city of tents today.

The standing committee named members of boards. These names are to be submitted to the first general business session of the conference for confirmation. They included, board of Christian education, J. M. Henry, Bridgewater, Va.

"GEMINI."

IF June 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:55 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 4:20 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:20 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The child born on this June 8 will be a thoroughly alive little person, quick of thought and ready always for a hearty laugh. You will seldom find him unwilling or complaining. Some difficulty may be experienced in getting him to apply himself at school; but you will find that he is constantly acquiring a great fund of information outside.

If June 8 is the date of your birth, you are quite likely a person who "puts on" a lot; you like to make an impression on people and never do you let an opportunity slip by to get yourself in a favorable light. You are not without a certain amount of charm and you do know how to conduct yourself in a group. Sincerity is not, however, one of your strong points. You are inclined to make agreements and promises for the moment, with little thought of carrying them out. You must learn to be more honest in meeting your obligations.

If June 8 is your birthday, it is difficult to find any outstanding talents that would serve as a guide in getting yourself located in a business way. You are not one who can take orders from many people nor are you one who could be placed in command of a group. In business for yourself or working in a small group you will probably make your greatest success. You have mechanical abilities and you know and have ideas as to how to make things.

Successful people born on June 8:

William M. Meredith, lawyer.

Bland Is Delegate To Radio Meeting

(Associated Press.)

Representative S. Otis Bland, of Newport News, Va., chairman of the House Merchant Marine, Radio and Fisheries Committee, was appointed yesterday by President Roosevelt as a delegate to the North American radio conference in Mexico City.

Chairman Eugene O. Sykes of the Radio Commission will head the American delegation and Roy T. Davis, Ambassador to Panama, will be the third member. The conference will begin July 10.

Expressing appreciation of the honor of the appointment, Bland said he would go over the problems to be met at the conference with Sykes prior to leaving Washington. One of the aims of the conference is to evolve a plan for allocating air channels among the countries of North America.

Rabbi Bloom Arrives For Palestine Appeal

An appeal to Jewish congregations for funds for institutions in Palestine supported by the American Galili Aid Society will be made by Rabbi Charles Bloom, of Boston, who arrived in Washington yesterday.

The need for relief for thousands of persecuted Jews fleeing to Palestine has greatly increased the work of the society there, he stated.

"HOPPY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN"
BABE LA BON STOPPED FOR A MOMENT AT TOM KNIGHT'S RINGSIDE TABLE
WHAT IN THE WORLD HAPPENED TO JOE TO-NIGHT, TOM?
I DON'T QUITE KNOW, BABE!
HE ONLY SAT WITH ME FOR A HALF HOUR OR SO AND THEN HE HAD TO GO OUT TO SEE ABOUT SOME SORT OF BUSINESS, BUT HE'S OVER IN THE CORNER WITH SOME FRIENDS NOW!!
AT THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY BABE SPOKE TO HER CHUM BESS HART ABOUT SCARLETTI'S RUDENESS
I THINK IT WAS MEAN OF JOE TO LEAVE TOM BY HIMSELF ALL EVENING!
BUT MAYBE HE COULDN'T HELP IT, BABE!
MEANWHILE THE MAN THEY WERE DISCUSSING WAS AGAIN SEATED WITH "BLACKIE" BLACK AND ANNA CONDA
MAYBE WE CAN ALL GET TOGETHER ON A LITTLE DEAL, SCARLETTI, IF YOU'RE ANXIOUS TO MAKE SOME REAL DOUGH!!
LISTEN, MISTER, I'M READY TO GO IN ON ANY SORT OF A PROPOSITION IF I'M TREATED RIGHT! I'M ALL WASHED UP WITH THE BEER RACKET NOW AND SO I'M ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR SOMETHING "HOT"!!

Stocks Continue Advances Under Lead of Specialties

Heavy Buying Aids Price Rise on Trading in 6,642,030 Shares.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Stocks rallied strongly in some departments today, but were less aggressive in others. The balance of net changes, however, leaned substantially to the upside and the 90-share composite made another new high since November, 1931.

Heavy buying of several specialties, mostly low-priced issues, and strong support for metal company equities, provided features in the day's active market. Wheat took a sprint on weather and crop damage news, cotton finished a little to the good and silver strengthened. The bond market was active, reaching a new high average for 1933.

Leading industrial stocks were inclined to move narrowly, despite the day's budget of favorable business news. Communication and electrical equipment issues found early favor with buyers and traded briskly. Rails made less ado about the Rock Island's difficulties than Santa Fe's preferred dividend cut yesterday, resting rather comfortably around recent levels. Chesapeake & Ohio and the Missouri Pacific issues stepped up; Rock Island listings sagged.

Radio, General Electric, Westinghouse, Western Union, International Telephone and American Telephone touched new highs at one time or other, though gains were subject to profit taking. Utilities, encouraged by the power figures, made general improvement. In metals, gold mining issues glowed brilliantly, Homestake rising 4 to 240, a new peak. United States Smelting's net gain was better than 8 points, while Alaska Juneau, American Smelting, International Nickel, Noranda, Dome and Cerro de Pasco rose about 1 to 2. United States Steel, Du Pont, Case, Union Carbide, Sears-Roebuck, Texas Corporation and American Tobacco "B" were fractions to a point higher at the close. American Water Works was up 3. American Can and Allied Chemical dragged. Sales totaled 6,642,030 shares.

Stocks.

A strong rally sent prices up 1.3 points on a heavy sale of 6,642,030 shares. The advance was led by specialties.

Bonds.

Another high rung on the ladder was captured by bonds. Gains averaged two-tenths of a point. Sales totaled $20,475,000.

Curb.

Profit-taking was defied and the curb moved into new high ground. Sales increased to 1,221,000 shares.

Wheat.

Higher prices followed reports of damages to crops. Corn and oats advanced. July wheat sold at 74 to 74⅞ cents.

Cotton.

Trading was less active but prices advanced 5 to 8 points. Late were losses in early dealing. July sold at 9.15; October, 9.40. Liverpool reported a steadier market.

GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 7 (A.P.).—Cotton goods continued firm today with many lines at value or withdrawn. Wool goods held unchanged. Acetate cellulose rayon yarn is better advanced 5 cents a pound by producers. Silk goods for spring and summer have been feeling the influence of larger rayon and cotton goods sales this year. Burlaps were firm.

FLOUR MARKET.

Minneapolis, June 7 (A.P.).—Flour unchanged; shipments, 16,65[illegible]. Pure bran, 10.00@10.50. Standard middlings, 9.75@10.25.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Prices on the stock exchange developed irregularity, profit taking weakening most sections. Gilt-edged securities were affected by a new 3½ per cent issue of electricity shares amounting to £8,000,000. Transatlantic issues hardened on today's better Wall street opening, while kaffirs were weak on South African taxation proposals. The closing was uncertain.

Paris—Trading on the bourse was cautious and narrow and was marked with realising sales in reaction to yesterday's weakness in Wall street and the decline in raw materials. The close was heavy.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was quiet today, the market closing listlessly.

Bonds Climb Again To New High Level

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Bonds climbed another rung on the ascending price ladder today despite the heaviness of several issues due to special circumstances.

Trading volume expanded considerably, sales totaling $20,475,000, par value, while the average for 60 domestic corporate loans reached another new high for the year, at 78.1, up two-tenths of a point.

While bonds of Rock Island were heavily liquidated for losses of 1 to 3 points following the filing of a petition by the company preliminary to capital reorganization, issues of some other roads advanced 1 to around 5 points.

Electric Power Production Of Week Is Up 5.8 Per Cent

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Electric power output last week rose 5.8 per cent above the corresponding period in 1932. This marked the largest of the five consecutive weekly gains reported since the first week in May over the figures of the preceding year.

Reversing the trend of the last several weeks the energy output fell below that of the previous week, due to the incidence of Memorial Day on a Tuesday, as against a Monday holiday last year. As reported by the Edison Electric Institute today, last week's outturn was 1,461,488,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,493,923,000 in the week of May 27, and 1,381,452,000 for the same week of 1932.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, June 27 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

Curb Joins March To Higher Ground

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Although considerable profit-taking was encountered at times, stocks on the curb market moved into new high ground today. Advances ranged 1 to more than 3 points, although closing quotations were off somewhat from the best prices.

A few isolated weak spots cropped out among industrials. Early strength in utilities was shaded slightly at the finish.

Oils and metal shares were firm with advances of 1 to around 2 points shown in Humble, Gulf, Newmont, Hecla Mining and Lake Shore Mines.

Investment trust shares were comparatively narrow. Volume totaled 1,221,000 shares compared with 1,157,000 on Tuesday.

COTTON PRICES GAIN ON TRADE'S BUYING

July Sells at 9.15, With the General Market Up 5 to 8 Points.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was less active today and fluctuations were again irregular.

Early declines were followed by rallies, with the undertone generally steady. October contracts, after selling off to 9.26, advanced to 9.47 on covering, combined with trade or commission house buying and closed at 9.40, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 5 to 8 points.

The opening was 4 to 7 points lower under liquidation together with some selling through brokers with Japanese connections and hedging, thought to be partly against Red Cross cotton.

July sold to 9.00 and December to 9.42 during the early trading, or about 8 to 8 points net lower. This decline appeared to bring in more trade buying or covering and the market firmed.

Sterling Aids Prices.

The rise in sterling seemed to encourage buying on the inflationary theory. July sold up to 9.20 and December to 9.61, making net advances of 11 to 15 points, after which there were closing reactions of 5 to 7 points under realizing.

The weekly official weather report was considered generally favorable and the day's weather reports were regarded as indicating good prospects in most sections.

Vague rumors were circulating regarding the acreage situation, but they were without much effect.

According to local spot people the South was offering cotton at a generally firm basis, and there was some rather active buying from trade sources during the afternoon, possibly to fix prices.

Liverpool cables reported a steadier market there with hedge selling and liquidation taken by covering. Reports today, 22,177, making 7,324,-387 so far this season. Port receipts, 16,126. United States port stocks, 3,948,872.

CLARK JURY HEARS DETAILS OF AUDIT

Accountant Describes Shortages of $54,000 Discovered in Books.

Details of the audit made into the books of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County Commissioners on trial in Montgomery County Circuit Court, on charges of embezzlement of county funds, were disclosed at the third day of the trial yesterday by Lewis F. Bond, head of the staff of accountants who made the audit.

Mr. Bond brought out that the audit of Clark's books as treasurer of Montgomery County disclosed a shortage of approximately $24,000 and that an analysis of his special bank account showed an additional shortage of $30,000, practically all of which failed to show on Clark's books. He also identified checks received from Clark.

The defense called for exhibition of the auditor's report and the analysis of the bank account, but declined to offer it in evidence. The court upheld State's Attorney Stedman Prescott's contention that their use of the matter constituted presentation in evidence and permitted the State's attorney to cross-examine on the books.

Banker Testifies.

George P. Hamilton, president of the Montgomery County National Bank of Rockville, identified the bank accounts of Clark in his bank from July 11, 1930, to February 16, 1931, and testified that Clark had withdrawn $3,140 from his clerk's account and deposited it to his personal account. He also testified that in the same period Clark had withdrawn $885 in cash. He identified the checks from both accounts. The State presented evidence to show that Clark had spent the money for his personal use.

Milton L. Tull, of the State Treasurer's Office, identified checks for Montgomery County's half of the franchise tax amounting to $1,167.23 which had been paid to Clark.

The jury was selected yesterday morning after 116 talesmen had been examined, probably establishing a record for the sixth judicial circuit in the number of talesmen called. The members of the jury are Roger T. Pumphrey, Germantown, foreman; Windsor C. Moxely, Damascus; Robert Phillips, Harold Murphy, Calvin T. Johnson and John Murdock, all of Bethesda; Charles Beall, Derwood; James O. Williams, Laytonsville; William L. Rabbitt, Glenmont; Leonard Edwards, Colesville; Harold T. Lockhart, Capitol View; Arthur Gloyd, Gaithersburg.

Challenges Exhausted.

The State had exhausted its entire ten challenges and the defense 110 of their 20 when the jury finally was selected. Most of those excused had told the court they had formed opinions on the case.

State's Attorney Prescott gave a resume of what he planned to present in his opening statement to the jury shortly before noon. He said that he would show that Berry E. Clark had received $426 in county money and had converted it to his own use. The charge is one of 97 indictments returned by the county grand jury following the audit of the Clark accounts last year which is alleged to have revealed a shortage of $50,000.

The opening statement for the defense was made by F. Barnard Welsh, who with Albert M. Boulc, E. Barrett Prettyman and Thomas L. Dawson constitute the defense counsel. The first witness was Mrs. Mary O'Brien, a clerk in the commissioner's office, who told of appointment of Clark in 1926 as chief clerk. A number of taxpayers then took the stand to testify that they had paid checks to Clark in the two years before his dismissal and which the State will endeavor to prove were converted to his own use.

ador Welles and his succession by the present Foreign Service officer now on duty unassigned at the Department of State, Jefferson Caffery. Mr. Caffery was the Minister to Venezuela.

Administration authorities gave an unequivocal denial to this report and reiterated the full confidence of the President in the difficult job that the administration's "trouble-shooter" is doing in Havana. Ambassador Welles was prevailed upon by the President to accept the job of bringing order out of chaos in Cuba, and the extent of his success may be gauged from the constantly diminishing reports of armed conflict there. He has been quietly conciliating the radical forces that were ready to wreck the internal life of the country and to precipitate the intervention of the United States by overt terrorism in order to force the removal of President Machado.

However, the newspaper report was seized upon by the editors in Havana and distorted to their own ends. Acting Secretary of State Phillips talked with Ambassador Welles over the telephone yesterday and explained the entire incident.

The appointment of Mr. Welles to Cuba caused him to temporarily vacate his post as Assistant Secretary of State. The deplacement, however, was not to be permanent, as the President desired to have at his elbow an expert of the judgment, experience and vision of Mr. Welles for the several oncoming problems of American and Latin-American relations. When the present delicate situation in Havana has advanced sufficiently to permit of Mr. Welles' return by the restoration of economic activity and political routine, the post will be returned to the President's disposal. At this time the nomination of Michael Cudahy, millionaire sportsman, will probably be made by the President.

The appointment of Mr. Cudahy had been almost decided when events in Cuba took such a swift turn that the appointment, even temporarily, of a career-seasoned diplomat for the post was necessitated. Then it was that the President drafted Assistant Secretary Welles. The absence of any specialist in Latin-American affairs at this moment will cause the temporary appointment of Mr. Caffery to assist Acting Secretary Phillips.

FOREST CORPS GETS 80 MARINE OFFICERS

Six Washingtonians Among Number Transferred to Lead Civilians.

Eighty officers of the United States Marine Corps have been transferred to the Civilian Conservation Corps, it was announced yesterday at Marine headquarters by Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, commandant.

Included in the group are the following Washington officers: Capt. Charles W. Henkle, Capt. Francis Kane, Capt. John F. McVey, Capt. Charles D. Sniffin, Capt. Thomas A. Tighe, Capt. Brady L. Vogt.

Orders have been sent out transferring officers of the Navy to the Civilian Corps. In the last few weeks it has been growing increasingly apparent that there are not enough officers available in the Army to lead the Civilian Corps. As a result, officials in charge have called on the other branches of the service to lend as many officers as can be spared for the reforestation work. About 200 line officers of the Navy, together with a number of medical officers and dentists have recently received orders to report to the Civilian Corps.

In addition to the above-mentioned Washington Marine officers, the following will soon start service in the C. C. C.:

Capts. Henry F. Adams, Ralph G. Anderson, Roscoe Arnett, Jesse J. Burke, John F. Blanton, Warren C. Barnaby, Otto E. Bartoe, John W. Cunningham, Francis C. Cushing, Nicholas E. Clauson, Peter Conachy, Louis Cukela, Max Cox, Alfred Dickerson, Oliver A. Dow, Stephen F. Drew, Francis Fisk, Melvin E. Fuller, Samuel W. Freeny, Alexander Galt, Walter J. Green, Walter S. The graduates are Carnelia Barker, Phyles Beouchert, Elizabeth Burrows, John Chase, Ruth Cavanaugh, Charlotte Cranston, Dorothy Dowden, John Geris, Helen Haller, Margaret Haney, Peggy Humphrey, James Milks, Isabell Moore, Charles Moore, Roberta Mullen, Doris Renolds and Agnes Sherwood.

Mt. Rainier Child Hurt In Automobile Accident

Clenina McKay, 9, of Mount Rainier, Md., was in Sibley Hospital last night suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and a fracture of the right leg as a result of an automobile accident a few hours earlier.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Thirtieth and Ash streets in Mount Rainier. Ernest Foster, also of the Maryland town, is said by police to be the operator of the car that struck Clenina as she was attempting to cross the street. Foster was absolved of blame.

Louis Beall New Head Of Forest Glen Council

Louis C. Beall has been elected grand knight of Forest Glen Council, Knights of Columbus, with Eugene E. Ruppert as deputy grand knight.

Other officers elected are: Chancellor, Robert Conroy; recorder, Paul Stevens; treasurer, A. J. Ganey; advocate, Paul D. Taggart; warden, Lawrence Peter; inside guard, James E. Beall; outside guard, J. M. Haugh; trustee, A. J. Wade. Delegates elected to the State convention are L. C. Beall and John C. Brennan, with alternates J. Fendall Coughlin and J. F. Sullivan.

Father McFadden Sent To Parish in Covington

The Rev. Hugh J. McFadden, for four years assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Alexandria, has been transferred to Covington, Va., and will leave tonight for his new charge. He will be succeeded here by the Rev. Michael Hartigan, of Covington.

Father McFadden came to Alexandria from Portsmouth, Va., and has been popular with both Catholics and Protestants, being called upon to speak on many occasions, as he is an able orator.

FAIRFAX COMPLAINS ABOUT AUDIT COSTS

County Supervisors Refer Bill to Commonwealth's Attorney for Settlement.

The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County, Va., yesterday objected to a bill of $4,140.06 rendered by the State auditor's office as the cost of auditing the county books. The bill was referred to Commonwealth's Attorney Wilsom M. Farr for adjustment. The board seemed to think that a large amount of unnecessary work was done by the auditors in checking the county books and the bill was unreasonable. This amount is approximately eight times as large as in former years and greatly exceeds the amount provided in the annual county budget.

The supervisors voted to have the boundary line between Falls Church and Providence Magisterial districts surveyed through West Falls Church so as to stop the confusion of assessing property in the wrong district. At the present time some property located in one district is assessed in the other. There is a difference of 50 cents on the $100 property valuation tax rate between the districts.

The question of zoning the county was discussed and several members expressed themselves as favoring such action, but it was stated that zoning was impossible this year as no funds were included in the annual budget to defray expenses of a zoning board.

Richard Gibson Will Is Probated.

The will of Richard Gibson, who died suddenly Friday last, was admitted to probate in Alexandria Circuit Court yesterday. The will was dated March 11, 1911. The entire estate, valued at $51,000, is left to the widow, Mrs. French Gibson, who was named as executrix.

MOTHER IS CRUSHED AS AUTO TURNS OVER

Father Was Driving Fast After Child Was Found Senseless in Rumble.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

As the result of a peculiar double mishap on the Washington-Richmond highway, 3 miles south of Alexandria, early yesterday, Mrs. Hazel Zanitz, 25, of Portsmouth, Va., is in serious condition in the Alexandria Hospital. Her daughter, Jean, 7 years old, suffered a fractured arm. Mrs. Zanitz has a crushed chest and other internal injuries.

M. M. Zanitz, his wife and three small children, Jean, Billy, 4, and June, 1 year, were on their way to New Mexico from their Portsmouth home. On reaching Accotink, Zanitz discovered that the top of the rumble seat had closed and on investigating found that little Billy, who was alone in the rumble seat, was unconscious. Failing to revive him, Zanitz started at high speed for Alexandria, and on reaching a point near Hybla Valley, 4 miles south of Alexandria, where the road is undergoing repairs, was unable to stop and his car overturned. Mrs. Zanitz and little Jean were caught under the machine. Zanitz and the two other children escaped injury, and the shock restored Billy to consciousness.

Last night Zanitz returned to Portsmouth with the children, leaving his wife in the hospital, where her condition was said last night to be somewhat improved, although her injuries are serious.

Man Buried Alive 38 Days Breaks Own Mark

Undaunted by the monotony of more than a month in the grave, Slim Jones, the man who is buried alive at Bladensburg, Md., for the benefit of the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, yesterday broke his own world's record of 38 days and 45 minutes. He was buried April 29.

Although dated up for months after he ends his marathon, the invitations continue to pour in through the medium of the telephone established in his morbid residence. He has been invited on yachting trips, to breakfasts, luncheons, teas and suppers and to play golf and tennis.

LAKELAND MAN GETS 30 DAYS IN ASSAULT

Capital Resident Sentenced Also at Hyattsville for Breaking Glass.

Three jail sentences were imposed yesterday by Judge J. Chew Sheriff in the Hyattsville Police Court.

Carrol Jones, of Lakeland, Md., was committed to the Marlboro Jail for 30 days on a charge of assaulting 9-year-old Leo Williams, also of Lakeland. Jones pleaded guilty to the charge.

George White, Cedar Heights, Md., was sentenced to 30 days in jail for disorderly conduct and assault after he was alleged to have run amuck among his neighbors with a shotgun.

Mac Tilsman, Washington, was given 10 days in the Marlboro Jail for breaking glass on the Baltimore boulevard with intent to puncture automobile tires. Tilsman was arrested by Prince Georges County Constable Warren E. Peake.

Aubrey T. Breedan, a resident of the 1100 block of Abbey place northeast, who when arrested last Saturday on a charge of reckless driving and driving while drunk, was found to have $3,800 in cash on his person, was fined $5 and costs. The charge of driving while drunk was dismissed.

Herman Wagbelstein, of Baltimore, was fined $10 and costs for selling obscene literature in Riverdale, Md. Alice Richardson, Brentwood, Md., was fined $75 and costs for possession of whisky and operating a disorderly house. She appealed the case.

Coroner Holds Maguire Death Was Accidental

The death of Andrew Maguire, 35, of Baltimore, who succumbed to injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Beltsville, Md., April 6, was held accidental by a coroner's jury, meeting last night at Berwyn, Md.

Miss Mary M. Burns, also of Baltimore, who was driving the machine in which Maguire was a passenger, was not held. The car skidded into the machine of Mrs. Edith Sawyer, of Upper Montclair, N. J.

Dear Mr. Griffith:

Knowin' as how you weren't up here with your ball team this afternoon, I kinda thought you might be interested in knowin' what took place, that is, if you haven't already heard. If you're not interested, I don't blame you, that is, not much anyway. Griff, your Washington ball team made a beautiful job of kicking away a terrible ball game with Mr. Mack's Athletics. They didn't kick it away all the way, to be sure, ending up with something like a 13-13 tie in the tenth inning, but if you were here I kinda think you'd agree with me that they kicked it a long distance, especially your pitchers.

The exhibition of the Washington pitchers was too much for even mother nature to stand in the tenth inning. It looked like, when she whipped up a nice-sized hurricane and put an end to the she-bang. Your team was out in front again, 14-13. But the A's had the tying run on base with none out, and anything could happen and probably would if Umpire McGowan hadn't got the sign from mother nature and called everything off, including the tenth inning.

McGowan Had Many Excuses.

I don't know exactly on what grounds McGowan finally called the game, Griff, but he had dust, darkness, rain, wind, storm and maybe plague and pestilence to choose from. The lights were on in the grand stand and you couldn't see Mickey Cochrane's ears 2 feet in front of you. As a matter of fact, the gale was sweeping tons of dust from the infield out of the park, but that doesn't mean that the A's were losing any ground in the score by innings.

It pains me no little to let you in on the fact, Griff, that Earl Whitehill, one of your regular pitchers, couldn't hold a 5-to-0 lead they gave him against Dowell Claset in the first inning, and that Alvin Crowder, another of your regulars, couldn't hold a 10-to-4 lead longer than the eighth, and if you feel that nothing matters now, Griff, I might tell you what Jimmy Foxx did. It seems that your team was still ahead, 11 to 8, and two were out and there were two strikes on Jimmy when he looked over one of Alvin Crowder's fast balls and decided to hit it, which he did. And you know what happens, Griff, when Jimmy hits a fast ball on the nose. By the time some lucky fan in the left-field bleachers had the ball in his pocket Jimmy was across the plate behind two other fellows who were on base at the time and the A's had an 11-to-11 tie.

Homers of Bluege, Berg Nullified.

The pity of all this is, Griff, that it was a new ball game again and wiped out the nice work of Ossie Bluege, who had hit a home run off Jim Peterson, with two men on base in the second inning, and of Moe Berg, who doesn't get many home runs, but who hit one off Peterson in the fifth for the Nats' eleventh run. They say Berg is a linguist, a longuister or something. I don't know about that, but his homer into the left field bleachers was a couple syllables longer than Bluege's.

Maybe that's why.

That home run that Foxx hit in the eighth knocked Crowder right out of the box, and McAfee stopped 'em for a while. The ninth was awful, Griff. Dib Williams made a wild throw to first on Schulte's grounder and Kuhel forced him at second. But then Kuhel stole second on Walberg's 20-year windup, and Ossie Bluege—you know Ossie—knocked Schulte home with a single. Then McAfee surprised everybody, and probably you, by knocking in Bluege with a single, and your team had a 13-to-11 lead.

Things looked great for Washington. McAfee got the first two A's out in the ninth, but then old Bing Miller pinch hit for Walberg and smacked a double to right field. You remember Bing, Griff. He played the outfield when you were pitching for Cincinnati in '99. Max Bishop smacked another double past Kuhel and, by golly, the Athletics tied the score at

Tigers Beat Tribe Four Out of Five

Cleveland, June 7 (A.P.).—In a sudden sixth-inning attack led by Marvin Owen's homer into the right field stands, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians for the fourth straight time today, ending the current series against the Indians with four out of five.

The Tigers pounded Oral Hildebrand for four hits and made all of their runs in the sixth. Gehringer followed Owen's homer with a Texas League single into short Center Field. Walker singled to right, sending Gehringer to third.

Walker started for second and was trapped, but in the rundown Harley Boss threw to third in a futile attempt to get Gehringer, who had led off base. Walker then reached second, and both he and Gehringer scored when Greenberg singled.

Baer Is Uninjured In Auto Accident

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—His manager, Ancil Hoffman, said that Max Baer, who fights Max Schmeling tomorrow night, was a passenger with him today in an automobile mishap.

Baer, with Mr. and Mrs. S. Hoffman, started for New York in Jack Dempsey's car from the Californian's training camp at Atlantic City. About 35 miles out of New York, with Jerry Luvadis, Dempsey's former trainer, at the wheel and traveling fast, a rear tire blew out.

Hoffman said today that the car turned around twice, finally straightening out in the loose gravel beside the road. Baer, in the back seat, was engulfed in shifting baggage. He was unhurt.

BARNEY WALSH WINS.

Baltimore, June 7 (A.P.).—Only two matches were finished when rain halted today's play in the Maryland State tennis tournament. Price Colvin, of Loyola (Baltimore), defeated Leonard Straus, of Rutgers, 3—6, 8—6, 6—3, and Barney Walsh, of Duke University, conquered George Hebner, of Baltimore, 6—1, 6—4.

MANAGER ENS SUSPENDED.

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Jewel Ens, acting manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has been suspended indefinitely because of his run-in with Umpire George Barr during the stormy game between the Reds and St. Louis Cardinals at Cincinnati yesterday.

Steinke Faces Zaharias Tonight

Londos Bout Awaits Victor of Battle at Stadium.

WHILE the fighting Maxes—Schmeling and Baer—are doing their stuff in New York tonight in a bout calculated to produce a contender for Jack Sharkey's heavyweight boxing crown, Washington rassel addicts will be given an opportunity of seeing two outstanding representatives of the game of grunt, groan and grimace swap holds and pulled punches for the right to tackle Champeen Jimmy Londos for his crown here next week.

Hans Steinke and George Zaharias will furnish the action in the feature, booked to go to a finish, and as an added attraction, Promoter Joe Turner has arranged to have the Baer-Schmeling fight broadcast through the Griffith Stadium loud speakers. And, if these two attractions are not enough, Mr., Mrs. and the little fans also are offered an opportunity of helping pay for the Fourth of July fireworks celebration, for all proceeds go to the National Capital civic fund.

Steinke Should Win On Form.

Steinke is a finished rassler, and, on form, should win tonight, but form does not mean much in wrestling, as fans already probably have discovered. Steinke is large, strong and smart on the mat. He lacks color, but this, no doubt, will be furnished in bright daubs by Zaharias, who dotes on the rough stuff. It should be a good bout, and, if Steinke, often referred to as the uncrowned champ, cuts loose, Mr. Zaharias will find that he has bitten off decidedly more than he can masticate.

Zaharias earned a draw with Champ Londos on the Coast several months ago and has been craving another chance ever since. In that match, he outaped and outroughed Londos and had him worn to a frazzle when the time-limit was up. He plans to try the same tactics on Steinke tonight, but as the big German is noted for being one of the strongest in the game, Zaharias himself is likely to find himself more tired than his hefty foe at the finish.

Abe Coleman Meets Karl Davis.

Abe Coleman, he of the "Austin" build, will take on a speedy young collegian, Karl Davis, in the semi-finals and an interesting set-to is promised. Davis is one of those nerve specialists who gets out of many tight places simply by pressing hidden buttons on his rival's anatomy. He is fast and strong, besides, indicating that Coleman will have to travel at full speed to cop.

In the other bouts, Frank Speera, former Georgia Tech grid hero, takes on Frank Brunowicz; Andy Brown mixes with Tom Alley, and John Katan exchanges snarls with Swede Olsen.

Ladies free with escorts and kiddies admitted for half price.

PROS TO HOLD SWEEPSTAKES

Columbia Country Club will be the scene of the next Middle Atlantic P. G. A. Sweepstakes tournament on Monday, June 12, according to notices sent out yesterday by Warner Mather, secretary. Play will start at 1:30 o'clock.

148 TEE OFF TODAY IN GOLF OPEN, WITH SARAZEN FAVORITE

Strong Field Ready for Test at Sun-Baked North Shore Course; 288 or Better May Be Needed to Win.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

GLENVIEW, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Already well scorched by the type of heat wave annually associated with the open golf championship of the United States, 147 challengers will direct their golfing fire at Champion Gene Sarazen tomorrow in the first 18-hole blast of a torrid 72-hole struggle for the American title.

There was no let-up in the heat today. From a cloudless sky the sun baked out the North Shore course's 6,927 yards of rugged terrain, adding distance to the clouts that hewed to the straight and narrow fairways. Few of the stars risked a full round until late in the day, when a breeze sprang up, and none of them shot any better golf than the young collegian, Johnny Fischer, of Cincinnati, displayed in posting a 70, two under par, this morning.

If there is no marked shift in weather conditions, it will not be surprising to see Abe Espinosa's four-year-old course record of 69 knocked off and a 72-hole total of 288 or better needed to pull down first prize of $1,000 and the big open championship cup.

Conceded Remote Chance.

Although Fischer and another amateur—Johnny Goodman, of Omaha—have been making some potent gestures in practice, neither of these youngsters or any other "Simon Pure" contender has anything but a remote outside chance to check the charge of the professional brigade. Not only are there some factors of keen personal rivalry involved, but the pros have a lot at stake, following another year of dwindling incomes, and they are primed for a real battle.

Champion until proof to the contrary is produced, Sarazen ruled a 4-to-1 favorite, the shortest-priced choice since Bobby Jones retired. Before he changed his program and went out late this afternoon for a final tune-up, Gene said he was convinced he had his shots under control again after an erratic spell. He pre-

Fight Is Test Of Business Recovery

Schmeling Won and Lost Crown Under Hoover Regime.

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

AS one of the more convincing signs that business has turned the corner, two heavyweight prize fighters will be given work in the United States tonight.

Max Schmeling, the Black Uhlan of the Rhine, and Max Baer, the white hope of California, will fight 15 rounds in the Yankee stadium, and it will be the first break in the unemployment ranks of the beef-on-the-hoof brigade of contenders in some time.

The most significant fact to the industrial and sporting world is that both boys will fight for cash, and that already there is enough in the box-office to assure payment.

It is the real test of America's business recovery. If there is a ticket scandal, a fight between mounted police and fight fans and a general hubbub between customers with seat coupons and politicians who have grabbed the seats, there can be no further doubt that the depression is over and that America is getting back to normal.

The news of the public interest in a heavyweight bout has caused such consternation throughout sporting circles that the price of heavyweight pugilists has advanced more than $1,000 a pound in the open market, putting them among the fastest moving commodities.

If this, the first big heavyweight battle in many moons, is a success, pugilists all over the land will cancel their applications for relief from the R. F. C.

Cubs Beat Pirates Behind Bush, 7 to 2

Chicago, June 7 (A.P.).—The Cubs batted Bill Swift out of the box with a 4-run attack in the second inning and added 3 more runs at Remy Kremer's expense in the seventh to defeat the Pirates, 7 to 2, today in the final game of the series.

Guy Bush went the route for Chicago, yielding nine hits and six walks and donating two wild pitches that brought both Pittsburgh runs. It was his season's fifth victory.

Bill Jurges, Cub shortstop, hit a home run with one on in the second inning.

Ticket Sale Is Brisk; $400,000 Gross Is Held Possible.

Rivals Resting While Awaiting Gong for Tonight's Clash.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, June 7 (A.P.).—The backdrop of another big heavyweight battle—fantastic medley of crowds and color, thrills and action—slid down today to complete the setting for the 15-round duel of Max Schmeling and Max Baer in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

All the old essentials were there for another episode in the list of ring struggles that have raged over the years in the big American League ball park, even though this time the scenery lacked the gawdiness of the affluence it knew in the days of Tex Rickard and the multimillion-dollar gates.

There is no heavyweight title at stake, the special lure Rickard used to dangle before the eyes of the faithful, but the attractiveness of the young and punishing punchers, one a former champion, the other a reckless headlong young giant, seems to have excited the populace as few other battles in years.

Bout Seen Financial Triumph.

Tonight Jack Dempsey, Rickard's greatest fighting asset and now his would-be successor as a promoter, believed that his first Metropolitan venture would draw a crowd of at least 60,000 and gate receipts close to $300,000, a financial triumph considering the times and ticket prices scaled from $1 to $10, a complete sell-out of the ball park, something that never yet has happened for a fight, would gross $400,000.

So brisk was the ticket sale through the day as Baer, the curly headed Californian, moved into town from his training camp at Atlantic City, and Schmeling rested at Lake Swannanoa, that choice ringside seats leaped to a value of $25 each in the hands of speculators.

There was no let down in the sentiment in favor of Schmeling, the steady-going German, who won the heavyweight title on a foul from Jack Sharkey in four rounds in 1930 in the very ring where he tackles Baer tomorrow night, only to lose it back to the Bostonian on a fifteen-round decision last summer.

Odds in the Teuton's favor ranged as high as 2 to 1 tonight, with the

EQUIPOISE WINS SUBURBAN AND NEARS MONEY RECORD

Whitney Star Victor Over Osculator

Time Only 2 Seconds Slower Than Mark for Belmont.

Polydorus Winner at Washington Park by 4 Lengths.

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., June 7 (A. P.).—The mighty Equipoise today took another giant stride forward in his championship march when he easily won the forty-seventh running of the Suburban Handicap before a crowd estimated at 8,000. Carrying his heavy impost of 132 pounds as if it were a feather, the C. V. Whitney marvel beat the lightly weighed W. R. Coe colt, Osculator, by two lengths, easing up. Another five lengths back came James Butler's Apprentice, to take the show by a head from Stepenfetchit. Mr. Butler's Questionnaire was scratched early and the issue was left to the less illustrious Apprentice.

Equipoise ran the mile and a quarter in the brilliant time of 2:02, and he could have gone faster. This was two seconds slower than the track record, made by Whisk Broom II in 1913. Incidentally, Equipoise now has won two of three handicaps which Whisk Broom won in one year, and if he can take the Brooklyn at Aqueduct he will be the only other horse to turn the trick.

Now $1,805 Behind Mate.

Equipoise, in winning the $7,250 winner's share of the purse, is now $1,805 behind Mate, the fourth biggest American money winner. "Eky's" total now is $385,560.

Sonny Workman, who rode the 2-to-5 choice, rode confidently and well to keep the Whitney star's 1933 record clean. It was a good start with Equipoise breaking second, but Workman quickly eased the champion back of the pace. Osculator showed a world of speed leading by plenty of daylight, with Blenheim second. Equipoise started to run at the far turn. He caught and passed Blenheim in a few strides and then collared Osculator turning into the final straightaway. The son of Pennant drew well clear and was not collared fully extend himself. Apprentice closed ground but could not threaten Osculator for the place.

Polydorus Is Winner By Four Lengths.

Washington Park, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Abraham Bartelstein's Polydorus was only one-fifth of a second off the Washington Park record for 7 furlongs today in winning the Mohawk Purse in impressive style over Mr. Joe and Mad Wind.

The 5-year-old son of Friar Rock—Polyanthus, ably ridden by E. Matt, took command at the head of the stretch and finished in 1:28 4-5. Trinchera cut out the early pace, but gave up the battle when Polydorus made his drive. Jack Westrope got Mr. Joe into second place, four lengths behind the winner, with Mad Wind third.

Polydorus went to the post favorite and paid $4.86 in the $2 mutuels.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: WASHINGTON PARK, JUNE 7.

Well, friend, I had one or more horses in the money in every race today but, with the exception of Dustina at at $15.26 mutuel, they just refused to win races. And it was the same with Fighting Mike, my special at Belmont Park. However, the juvenile ran a bang-up second to pay off at 5-1 on the place, so I guess nobody was seriously hurt. Here are some at other tracks for tomorrow: Skirt, Optical, Naylor, Allanah, Sue Jones, Racketeer. BILL.

FIRST RACE—BATTLING GIRL gets in this maiden race with a light impost, a mere 99 pounds, and this way rigged appears the most likely of the group to graduate. RESISTING closed fast here and should be in the closing part of the battle. PARTING SHOT appears to have the edge on the others.

SECOND RACE—On paper, this race appears to be a tight fit between HAMILTON and KIBITZER with the Bennings preference going to them in the order named. Sad Knight is the sleeper.

THIRD RACE—ANNAN has both races and trials as recommendations in this field. Goes into action with a steadying impost and needs only a smooth ride. BARASHKOVA'S last, on an off track, was a beaut. Bears watching. KUVERA for the show.

FOURTH RACE—CHERRY TIME is a distinct standout here. Had poor racing luck the last time out and should come winning home tomorrow if afforded clear sailing. FLAGHORN and CABOUSE to take care of the other money places.

FIFTH RACE—I'm going to try to make LADFIELD defeat this field. This one came over from Maryland in excellent shape and now that he has made himself at home this might be the race. BROAD MEADOWS is said to be fit and ready. PORTCODINE is a longshot possibility.

SIXTH RACE—THE NUT has been clocked in fast time in recent works and seems well placed among these. ESSEFF gets in with a 97-pound feather and will be hard to keep out of the money. CATHOP for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—MISCALCULATE should get out of the maiden ranks in this or be shipped to the glue factory. CENTENNIAL and VERDA to battle it out for the place.

EIGHTH RACE—SANDWRACK appears to have found another spot for an awakening at good odds. YONKEL and TELA for the rest.

Nats Open Series in Boston Today With Double-Header

Special to The Washington Post.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Pa., June 7.—Their 13-13 tie with the Athletics today enabled the Nats to retreat in good order from Philadelphia after suffering earlier losses in the first two games with the A's.

Joe Cronin's club falls back on Boston tomorrow for a double-header with the Red Sox as the opening tableau of a four-game series. The Red Sox may not be so hard to dislodge from a ball game or two. Cronin will send Jack Russell and Al Thomas to the firing line for the Nats.

Big Dowell Clasett, who gave the Nats five runs in the first inning today and gave them a good start on their four-run rally in the second inning, practically pitched himself back with the Montreal Club, of the International League.

Bishop, Peterson and Whitehill walked in succession in the A's second inning, partially filling the bases and the Nats' shower-room.

Joe Cronin juggled his line-up a bit today. With Goslin in a slump and the short right field stands beckoning to Dave Harris, Cronin took Goose out of right field, inserted Harris in the clean-up position and promoted himself to third place.

He gave Moe Berg a turn at the catching job with Sewell and a heavily taped right leg needing a rest. Berg didn't do so bad for himself with his single and home run.

Tomorrow's line-up of the Nats in Boston depends on the type of pitching they meet. If a left-hander is in there for the Red Sox, Harris will remain in right field.

The second guessers castigated Cronin for his failure to walk Jimmy Foxx in the eighth, when a home run with two on would have tied the score. Crowder could have passed Foxx and pitched to Madjeski, who is no bargain at the plate, but Cronin can't be blamed for not wanting to put the tying run on base by passing Foxx. Anyway, hindsight is better than foresight. Foxx did hit the homer, by the way.

GIRONES RETAINS TITLE.

Barcelona, Spain, June 7 (A.P.).—Jose Girones, of Spain, retained his European featherweight championship tonight by outpointing the French champion, George Leperson, in a 15-round bout.

The decision of the Italian referee, Volti, drew many protests from the crowd, which indicated that the match should have been called a draw.

Phils Held to 6 Hits As Braves Win, 3 to 1

Boston, June 7 (A.P.).—After a two-day break in the National League schedule, the Boston Braves went back to baseball today and defeated Philadelphia, 3-1, in the final game of the series.

Although the Tribesmen belted Jim Elliott hard, touching him for nine hits, they did not score until the seventh inning.

Cantwell held the Phillies to six hits and encountered trouble only in the ninth frame, when the visitors pushed over their only tally. Cantwell got into a hole by giving Hal Lee a base on balls, which he followed with a wild pitch. With Lee on second base, Harry McCurdy was sent in to bat for Neal Finn and he drove a hard single through the box and brought home Lee.

McCluskey, Recovered, Plans to Run at Chicago

New York, June 7 (A.P.).—Fully recovered from a serious throat infection, Joe McCluskey, Fordham's great distance runner, will compete in the two-mile run of the National Collegiate A. A. track and field championships at Chicago.

Incidentally, McCluskey, who finishes his college career this month, has joined the New York A. C. along with 13 other crack athletes, the most prominent being Keith Brown, Yale's great pole vaulter; George Werntz, discus thrower from Colgate; Karl Warner, Yale quarter-miler, and Hillman Holcombe, also from Yale, who has beaten 166 feet in the hammer throw. They will aid in the N. Y. A. C.'s defense of its national team title in the A. A. U. championships at Chicago June 30-July 1.

Annapolis Shooters To Invade Saturday

The Spa Gun Club, of Annapolis, will oppose the ten-man team of the Washington Gun Club Saturday afternoon at the club's traps near Benning.

Competition will be at 100 16-yard targets, and the club whose ten men have the highest targets will be adjudged the winner. The match will begin at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Luce Wins Blind Bogey at Beaver Dam

Mrs. G. Luce won first prize in the blind bogey for women at Beaver Dam yesterday. The lucky number was 36.

Second prize went to Mrs. R. Morse, who had 33; third, to Mrs. H. Derhard, with 41; fourth, to Mrs. R. W. Lewis, with 41, and fifth, to Mrs. S. James, with 41.

Congressmen Golfers Led By Bolton

Ohio Representative Has Net 68; Second to Brown.

A REPUBLICAN, Representative Chester C. Bolton, of Ohio, emerged the winner in the congressional golf tournament at Army and Navy Country Club's course yesterday. A Democrat, Representative Prentiss M. Brown, of Michigan, was a close second.

Representative Bolton forgot his political cares long enough to ground out a fine medal score of 80—only 8 above par for the rugged layout. This, with his 12 handicap, enabled him to win low net honors with a 68. A dozen golf balls was the prize.

Representative Brown was two strokes behind. He carded a gross of 86, and had a 36 handicap for 70. A cigarette lighter was the reward for his efforts.

Representative Maloney Wins Third Prize.

Third prize, consisting of half a dozen golf balls, went to Representative Paul H. Maloney (Democrat), of Louisiana, who had 90—16—74, while a cane was awarded Representative George Sadowski (Democrat), of Michigan, for his 100—26—74.

Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, who was regarded as one of the chief threats, failed to put in his appearance. Only twenty congressmen participated, the first pair teeing off as early as 7:30 in the morning.

Plenty of high scores were turned in, but the cast iron hairnet went to Representative John Lesinski (Democrat), of Michigan, who took no less than 312 strokes. Mr. Lesinski, who is not a golfer, and merely entered the tournament for the fun of it, was guilty of taking 25 strokes on the 515-yard fifth hole. He was as wild as a March hare with his woods and irons, particularly on this hole.

Anyhow, they're planning on another tournament.

Results follow:

Representative George Dondero (Republican), Michigan, 114—24—90; Representative R. Duffy Gilbert (Republican), Kansas, 107—16—91; Representative Ira A. Hooper (Republican), Ohio, 94—16—82; Representative T. H. Snyder (Democrat), Pennsylvania, 100—18—82; Representative Paul H. Maloney (Democrat), Louisiana, 90—16—74; Representative Numa F. Farrell Bests Jones In Friendly Match

Glenview, Ill., June 7 (A.P.).—Johnny Farrell, who beat Bob Jones in a play-off for the national open golf title at Olympia Fields, Chicago, four years ago, outscored the Georgian today in a friendly match over Albert D. Lasker's private links.

They kept only approximate scores, but Farrell had a 73 and Jones a 76. Farrell paired with Grantland Rice, sports writer, to beat Jones and Melvin Traylor, Chicago banker.

WIN RIFLE HONORS.

Lewis Johnson, 213 Fourteenth place northeast; William R. Lusby, 1226 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, and Edward Smolinski, of Forestville, Md., qualified in the junior division of the National Rifle Association as distinguished riflemen, according to reports received here. All three are members of the Eastern High School Rifle Club.

Reich Not to Bar Jews From Team

Vienna, June 7 (A.P.).—With assurance from Germany that Jews would not be discriminated against in Olympic competition, the international Olympic committee today unanimously approved award of the 1936 games to Berlin.

Dr. Theodore Lewald, head of the German delegation, himself under fire in Germany because of a trace of Jewish ancestry, brought word that the games would be conducted "in the Olympic spirit" and that German Jews would not be excluded from the German team because of their faith.

The executive committee had been meeting behind closed doors since Monday and the announcement of the German action came as a distinct surprise. Brig. Gen. Charles Sherrill, a member of the United States delegation and a leader among those seeking a specific pledge of no discrimination against Jewish athletes in Germany, seemed the most surprised of all.

"I don't know how they did it but they did," he said.

Ohio Racing Waits Measure's Passage

Hamilton, Ohio, June 7 (A.P.).—Though expressing confidence that the State Legislature will finally pass and that Gov. White will sign a revised bill permitting race betting in the State, officials of the Hamilton Jockey Club announced today there will be no racing until the measure becomes law. The announcement was made by Clinton Egbert, attorney for the club which has leased the Butler County Fair Grounds near here.

Meanwhile, preparations went ahead for racing as soon as the law permits. Officials said more than 200 horses are already here for the fourteen-day meeting.

600 IN PLAYGROUND TITLE MEET

Games Listed At Central Tomorrow

60 Schools Have Entries in 22d Annual Event.

Qualifiers of Seven Meets Make Up Tomorrow's Card.

THE most ancient of local track meets is on tap for tomorrow afternoon at the Central Stadium. The annual Department of Playgrounds' field and track meet will be held for the elementary schools for the twenty-second time.

More than 600 boys will vie for honors in the juvenile event that has developed hundreds of stars for local high schools and universities throughout the country. To name the boys who have won fame in the playground elementary school meets and who have afterward achieved intercollegiate honors would require pages.

It rings as a broad statement that the efforts of these youngsters has had an echo in many branches of higher learning, but the records of the past years bear this out. Calvin Milans, who has scored frequently for Dartmouth, holds the playground record for the elementary school high jump.

Many Stars Playground Graduates.

Chester Freeman, local high school track point-scorer, and afterward captain of Duke University harriers, trod the cinder path the first time in playground meet. "Knocky" Thomas, who was on a near world's record-breaking relay team while at Maryland, stepped his first dash on the old Plaza playground.

The names of Sprinkle, Slye, Everette and a host of others have been prominent in local championship events for the past weeks and each of them will tell you that their first track thrill came as aspiring elementary school tracksters in the annual Department of Playground meets.

Several changes have been made in the playground meet this year. Formerly the points were counted, five for first, three for second and one for third with awards bestowed for only three places. Now points are counted in rotation from five to one, with prizes for the five placers.

Every Winner Tomorrow Gets Record.

Still another change is in the measurements of the dashes and relays. Following the lead of the National A. A. U. local playground heads decided to install the metric system. Consequently a new record will be established tomorrow in every race that is run.

To the youngsters who will compete tomorrow thoughts of future greatness are remote; also ideas of individual triumphs are dwarfed beside hopes of school titles. In the seven division meets in which hundreds of boys have competed, the main idea has been to qualify a strong team for the city finals.

An effort to select a winner would be more than futile. Schools from Northeast, Southeast, Southwest and Northwest have vied for divisional titles for the past several weeks and the result has been confusion to the critics who have followed the spring games. Langdon, Peabody, Adams, E. V. Brown, Wheatley, Van Ness, Greenleaf, Lenox, Park View and many others have entries that will stand plenty of opposition.

Middleburg Defeated By Front Royal, 10-4

Front Royal, Va., June 7.—The Front Royal All Stars defeated Middleburg here this afternoon 10 to 4. A fourth-inning rally drove Cassell, the visiting pitcher, from the box, and Clapper, who relieved him, was unable to stem the tide. Weaver, hurling for the locals, scattered the visitors' ten hits. Jewett and Goodwin led the Stars at bat while Woodring did best for the visitors.

D. C. Women Win In Baltimore Golf

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 7.—The three Washington women in the championship flight of the Maryland State golf tournament survived the first round of match play today over the Five Farms course of the Baltimore Country Club.

The Middle Atlantic champion, Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, of Columbia, easily defeated Mrs. W. B. Hurst, jr., Elkridge Hunt Club, 6 and 5. Mrs. Hurst had eliminated Mrs. Haynes in a previous tournament and a closer match, therefore, was expected. The latter shot a 40 on the outgoing nine, 1 over par.

Mrs. Jerome Meyer, of Woodmont, turned back Mrs. Harry C. Trace, Rodgers Forge Golf Club, 4 and 2, and Mrs. Leo J. Walper, of Washington, triumphed over Mrs. F. G. Boyce, jr., Elkridge, 4 and 3.

A major upset occurred when Mrs. Jerome Sloman, Baltimore women's district and suburban club champion, lost, 1 up, after battling 21 holes against Mrs. E. B. Mower, of Elkridge.

Besides the District of Columbia representatives and Mrs. Mower, those remaining in the first flight are Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, the medalist; Mrs. M. L. Bell, Mrs. Lloyd Harrison and Miss Elizabeth Janney.

Pairings and starting times tomorrow: 10:30, Mrs. Morrow vs. Mrs. Walper; 10:35, Mrs. Bell and Miss Janney; 10:40, Mrs. Haynes and Mrs. Meyer; 10:45, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Mower.

Chisox Defeat Browns And Go Into 2d Place

St. Louis, June 7 (A.P.).—The Chicago White Sox went into second place in the American League today as a result of defeating the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1, while Washington was tieing to Philadelphia. It was the fifth straight victory for the Sox over the Browns.

Gaston and Hadley appeared to be well matched on the mound until the ninth, when the Sox got two runs on two hits, two walks and an error by Hadley.

NATS LOSE LEADS AND TIE A'S, 13-13

Connie Mack had his nerve with him in the tenth. Griff, he put in young Raymond Coombs, a nephew of the old iron man of the A's, Jack Coombs. Young Coombs never pitched for anybody except Duke University before and sure enough Heinie Manush smacked him for a single to right right off the bat. Cronin bunted him to third and Goose Goslin pinch hit for Dave Harris and scored Heinie with a bounce to Bishop over Coombs' head. That put Washington ahead, 14-13, Griff, but with the A's hitting the way they were hitting, it didn't mean a thing 'cause they had that swing. Ed Coleman, first up in the tenth, put 'em back in the running with a clean single to center.

Well, Griff, Cronin took McAfee out of the box and with Jimmy Foxx, you remember him, up next, he put Jack Russell in. Anything could happen, and there was no great surprise when Dame Nature decided at this point that enough was enough and that the whole business had already gone too far. At that, it might have been a lucky break for your team, Griff.

Regretfully yours, S. L. P.

dicted 288 would be good enough to win and grinned his confidence.

"But this is a tough field to buck," he added. "Don't forget they are all shooting at me now. I'll be lucky to be among the leaders in the stretch."

Sarazen's Chief Rivals.

The betting fraternity regards Olin Dutra, the P. G. A. champion; Craig Wood, the year's biggest money winner; Tommy Armour, of Chicago, former open champion, and George Von Elm, of Los Angeles, the "business man" golfer, as Sarazen's chief rivals. All four are quoted at 8 to 1 on the theory they have the shots best suited to North Shore's difficulties.

All told, there are at least a dozen professionals with good chances to win, aside from the numerous "dark horse" contenders, veterans and youngsters alike. The "baby" of the Ryder Cup squad, Paul Runyan, is the choice of many observers who have watched his shot-making skill around the greens. The youngster from White Plains, N. Y., is quoted at 10 to 1 in the latest "call over," along with Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, and Joe Kirkwood, the master of trick shots.

If sentimental support is of any assistance, Billie Burke and Johnny Farrell, a pair of former champions, overlooked when the Ryder Cup Team was ballotted on, should do well. Burke, with a 35 for nine holes today, unmistakably was "on" his game. Farrell, who won the Open at Chicago in 1928, is a local favorite. Either can gain a berth on the Ryder Cup Team with a victory here, under the provisions for adding a tenth member if a home bred not already picked comes through.

Although the captain of the International Team, Walter Hagen, is only quoted at 12 to 1, along with Burke and Ed Dudley, his chances have not been overlooked.

Field Unusually Strong.

Although lacking the international color of other years, the field looks unusually strong and well balanced. There are the corunners-up of 1932, T. Phillip Perkins, of Cleveland, former British amateur champion, and Bobby Cruickshank, of Richmond. The shoot making stylist, MacDonald Smith, and "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, a 1927 playoff victim, are always threats. Leo Diegel says he is 'completely off' his game, but that may be taken with a grain of salt. "The Dieg," however, perhaps is being taken at his word, is bracketed with Fischer and Goodman, the amateurs, among the 20-to-1 shots.

Sam Parks, jr., of Pittsburgh, telegraphed his withdrawal, due to injury in an automobile accident. Willie Hunter and Fred Morrison, Los Angeles pros, withdrew tonight. There may be some other scratches among the surviving 150 players before the first pair, Mortie Dutra, of Detroit, and Frank Walsh, of Chicago, tees off at 7:30 a. m. (Central standard time). Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow and Friday, 36 holes Saturday. If a playoff is necessary, it will be held Sunday, on an 18-hole basis.

Sarazen confined his late afternoon drill to 9 holes, which he negotiated in 37, 2 over par. The closest to Fischer's 70 for a full round were scores of 71 each, posted by Archie Hambrick, of Zanesville, Ohio, and Johnny Kinder, who led the New York metropolitan district qualifiers.

3 District Pros Seek Open Golf Title Today

The District's hopes in the National Open golf championship beginning today at the North Shore Golf Club, Glenview, Ill., rest upon the shoulders of three professionals whose shot-making reputation is well known in this section.

They are Bob Barnett, of Chevy Chase; Mel Shorey, of East Potomac, and Gilbert Cunningham, young assistant at Burning Tree.

These three tied for first place in the sectional qualifying round at Manor on May 15 with Ralph Beach, of Suburban, Baltimore, with scores of 144 each, for the 36-hole route. The fifth place was landed by Freddie Hyatt, of Charlotte, N. C. Thirty-seven competed in the trials.

Barnett and Shorey are seasoned campaigners, having qualified for previous National Open events, but have never placed in the money. Cunningham, a 21-year-old youngster, is playing in his first big time event. All three are long off the tee. Shorey is an accomplished putter, while Barnett excels in the short game, particularly with the mashie niblick. They have been at the scene of battle for the past five days.

Barnett makes an early start. He tees off at 8:35 with Red Gann, of Chattanooga. Shorey starts the grind at 9:20 in company with Clarence Gamber, of St. Claire Shores, Michigan, a participant in the 1932 National Capital Open at Kenwood. Cunningham will tour the course starting at 2:40 this afternoon, with Ed Ginther, of Newark, Del.

Local golfers also will note with interest the play of Ralph Beach, former pro at Burning Tree, who is paired at 9:50 with the former P. G. A. champion, Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y.

Capital City League Shifts Sunday Games

Changes in the Capital City League schedule for Sunday were found necessary, league chiefs announced last night. The Congress Heights and Certified Barbers will meet at Congress Heights at 3 o'clock and the Millers will face the Griffith Consumers at the Maryland U. diamond also at 3 o'clock. In the junior class, the Georgia Avenue Business Men play Dixie Polish at 1 o'clock on the East Ellipse and Goodacre tackles Oxon Hill at Rosedale at 3 o'clock. The Versis and Washington Maid nines play their Midget Class game on diamond No. 4 at 1 o'clock.

League officials announced that Fruman Kennedy will not be allowed to play Sunday. His signature was on two contracts.

Two 79s Tie for Medal In Cumberland Golf

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 7.—Fifty-five golfers of the Cumberland Country Club took part in the qualifying round of the annual spring golf tournament, with W. Forrest "Red" Welch and Peter E. Berry tying for low score with cards of 79 for the 18 holes.

Rules of the tourney give the entrants a week in which to play their matches in each round. Irving Millenson and Lester Millenson, brothers, had cards of 80. The match play is in progress with seven flights.

Navy Lists Swimming, Water Polo Schedule

Annapolis, Md., June 7.—Pennsylvania, Rutgers, Yale and Columbia are the outstanding teams which the Annapolis Midshipmen will meet in swimming and water polo next season, according to the schedule announced today by the Navy Athletic Association.

In all there will be six meets, four at home and two away. Colgate is a newcomer in the list and is the only one which will not contest in polo. The schedule: February 3, Colgate; February 17, City College of New York; February 21, Rutgers; February 24, University of Pennsylvania; March 9, Yale (at New Haven); March 10, Columbia (at New York).

Five New Members On British Team

London, June 7 (A.P.).—A British Ryder Cup team, which includes five players never before selected, today was named to meet the United States squad captained by Walter Hagen, at Southport June 26-27, in the fifth of the international series instituted in 1926.

The team members are Percy Allies, Alan Dailey, W. H. Davies, Arthur Lacey, Abe Mitchell, A. H. Padgham, George Perry, and Charles Whitcombe, with J. H. Taylor as nonplaying captain, and Syd Easterbrook and Arthur Havers as reserves.

Davies, Whitcombe, Mitchell, Easterbrook and Havers have played on other British teams, but the others are all newcomers to the international competition.

The matches have been contested four times with each country twice victorious.

Noyes Wins to Enter Army-Navy Golf Final

Maj. E. A. Noyes staged a gallant comeback yesterday to defeat Jack Quigley, 1-up, on the ninsteenth hole and enter the finals of the annual Army and Navy Country Club spring handicap tournament.

Two down and 2 to go, Noyes won the seventeenth when Quigley three-putted, sank a 45-footer for a birdie 3 on the eighteenth hole to balance the scales, and played three nifty shots to capture the extra hole.

Noyes will play Maj. A. C. Dearing, conqueror of Col. W. S. Fulton, 3 and 2, for the championship Saturday.

FIGHT TODAY TEST OF TRADE RECOVERY

The fight is to go 15 rounds, which in itself reflects a note of optimism. Six weeks ago not a fighter in America thought his business future could last that long.

The old boom era atmosphere is given to the coming fight by the fact Jack Dempsey, the Old Man Mauler who once brought million-dollar gates and for a peek at whom the fight fans would pay $50 for a ringside seat, when, as and if issued, is connected with the battle. Prices are still at too low a level for Jack to climb into the ring and trade punches with an opponent, but he is in the picture today as a promoter.

Both contenders will be fighting for a crack at the heavyweight championship, which Schmeling lost to Jack Sharkey a year ago, with 10,000 judges dissenting.

Schmeling was the champion at that time. Baer will have the support of the Washington administration in this fight, as they want the championship to remain in this country and feel that they must have a candidate to knock out Sharkey, who won all his fights under a Republican administration.

There is a rumor that President Roosevelt has personally taken an interest in Baer and will have Profs. Moley and Tugwell in his corner. The professors are in so many corners that this will be quite a trick if they do it.

With the Democrats upsetting everything, it would be another feather in their cap to have Baer whip Schmeling and then take the title from a champion who got his title under Hoover.

It looks like a good fight, even if the Democrats don't get into it. Both boys are said to be confident that with higher prices in the offing there will be a big future for the winner when happy days return.

And it looks like a slugging fest from the start. The value of the dollar is declining so rapidly that the quicker the boys get it over with the more the victory will be worth. No fighter who is a good business man can see the dollar falling the way it is today and waste any time getting it. And are fighters business men? Don't ask.

ECONOMY NOT TO HIT CAPITAL, POPE SAYS

Bankers' Chief Sees New Activities Replacing Government Cuts.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Fear that the economy moves on the part of the present administration will have a detrimental effect on the future of Washington is allayed to a degree in the annual report of C. H. Pope, vice president and treasurer, Munsey Trust Co., and president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, in his annual report as chief executive of the latter organization.

In this report, which he will make today at the annual election meeting of the association at Columbia Country Club, Mr. Pope states:

"It is true that numerous reductions in pay rolls and personnel have been put in force, but we should not let this disturb our confidence in the steady growth of our city.

Other Agencies at Work.

"While these changes are going on, we are witnessing at the same time, the creation of a number of new control agencies and other activities that are bound to increase as they are developed. Is there any doubt that this will bring more individuals to the National Capital? Is there any doubt that these new departures will require a larger number of Government employes?

"If you agree in this, then the ground lost through the economy moves will soon be offset by the increase in other directions. Furthermore, Congress is putting the Government deeper and deeper into all walks of the business life of our people. Apparently we will have limited Government supervision and control as a prevention against nonemployment and the protection of invested capital.

"This is practically a settled matter and it is to be accomplished through the aid and assistance of trade associations everywhere in the United States.

"Is it not conceivable that such associations will desire to make their headquarters here?

"As a result of these administrative policies, not only the Government must increase local employment, but the trade associations and other outside agencies will do the same."

Stockholders of East Washington Savings Bank held their annual meeting yesterday and reelected all of the following directors: John C. W. Beall, T. Earle Bourne, Charles A. Carry, James A. Donohoe, Grats E. Dunkum, Lewis Plemer, John Ford, W. P. C. Hazen, Francis J. Kane, Morris E. Marlow, Walter H. Marlow, jr., Henry H. McKee, William N. Payne, jr., Samuel H. Walker and John C. Yost.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

WITH an appetite for two hen's eggs apiece, 72 people could sit down to breakfast and eat the equal to this amount from a single egg of the aepyornis bird. The egg is equal in bulk to a gross of hen's eggs.

Fresh aepyornis eggs, however, are nonexistent on earth—even the birds themselves are extinct. Scientists say that not so many generations ago—possibly only 200 years—the birds lived in Madagascar, where they may have furnished oversized omelets to the natives for ages. Like other monsters of the past, the aepyornis died out leaving to the ostrich the title of world's biggest egg layer.

Stale aepyornis eggs—the only kind known—are extremely valuable, and the one shown above is carefully guarded in the National Museum in Washington, D. C.

Strange as it seems, the State of Kentucky is divided into two separate and distinct parts—each separated from the other by land, so that in going from one part of the State to the other it is necessary to cross over a part of some other State. The smaller part, as shown in the above drawing, is surrounded entirely by Missouri and Tennessee. The Missouri side is bounded by the Mississippi River, while the Kentucky-Tennessee border is a continuation of the same line between Tennessee and the larger part of Kentucky.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

NAME OF GEN. KUTZ ENTERS TALK ABOUT D. C. APPOINTMENTS

Farley Indicates President Is About to Announce His Selections.

Brig. Gen. C. W. Kutz, retired, formerly Engineer Commissioner of the District, may be reappointed to that post by President Roosevelt.

The name of Gen. Kutz is said to have been under consideration by the President for some time and reported imminence of presidential action on local appointments has served to revive the rumors that the President has almost decided on his selection as one of the three District Commissioners.

Appointment of the two civilian Commissioners may be made by the President before the end of the week Postmaster General James A. Farley said at the White House yesterday. He suggested the appointments might be sent to the Senate today, although last week the Postmaster General had said that he saw no likelihood of the appointments being made until after adjournment of Congress. At that time, however, the administration expected the heretofore meek Congress to obey orders and get out of town by Saturday.

List of Six Submitted.

A list of names is said to have been submitted to the President by Mr. Farley. Six names were said to be on the list, but whatever the number there undoubtedly are two names which are underscored.

It has been generally assumed that Ernest G. Walker would be one of the two civilian commissioners. There has been quite a battle over the other place, with Melvin C. Hazen, District surveyor, apparently outlasting most of his competitors. Mr. Hazen's friends are highly confident he will be named.

One or two dark horses still are conceded a chance and others who have been prominently mentioned in the past are Malcolm S. McConihe and Harry King, although the appointment of either is not assured.

District Attorney Race.

Lansdale G. Sasscer, of Prince Georges County, Md., State senator, is said to have been recommended to Attorney General Homer Cummings as the man to recommend for the job of District attorney. Supporters of other candidates for the post, however, scout reports that Mr. Sasscer has been selected. Others whose friends feel they still are strongly in the race include Ralph A. Cusick, Lucien Vandoren, John P. Bramhall and David Pine.

WIDOW HELD IN JAIL IN WEIDEMAN CASE; FUNERAL SET TODAY

Former Navy Man, Victim of Shooting, Will Be Buried in Arlington.

Philip Weideman, 38-year-old municipal employe and former naval chief petty officer, will be buried with full military honors in Arlington Cemetery today, while his wife sits in a cell at District Jail, where she was remanded yesterday for grand jury action in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband early Tuesday.

Homicide squad members last night declared that Mrs. Weideman, mother of three young children by her dead husband, would not be allowed to attend last rites for her husband even if she so desired. The services will begin at the undertaking establishment of Frank Geier Sons at 8:30 a. m. At 9 o'clock a requiem mass will be said in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fifth and G streets northwest. Interment in Arlington National Cemetery will follow.

Gun Acquired by Loan.

Weideman came to his death through a gun he had acquired fifteen years ago from a Spanish sailor he had befriended, it was learned yesterday. Meeting the seaman in a foreign port where the American's ship was docked, the gun was acquired after the American had lent the Spaniard a sum of money. It was a .25-caliber Spanish automatic.

The accused woman was sent to the District Jail yesterday after a coroner's jury had held her responsible for her husband's death. William Long, 54, a roomer at the Weideman home at 334 Tenth street northeast, was the chief witness.

Long testified that the three had quarreled in their room and that he had entered the chamber to quiet them. He was told to leave, he said, but saw through the open door the events leading to the shooting.

Four Shots Alleged.

Mrs. Weideman, said Long, was pushed roughly on the bed in the room, after being slapped. She then said, he declared, that if she had a gun she would shoot her husband. Weideman produced the Spanish gun and threw it on the bed where she lay.

A moment later the fatal shots rang out, the roomer testified. He summoned police and a Casualty Hospital ambulance, Long concluded. Other witnesses declared to the jury that Weideman died insisting he shot himself.

Two shots entered Weideman's back, it was testified by other witnesses. Four shots were fired in all, Detective Sergt. John Wise, of the Homicide Squad, testified, two going wild.

Mrs. Weideman did not take the stand in her defense, but sat nervously twisting her hands. Sergt. Wise read a statement by her in which she answered an interrogation with regard to Long and in which she said her husband was "jealous" of the roomer. A policewoman testified that Mrs. Weideman had related to her an account of the fatal shooting which dovetailed with the story related by Long.

Storms Break Heat; Fair and Warm Today

Lashing Winds and Rain Uproot Trees and Shrubs and Stall Many Motor Cars; Five Prostrations Are Reported.

A brief but lashing thunderstorm descended on Washington late yesterday, uprooting trees and shrubs throughout the city and forcing the mercury down to 71 from 92 degrees, which ties the all-summer high of last Monday.

Shortly after midnight another thunderstorm and downpour of rain struck, wrenching branches from trees throughout the city and flooding many streets. Caught in the driving rain, many motorists found themselves with flooded and stalled motors. The Mount Vernon boulevard and the Tidal Basin Speedway suddenly became water courses, with flood crests at dips and low places.

The weather man held out little hope for today with his forecast of "fair and warmer." Total rainfall for the day was 0.19 of an inch. The highest temperature recorded was 92 degrees at 3 p. m.; the lowest, 69 degrees, was registered at 5 a. m.

Five heat prostrations were reported during the day. Edward Digey, 42, a tourist from Brooklyn, N. Y., was stricken on the Monument Grounds. He was treated at Emergency Hospital. Mrs. Mollie Hurt, 79, of 439 G street northwest, was overcome at the Columbia Medical Building and taken to Emergency Hospital. Her condition is not serious. Venton Parker, 27, 3529 Sixteenth street northwest, was treated at Garfield Hospital last night after he collapsed at Fourteenth street and Park road northwest. He was later taken to his home.

Daniel C. Hawkins, colored, 55, a District employe, collapsed in the street at Georgia and Concord avenues and was removed to Freedmen's Hospital. Benjamin Clemons, 34, 1214 Duncan street northeast, was overcome in H street northeast and treated at Casualty Hospital.

The high wind which accompanied the storm knocked down trees at Ninth and F streets northwest, Fourteenth and Belmont streets, Tenth and M streets northwest, and at Nineteenth and N streets. High-tension wires were blown down at 3714 Morrison street northwest and at Harewood street and Michigan avenue, near Soldiers' Home.

At the height of the storm a water main burst at Thirteenth and O streets, sending a fountain of water high into the air over tree and housetops. The break was quickly repaired by the Water Department.

P. U. C. IS DIRECTED BY SENATE TO SIFT WASHINGTON RENTS

Ordered to Take Up Inquiry Where Committee Left Off; Report in 1934.

The Senate yesterday directed the Public Utilities Commission to take up the District rent investigation where the Senate District Committee left off, and report its findings back to the Senate next January.

A resolution sponsored by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the Senate District rent investigating subcommittee, was adopted without opposition when it came up on the Senate unanimous consent calendar.

The resolution authorizes the commission to investigate fully all facts relative to housing and rental costs.

The commission further is empowered "to receive and adjust complaints relating to rentals and housing, and to call witnesses and subpena records and accounts in the same manner as provided for performance of the duties of the commission regarding public utilities."

Meanwhile, Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee, prepared to ask the Senate for $2,500 with which to finance the Public Utilities Commission investigation.

The Utah senator wrote Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride to draft immediately legislation concerning rents already recommended by the Senate committee. At the same time he asked for data on fire insurance rates in the District.

FRANKLIN BANK SALE OF STOCK NEARS END

$16,000 Added to Fund for Independent Opening of Institution.

The exceptional progress of Franklin National Bank toward its objective—reopening as an independent banking institution under its present title, again was demonstrated yesterday when $16,000 was reported added to its total of $2,100,000 worth of stockholders' and depositors' agreements to the foregoing plan.

Yesterday's contribution brings the total to date to $2,116,000 of the necessary $2,200,000. As an example of the rapidity with which this institution is securing its depositors' and stockholders' agreements, its records show that between Saturday and Tuesday $60,000 worth were secured and $48,000 worth on Thursday and Friday of last week, $124,000 worth in six days.

Edwin C. Graham, president of the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington, yesterday reported a continued good sale of the $1,250,000 worth of stock required to open that institution. More than $750,000 worth of stock for this bank has been reported subscribed by the general subscription committee.

Mr. Graham will attend the meeting of the directorate of Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., today, on which board he has been a member for 13 years. The general subscription committee for the prospective bank will hold another meeting today to review results of the stock-selling campaign.

Auto Victim Files Suit in 24 Hours

Less than 24 hours after May Beasley, 1223 Seventeenth street northeast, had been struck and seriously hurt by an automobile at Bladensburg and Mount Olivet roads, Ralph A. Cusick, her attorney, filed a suit for $25,000 damages from the alleged driver of the car, Henry Schwartz, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Mr. Cusick appeared at the courthouse and filed the papers, and because of the fear that the defendant would soon return to his home, he immediately started out to serve them on Mr. Schwartz.

The suit alleges that Schwartz was speeding when the machine struck the complainant, who was a pedestrian. It also alleged that the woman's arm was permanently injured and 41 stitches were taken to close injuries.

Eyes Burned

Gas Gun May Have Lasting Effect on Policeman, Doctors Say.

Raiding a house at 2132 Virginia avenue northwest, Policeman R. E. Blick, of the headquarters liquor squad, suffered severe burns to his face and eyes when a fountain-pen gas gun slipped from his pocket and exploded yesterday afternoon.

Physicians at Emergency Hospital were puzzled in treating his injuries. They stated that the effects of gas on the eyes are usually transient, but that in Blick's case his eyeballs seem to have been seared.

Blick was accompanied by Policemen G. J. Gray and R. Schleichert, who called the fire rescue squad to administer aid when the gas contrivance exploded.

They arrested Anna Humes and Cristine Maynard on the premises, charging them with illegal possession of 34 quarts of alleged liquor.

2 MEN EXONERATED IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Another Pair Held Pending Grand Jury Probe of Alley Fatality.

Taking cognizance of their exoneration in the alleged confession of two other men Tuesday, the District grand jury yesterday declined to indict Ira Taylor and Wilmer Allen, who had been held in connection with the fatal injury of Mrs. Eva Cumberland.

Taylor and Allen were arrested shortly after Mrs. Cumberland was found dying from a fractured skull in an alley near the 700 block of Ninth street southeast on April 3.

Edward Thomas Haislup, 23 years old, and Edward Fritchey Harris, 54 years old, are now being held by police, who claim they have statements placing them with Mrs. Cumberland at the time she sustained her fatal injuries. Both men were scheduled to be arraigned in Police Court yesterday, but the hearing was postponed.

The grand jury is expected to begin its investigation of Harris and Haislup tomorrow.

Man Indicted for Murder.

Lorenzo Robinson, colored, yesterday was indicted for second degree murder by the District grand jury. He is accused of having fatally shot Irene C. Brown, also colored, last April. Robinson claimed the shooting was accidental.

7 POINTS ADVANCED BY TEACHERS UNION

Urges Dismissals Be Held to Probation Class in Budget Slash.

Seven specific suggestions for meeting the $90,000 reduced appropriation for teachers and librarians in 1934 were submitted to the Board of Education yesterday by the Teachers Union.

The union asks that the provision in the appropriation bill for transfer of all teachers to classroom work who are otherwise engaged be strictly adhered to. An equal division of work for all teachers with the same number of periods of actual classroom teaching also is urged.

Omission of extra curricula work and a reduction in clerical work is recommended. Testing of elementary school teachers should be limited to the establishment of intelligence quotients, it was stated.

Dismissal of teachers should be confined to probationary teachers receiving an unsatisfactory rating in their probationary year, and to regular teachers receiving an unsatisfactory rating for the third time, it was proposed.

If methods adopted by the board are not sufficient to meet the reduced appropriation, the union suggested that additional teachers be retired, beginning at the age of 69.

The board took the suggestions under advisement. The retirement of 13 teachers and one laborer was approved yesterday. The teachers who are retiring are T. W. Fuller, manual training teacher in the elementary schools; Mrs. S. M. Parr, Central High School; W. A. Hedrick, Central; J. C. Claghorn, Central; Miss G. A. Shelp, Eastern; Miss B. L. Teel, Cooke; Miss C. M. T. Brandt, Ketcham-Van Buren; Miss E. J. Wells, Gales-Seaton; Miss Jane Bradt, Park View; Mrs. M. M. Talbert, Emery-Eckington; Miss Amelia Rakeman, Cooke; Miss L. E. Lee, Maury; Miss Josephine Ashton, Douglass Simmons.

The retirement of these teachers takes effect June 30. S. F. Peacock, the laborer whose retirement is being approved, left the service at the Young School April 30.

Word was received from Dr. Abram Simon, former president of the board, that he has notified the justices of the District Supreme Court that he would not be eligible for reappointment next year. Dr. Simon has been seriously ill for several months. A letter expressing his regret over having to sever his relations with the board was read by Harry S. Hine, secretary of the board; also a letter from Dr. Hayden Johnson, president of the board, carrying the felicitations of the board members and Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, and other school officials.

Missing Youth's Father Doubts Body Found

Henry C. Gibbs, father of Henry Huntington Gibbs, missing University of Pennsylvania student, last night announced he was awaiting developments before attempting a trip to Winnipeg, Manitoba, to identify the body of a youth recovered from a river there last Sunday.

Mr. Gibbs said there was some doubt that the body was that of his lost son. In many ways, he declared, descriptions have failed to tally.

Small Classrooms Policy Advocated

A policy of small schools and classrooms was recommended by Miss Selma Borchardt, of the District Teachers Union, in an address last night before the Public School Association. She pointed out that large schools and classrooms have a tendency to "factorize" education. She observed that every teacher may not be worth $2,000 a year, but that every child is worth a $2,000 teacher.

Miss Mary C. Dent, president of the Teachers Union, gave an account of the development and the aims of the union. Accomplishments of the organization have included liberalization of the retirement law and the granting of the right of trial to teachers.

The following officers of the public school association were reelected: Charles I. Stengle, president; John T. Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. Daniel Murray, second vice president; Stewart E. Blassingham, third vice president; Mrs. W. T. Bannerman, fourth vice president, and Mrs. E. C. Rittue, secretary.

"Pirates of Penzance" To Be Given Tonight

Postponed last night because of the storm, the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance," will be presented tonight in the Sylvan Theater by the Estelle Wentworth Opera group.

Because of previous engagements, the United States Army Band will not play at the opening festival, but it is possible that the Marine Band may play in its stead. The band concert, if it is given, will start at 7:30. The operetta will begin an hour later.

CAPPER ALLEY BILL PASSED BY SENATE

King to Work for Measure if House Fails to Take Action.

The Capper alley bill, designed to convert the District's inhabited alleys into uses having an economic or social value, yesterday was passed unanimously by the Senate and sent to the House.

Simultaneously, Chairman William H. King of the Senate District Committee announced he will work for realization of the alley improvement program under the national recovery act, if the House fails to pass the measure during the special session.

The Capper measure sets up a $500,000 fund from the unexpended balances of the old United States Housing Corporation, to begin the work of rehabilitating the alleys. The President would select a local or Federal agency to do the work.

"The continued existence of these alley dwellings is a constant menace to public health, safety and morals," the Senate District Committee reported to the Senate, following an investigation which disclosed that 10,000 people now live in local alley houses, under "conditions that tend to foster crime, dependency and disease."

"Because they are hidden communities, screened from the public view, inhabited alleys become the haunts of those who prey upon society," the report stated.

Under the Capper measure, the $500,000 would be used as a rotating fund to begin the work of acquiring property in or adjacent to alleys, replat the land required, demolish or alter buildings or construct new buildings to serve some useful purpose. All plans for replatting the land would require joint approval of the Commissioners and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Civitan Convention Delegates Named

Delegates from the Washington Civitan Club who will attend the international convention of Civitan Clubs to be held in Memphis, Tenn., from next Sunday to Wednesday, were announced yesterday.

They are Shelton T. Cameron, president of the local club; Dr. Maurice L. Townsend, Edward S. Brashears, Thomas J. Crowell and L. Stoddard Taylor. Mr. Cameron also will represent the Chesapeake division of Civitan, as he is lieutenant governor of the organization.

The local Civitans will be accompanied to the convention by the delegates from the Baltimore and Annapolis clubs. The delegation will leave Washington tomorrow evening over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

NEW FISCAL SET-UP FOR DISTRICT URGED

Auditor Would Keep Operations Apart From National Government.

The District should be given its own system of financial administration, with financial operations kept wholly apart from those of the National Government, Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, yesterday wrote Chairman Mary T. Norton, of the House District Committee.

Citing studies by the Institute for Government Research of the Brookings Institution, which reached a similar conclusion, the District auditor forwarded to Mrs. Norton a report he made to the Budget Bureau on the same subject.

The House District Committee chairman, who herself believes that the District Commissioners should submit the District's budget estimates directly to Congress rather than go through Federal Budget Bureau channels, wrote Maj. Donovan for his views. Yesterday's letter was in answer to that request.

"In putting into execution this change," Maj. Donovan wrote: "The first step is to give the District government its own budget system. Congress, having set up a local government and placed at its head certain officers, should make it a part of the duties of those officers to submit to it an annual budget corresponding to the Federal budget, in which is set forth a full report of financial operations in the past, existing financial conditions and an estimate of future financial needs."

He said this plan would lay the basis for complete segregation of the finances of the District from those of the Federal Government, simplify the Federal accounting system by removing from them items that do not belong there, and concentrate responsibility for the local budget in a single municipal bureau where it properly belongs.

Maj. Donovan also pointed out that four separate House and Senate committees must now pass on District legislation and appropriations. He suggested consolidation of legislative and appropriation functions affecting the District into a joint committee of both houses having jurisdiction over all matters now handled by the four independent congressional units.

Maj. Donovan said the present system of District budgeting "does violence to correct principles of public administration and is productive of confusion in determining and making provision for the financial needs of the two governments."

Day of Recollection Set.

The Rev. Urban Nagle, O. P., of St. Dominic's Church, will give a day of recollection next Sunday at Nazareth Social Service Center, 300 I street northwest.

The first conference is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. and the second conference for 2:30 p. m. The holy hour will begin at 4:30 p. m. and close with benediction.

Farley Made Honorary Optimist Club Member

Postmaster General Farley yesterday was made an honorary member of the Optimist Club, of Washington.

Dr. Thomas H. Healy, dean of the Foreign School of Georgetown University, spoke on "Present International Conditions as They Affect the Average American."

The Optimists plan a memorial service at the Boys Club tonight in honor of the late "Pop" Williams, pioneer Optimist, whose efforts were responsible for much of the work accomplished by the Optimists at the Boys Club.

Dr. Phillips Speaks At Rotary Meeting

In a forceful address to Washington Rotarians at their luncheon yesterday, the Rev. ZeBarney T. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, stated that the great problem of today is not a matter of economics or politics, but our spiritual integration as individuals.

Pride in our collective achievements, the speaker said, has overlooked the need for the preservation of the individual and the development of his powers as contemplated by the American Constitution. Better business conditions and greater personal content do not depend upon outside forces, but can only be realized through soundly planned personal initiative.

Dr. Phillips was preceded by Claude W. Owen, president of the Washington Board of Trade, who spoke on the work of the Greater National Capital committee in advertising Washington. Through the efforts of the committee, Mr. Owen said, 2,500 national organizations have been contacted through over 200,000 letters. Last year over 200 conventions were brought to Washington with an attendance of 150,000, who spent some $10,000,000 in Washington. The grand total of expenditures by tourists and visitors of all kinds he estimated at between 30 and 40 millions for the year. Dr. Arthur C. Christie, Rotary president, presided and introduced 15 visiting Rotarians from other States.

Early Birds Club Holds First Session

The newly-organized Early Birds Breakfast Club of Washington met at the Willard Hotel yesterday morning for their first breakfast together.

The club is the first of its kind in the East, though Early Bird organizations have flourished for sometime on the West Coast. The purpose of the club is to provide a weekly meeting at breakfast where early risers may form new acquaintances and broaden existing ones, and otherwise occupy themselves beneficially.

Frank Romer, treasurer of the organization, gave a short talk. The club will meet every Tuesday morning at 7:45. Other officers of the club are J. Harry Cunningham, president; Representative Robert L. Bacon, of New York, vice president, and Charles P. Light, secretary.

Cadets of Colored Schools Will Drill

The forty-first annual company competitive drill of the Twenty-fourth Regiment of Dunbar High School Cadets, the Twenty-fifth Regiment of Armstrong High School Cadets, and the Tenth Separate Battalion of Cardozo High School Cadets, will begin this morning at 9 o'clock at Griffith Stadium, when Company G, of Cardozo, led by Capt. Luke Webb, will take the field, followed at half-hour intervals by representatives of the other institutions, including Company G of Dunbar, Companies D and E of Armstrong, Company D of Cordozo, and Company B of Armstrong.

At 1:30 o'clock Company A of Armstrong will enter the competition, followed by Company A of Dunbar, C of Armstrong, and Companies E, B and F of Dunbar. A silent saber drill, led by Col. Kelsey Pharr, will be held at 4:30 o'clock, and will be followed by a silent drill for noncommissioned officers, led by Lieut. William Jones. The Ninth Brigade will be reviewed by Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commanding general, Third Corps Area. Prizes and awards will be presented by Col. Benjamin O. Davis.

Marcum Must Pay Or Serve 60 Days

As a result of the first ruling made by the District Supreme Court in response to the dictum of the District Court of Appeals that a husband could be held in contempt of court upon his failure to pay his wife's counsel fees and court costs in a divorce case, Justice James M. Proctor yesterday, in the District Supreme Court, ordered Philip H. Marcum, formerly a special assistant to the Attorney General, to serve two sentences of 30 days in jail unless he complies with an order directing monthly payments.

Marcum was directed to pay his wife's attorneys, Cyril Lawrence and Dwight Rorer, $50 a month until $650 has been paid them. If he fails to comply with this order he must serve 30 days in jail, Justice Proctor ruled.

In another ruling, Justice Proctor directed Marcum to pay $50 a month on a court cost bill of $154 which was incurred during litigation between the Marcums, which ended in the husband being directed to pay his wife $137 a month. Marcum yesterday made a futile attempt to have the court lower the amount of money he must pay his wife.

Renovize Exhibit Spaces Still Open

A few spaces are still open for the Renovize Washington Exposition to be held at 1433 and 1437 K street northwest, Albert L. Stern, director of the exposition, announced yesterday. Applications must be made to the renovize headquarters, 221 Star Building.

A plan is to be worked out to award the little house at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, now undergoing renovation, to some visitor to the exposition, it was announced.

Appliances and materials for modernizing a home will be shown at the exposition. Each exhibitor will be asked to arrange an exhibit at his place of business. Edwin H. Rosengarten, chairman of the exposition committee, has worked out a special plan for the floors of the two buildings, so that every exhibit will have an artistic arrangement.

Appeals Fail to Save Job Of Noted Explorer, Now 71

Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, His Life's Savings Gone, Will Lose $135-a-Month U. S. Clerkship Without Pension, Letter to Roosevelt Outlines.

Among the many who appealed in vain that Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, polar explorer, be retained at his $135 per month clerkship in the Navy Department was one whose achievements in the far north rank with those of Peary and Byrd—Maj. Gen. A. W. Greeley.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, Gen. Greeley said:

"I have been informed that my good friend Capt. Baldwin, polar explorer who discovered Graham Bell Land and other islands in the Arctic Ocean, and whom I consider one of those whose Arctic achievements will live in history to the credit of this Nation for all time, is to be dismissed at the age of 71 from his modest civil post in the Navy under the operation of the economy act.

"He has lost practically all his life savings and would be retired without a pension. If retired he is faced with the incredible necessity of being an object of public charity.

"As the former commander of the so-called Greeley Polar Expedition, I respectively appeal to you (at the age of 91) to save my distinguished old friend from this humiliation which would be a shocking end to the extremely useful life of a fine, high-principled patriotic American, and would be disgraceful to our Nation."

Gen. Greeley, in 1881, in charge of a party of 25, reached the farthest North of any previous expedition. All but seven perished after they were marooned in the ice. The seven were rescued by a relief expedition led by Capt. Winfield S. Schley, after two previous expeditions of succor had failed.
